BOGUS ART WORK PLENTY IN JAPAN.

Guileless Tourists Looked Upon as Proper Pigeons for Plucking by Dealers.

PRINT FACTORIES BUSY.

Paper Stained with Tea, Exposed to Rain and Dust, Used to Deceive Unwary Purchasers.

[BY ELIZA R. SCIDMORE.]

KOBE, April 14.—The esthetic tourist lands in Japan and asks at the first curio shop for Hokusai's "ware," or "Red Sunset Fuji," for Outamaro's "Shell Diver," "Face Without a Line," "River Fête," "Festival Boat," or "Monsnie's Procession," quite as he would call for No. 7 gloves at a haberdasher's.

Five or seven years ago the dealers used to grasp at such requests and tell the casual one that one of those prints had not been seen for many seasons in any condition whatever. Now, the purveyor of xylographs feels his way, sounds the course, and finds out how much the customer knows, what chance of enlightenment he stands to make during his stay in the country.

If it seems a proper pigeon for plucking, prints roll up hill to meet him, in compact bundles of dozens, many of them worn and stained and torn, with the trail of the bookworm over them, if any further proof of genuineness were needed. The tourist, having heard of, although never seen, a collector paying $400 U. S. gold for one of Hiroshige's "Typhoon on the Tokaido," does not demur at the prices greatly, and, abating a little, buys. Sometimes gulleless tourists, who have made great collections of old prints, get their eyes open before they leave Japan.

The first connoisseur in Japan long ago said that he could not tell the old prints from the new ones any more, so clever had the counterfeiters become in using old paper, or treating the paper; in making the old inks, and in fading them. The print factories are said to stain the paper with tea and with tobacco juice, to expose the prints to rain, sun, and dust, day and night for a month, while a brush and a pad of old cloth supply the wear and bloom of time.

One of the largest picture dealers in Japan has of late years been making acknowledged reproductions of the most popular and famous of the old prints. His own mark, "Reproduced by——," with the date, is imprinted on the face of the xylograph, and he claims that these prints will have an enhanced value also in ten or twenty years.

Over 200 subjects have in this way been faithfully reproduced by the best wood engravers and color printers of today, and the counterfeiter's career ought to be ended. It is significant of the progress of the mania, or the growing foreign appreciation of the Japanese xylograph, that many prints by so modern a master as Hiroshige have been reproduced in this acknowledged way. Although the greatest landscapist among the artists of color prints, Hiroshige, until a few years ago, lacked the guinea mark of high approval. Complete books of his Tokaido scenes were not easily found, but one could have all the single prints he wanted at 20 and 50 sens apiece. Then word came that they were bringing that many gold dollars in America, and Hiroshige prints leaped in price accordingly.

The notable collections of Japanese prints in America are owned by the Boston museum of Fine Arts, by Mr. Henry O. Havemeyer, and Mr. Howard Mansfield, Mr. C. D. Weldon, Mr. Albert Herter, and Mr. Charles Stewart Smith of New York, the latter having recently given his collection to the New York public library. Mr. Crosby S. Noyes of Washington has recently given his great collection of Japanese illustrated books, prints, and sketches to the Congressional library, and Mr. Thomas Waggaman, in that city, owns the perfect set of "One Hundred Masterpieces" exhibited at the Grolier club a dozen years ago. The collection of Mr. Freer in Detroit, Mr. Morse in Evanston, Ill., and Mr. Denman Ross in Boston are much renowned as well.

The last large private collection made in Japan was quietly assembled by an American missionary for a California friend. She was the principal of one of the largest girls' schools in the old capital, and when the school year was about to close showed some representative prints to these pupils and asked them to hunt in their own homes and inquire of all their friends for prints of that order. This was gleaning a field that the curio dealers cannot reach, and when, at the end of the vacation, the girls returned with their accumulations, a remarkable collection had been brought together.

Of all queer things in connection with Japanese colored prints, nothing is better than the story of De Goncourts' "Life of Hokusai." When M. Bing, the first Paris dealer in such treasures, was gathering his great stock in Japan, twenty-five or thirty years ago, his work, "Artistic Japan," was vaguely taking form and he proposed to assemble biographies of all the great artists, if possible. He employed a scholarly Japanese to gather for him everything printed concerning Hokusai, and to get from the many people who then remembered the great master everything they knew or had heard about him.

The notes, which filled a large manuscript book, were translated for M. Bing, he added a host of details he had himself accumulated, and he returned to France, where there was such a boom for Japanese art, and business affairs pressed him so hard, that he put off working on the Hokusai material.

The "Hokusai" of the De Goncourts was announced, and a first copy sent to M. Bing with the request that he would review it for a Paris newspaper. To his stupefaction, he found that the De Goncourt book contained everything that he would himself have written in time, often in the same language, always the same train of thought and argument, and all quotations identical.

The explanation was that some French amateur while traveling in Japan and mousing among old book and print stores came upon a manuscript book in which were assembled about all that was ever known about Hokusai in his own country. The traveler bought it and sent it to the De Goncourts as a literary treasure exactly in their line, and they promptly got in a translator, and in a fever of zeal and delight prepared the famous "Hokusai," which, with the irony of fate, was sent to be reviewed by M. Bing, who had employed in the first instance the Japanese writer who had compiled the manuscript book.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 30.—[Special.]—"I see no change from where we left off. Furthermore, I see no indications of a change. The way it looks tonight, the first ballot tomorrow will not vary twenty votes from the last one when the convention took a recess. The thing has got to come to an end some time; that's evident. The sooner it comes the better, too.

"If the convention is protracted indefinitely this time it will be in danger of becoming a farce. There is nothing, however, now to show how it will break when it does break. No one, so far as I have found out, can give what is called a 'line' on the situation."

Such was the statement tonight made by Senator A. J. Hopkins as expressive of his idea of the situation as it developed fifteen hours before the reassembling of the republican state convention. The statement not only expressed the senator's notion but that of everybody else here who is in any way well informed. They all agree there must be an end, as there is of all things human. But what that end will be nobody pretends to know. The convention will be called to order by Chairman Cannon at 2 o'clock in the afternoon after a deadlock recess of ten days.

At Sea on Predictions.

Some of the older politicians had an informal talk over the situation this evening, and all practically agreed on the following forecast:

"The convention cannot well last more than two or three days. The delegates will not stand for it longer. It is doubtful, however, if when the break comes it will be the result of any prearrangement. What is most likely to happen is that a break from one candidate to another, but not enough to nominate, will be followed by other ineffectual breaks on the same or succeeding ballot, and finally the convention will get into a panic which will result in the nomination of some one—leading, or minor candidate, or dark horse. Who it will be no one pretends to say."

"I have been home and enough under the weather to keep me in the house," said Speaker Cannon, "but from what I hear since I got back to Springfield I would not know any more had I been traveling all over the state. It looks as if we had to start all over again."

Leaders Ready for Siege.

All of the leaders and most of the delegates have arrived prepared for a siege this time. Where a man at the first session carried only two clean shirts and a few clean collars, this time he brought a two weeks' laundry supply. Some of them even brought their wives, in some instances, perhaps, because the wives were afraid ot leave them alone in Springfield indefinitely.

"All I brought the last time was a suit case," said Congressman William Lorimer. "This time I have got a trunk."

"One valise I considered enough on the last trip," said Marshal C. P. Hitch of Edgar county. "I brought two and a handbag this time."

All of which is mentioned as indicating the idea which prevails that it may take some time to reach a decision, but be the time long or short the convention is going to fight it out. There will be no more adjournments.

Lowden Scores Against Yates.

Col. Frank O. Lowden has gone so far as to prepare lodgings for people, good all summer. He rented a storeroom and put 300 cots in it, and is prepared to go into the hotel business, except that there is no charge for beds if the delegate only votes right.

This Lowden hotel, by the way, is apt to cause a great deal of mental anguish to Gov. Yates. It is directly across the street from Yates' headquarters in the Leland hotel, and at the first session of the convention was occupied by the Yates people.

When the governor started to convert Chicago he left Col. R. J. Shand of Rockford in charge of the Springfield arrangements. Col. Shand forgot all about the storeroom, and when Harry Ward of Perry county was looking around last night for a place to stow away Lowden enthusiasts he found this one. This afternoon the Yates pictures were taken out, Yates banners torn down, and while likenesses of Lowden ornamented the windows a big canvas banner with letters four feet high informed spectators it was "headquarters for Lowden delegates." The banner bore a marked resemblance to those put up over saloons in Chicago when a new proprietor takes hold, and it could easily be imagined it read: "This place has changed hands. In future it will be conducted as a first class buffet and family resort."

All Present but Yates.

Things of this sort worry the governor a good deal, and when he arrives in Springfield tomorrow morning it is possible he will have a few things to say to Col. Shand for allowing the headquarters to get away from him.

All the candidates are here tonight except Gov. Yates. When Mr. Deneen arrived this afternoon at 4:10 o'clock it filled the roster. All of the minor candidates are accounted for also, as well as Congressman Cannon, Senator Hopkins, and other political magnates. Senator Cullom is the only one missing, and he will come here from Chicago tomorrow morning.

Speaker Cannon this evening has determined to have the hall a trifle more comfortable and perhaps more wholesome than it was two weeks ago. He is determined to enforce the rule forbidding smoking in the building, and thinks this will help considerably. The speaker is moved to this by personal reasons, having suffered from bronchial troubles during the entire recess.

"It looks like a pretty big job," said he, "to keep four or five thousand men from

"WE ARE GOING ON THE STAGE."

MAYOR IS A SUICIDE.

Robert M. McLane, Baltimore's Executive, Kills Himself.

MARRIED ONLY TWO WEEKS.

Worry Over Fire and Domestic Trouble Causes Collapse.

Baltimore, Md., May 30.—[Special.]—Mayor Robert M. McLane committed suicide by shooting himself in the head this afternoon at his home, 29 West Preston street.

There are two stories current as to the cause of the tragedy. One is that he broke down under the strain connected with his duties in the rebuilding of burned Baltimore; the other credits his recent despondency and final mental collapse to domestic troubles. He killed himself almost immediately after reaching home and after a brief conversation with his wife, who was the beautiful widow, Mary Van Bibber.

Their marriage took place on the 14th of the present month.

Persons close to Mr. McLane say that while the troubles of his office, incidental to the big fire, had considerable effect upon his mind, it was domestic trouble, resulting from his marriage, that disturbed him most. He had been courting Mrs. Van Bibber for about ten years. She is 43; the mayor was only 36. She is a member of the smart set in society, while the mayor's family is of the retiring, aristocratic sort.

The disparity in their ages and the difference in their social temperament led the McLane family to oppose the marriage.

Parents Refused to See Bride.

Although it was supposed the couple lived happily together, it is stated that the mayor's parents refused to recognize his bride, and this caused him no end of worry. It soon became noticeable that although he made every effort to attend to municipal business, he could not concentrate his thoughts on anything. He appeared to be dazed all the time.

He also worried because of tangles which came up in his administration before and after the fire. When Mr. McLane was nominated for mayor it was understood that he was to recognize the democratic party organization.

After his election, however, many candidates for office did not measure up to his standard, and contrary to the wishes of the leaders he picked men for office of his own choice, retaining not a few of the appointees of former Mayor Hayes.

Then, soon after his inauguration, came the big fire which swept away millions.

A period of reconstruction was necessary, and it was up to the mayor to formulate the necessary plans. He named a burnt district commission, laid grounds for the passage by the legislature of a $6,000,000 loan to improve the docks, and looked personally after the details in general.

Official Conduct Criticised.

Because the work did not progress rapidly enough, and in many instances because the personnel of the several commissions did not suit, the mayor was criticised in many quarters. This, with domestic troubles, caused him to become morose. To cap the climax, he became engaged in a quarrel with his best friend, City Solicitor W. Cabell Bruce. This came about over a disagreement as to how the dock loan money should be expended. Bruce in open council threatened to resign, and only after considerable difficulty was the affair patched up. All this time the mayor was brooding over his home affairs, and it was noticed at times that he was well nigh distracted.

The mayor and Mrs. Van Bibber were married secretly, and the affair had all the features of an elopement except, of course, that both the bride and bridegroom being of age they had a right to do as they pleased.

Stood Before a Mirror.

The mayor entered his residence about 3:25 p. m. He seemed in cheery spirits and chatted with his wife, saying he was about to take her out walking. He went to a third story back room, and while standing in front of a mirror placed a revolver to his right temple and fired. The powder marked his flesh and hair. The bullet came out over the right eye. He fell to the floor unconscious.

He never regained consciousness and died at 5:05 p. m.

Dr. A. Trego Shertzer, living only a few doors below the mayor's residence, was the first doctor on the scene. When he went into the room he found Mr. McLane lying on the floor in front of a bureau in a pool of blood. He was lying with his head under his left shoulder. Dr. Shertzer straightened him out and made an examination of his wound. The pistol was lying under him. The bullet had penetrated the upper part of his right temple, and had made its exit a little behind and just above the left ear. Both wounds were bleeding profusely.

Was in Good Spirits.

Mrs. McLane, his wife, who was in the room at the time, asked the doctor what he thought of the wound. He told her there was no hope.

She said that a few minutes before the shooting she and Mayor McLane were in her apartment talking. He appeared to be in good spirits. The mayor said he wished to put to rights some articles in a bureau drawer in another room and left the apartment.

In something less than five minutes Mrs. McLane heard a noise which she thought was a shutter banging to, or some article which had fallen. She walked down one flight of stairs and called Lizzie Redchurch, a servant, asking her if anything had fallen down stairs. The girl replied that she thought the noise was upstairs. Mrs. McLane suggested that the mayor had dropped a drawer. The maid went upstairs and rapped on the door. Receiving no reply she entered.

Mrs. McLane followed her into the room. "Mr. McLane has fallen and hurt himself," the servant said. As Mrs. McLane approached her husband's side she saw what had happened. The pistol was lying on the floor beside him. The mayor was breathing heavily, but was unconscious. She lifted his head and put a pillow under it.

Married This Month.

On the 14th of this month the mayor startled all Baltimore by going to Washington with Mrs. Mary Van Bibber, the beautiful widow of Dr. John Van Bibber, and getting married.

Friends and acquaintances of the mayor were aware for several years that he was attentive to Mrs. Van Bibber. There were rumors of an engagement. Whenever questioned on the subject the mayor would decline to commit himself on the ground that it was his personal affair.

It was the purpose of the mayor and his bride to pass the summer months just outside Baltimore, in Baltimore county. The couple made no wedding trip, as the mayor was anxious to remain at his post of official duty until after the conditions resulting from the fire had improved.

Mrs. Van Bibber was considered one of the handsomest as well as one of the most intellectual and delightful women in Baltimore.

Mayor McLane was a son of James L. McLane, president of the National Bank of Baltimore, and a nephew of the late Robert M. McLane, former governor of Maryland, and former United States ambassador to France. He was the youngest mayor Baltimore ever had.

Mayor McLane's death will make E. Clay Timanus, republican, president of the second branch of the city council, mayor.

IN PIKE; NOT ASYLUM

Police Learn Refuge of Insane Saloonkeeper Curran.

TRAIN "ESCAPE" IS A MYTH.

G. B. Morgan and Wife, His Friends, Face Contempt Charge.

While the Chicago police have been searching for him under the impression that he jumped from a railway train in a desperate effort to avoid confinement in an asylum for the insane, Michael Curran has been enjoying "the Pike" and all the other wonders of the St. Louis exposition.

When the police heard the facts yesterday they gasped in amazement. For Curran, a wealthy saloonkeeper, recently was declared insane and ordered confined in an asylum. His case was long and bitterly fought but in the end three leading experts declared the man a victim of paranoia. Judge Honoré accordingly ordered him sent to an asylum; his friends agreed, and apparently the case was closed. It was not.

"Guarded" by a Friend.

Curran, "guarded" by George B. Morgan, 3709 Prairie avenue, a friend, left Chicago, ostensibly for a sanitarium. On the train, however, the prisoner and his "guard" talked the case over. They agreed that St. Louis and its exposition appeared more attractive than any sanitarium.

"Suppose we go there," proposed Curran, and the suggestion was acted upon. For two days they enjoyed all the attractions, from the art gallery to "the Pike." Then they returned to Chicago.

"Guard" Is Cited Into Court.

It was then the police and Curran's brother Thomas, learned of the affair. The latter, through whose efforts Michael twice has been committed to asylums, at once appealed to Judge Honoré. The court cited Morgan and his wife to appear in court this morning and show cause why they should not be held in contempt for violating the court's order. In the application it is charged that they "secretly caused and permitted the said Michael Curran to leave their residence in Chicago and to go to St. Louis without his attendant, and that George B. Morgan accompanied him thither, without the knowledge of the court or his conservator."

Morgan Explains "Escape" Report.

Curran is now in Chicago, according to Morgan, and will be produced in court today.

"The report that Mr. Curran jumped from a train on the way to St. Louis is erroneous," said Morgan yesterday. "We went to St. Louis together, and spent several days seeing the exposition. Mr. Curran objected to being confined in a sanitarium, so we returned to Chicago."

Curran was an inmate of the Lake Geneva sanitarium when, May 6, he was brought before Judge Honoré for a second investigation as to his sanity, pursuant to a writ of habeas corpus secured by Morgan and others. During the hearing the Morgans were permitted to act as Curran's custodians.

Alleged to Be "Dangerous."

In a court petition filed by Curran it is stated that his brother is "incurably insane, and that it is dangerous to the public that he remain at large." Curran also insists that the man's mind has been poisoned against him by Morgan and others, and that he fears a personal attack in the event of their meeting.

CHEFOO, May 31, 10:50 a. m.—From a Manchurian merchant it has been learned that the Japanese occupied the Motienling mountains, 100 miles north of Fengwangcheng, and directly east of Liaoyang. There is only one pass through the range.

TO RESCUE PORT ARTHUR.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, May 30.—The correspondent of the Echo de Paris states that Gen. Kouropatkin has been ordered to march his army southward from Liaoyang to relieve Port Arthur.

Col. Spironodnoff and a battalion of engineers already are at work repairing the railroad, and considerable progress has been made.

It is added that while Gen. Kouropatkin will attack the Japanese in the rear, Gen. Kondratovitch will guard his left flank by holding Kuroki's army at Fengwangcheng.

[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

LONDON, May 31, 3 a. m.—Commenting on the dispatches from St. Petersburg to the Paris papers, the Daily Mail this morning says:

"There are indications that Kouropatkin, like so many commanders before him, has succumbed to political pressure and is moving south along the railway in the direction of Port Arthur in a desperate endeavor to succor the garrison of the fortress.

"On May 27 Kouropatkin had a prolonged interview with Viceroy Alexieff, who some weeks ago opposed the idea of any retreat on the part of the Russians, and who persisted in holding Port Arthur when Kouropatkin wished to abandon it. The viceroy was said at the time to have called in the personal intervention of the czar to prevent Gen. Kouropatkin from carrying out the policy of retirement.

Dangerous Line of Action.

"It is possible this has happened a second time and that Gen. Kouropatkin has once more been forced against his own better judgment into a dangerous line of action.

"If so he has acted as did Marshal MacMahon when, in 1870, he yielded to the Empress Eugénie and made his fatal attempt to join hands with Bazaine in Metz—an attempt which issued in the terrible disaster of Sedan.

Like Another Sedan.

"On the present occasion Port Arthur stands for Metz and Gen. Kouropatkin is running exactly the risks which MacMahon ran thirty-four years ago. He is exposing his flank and line of retreat to the Japanese army at Fengwangcheng.

"That the Japanese have noted this movement is probable, as reports on either side indicate that Gen. Kuroki is pushing forward in the direction of Mukden. He has no reason for endeavoring to bar the Russian advance to the south, since that can be met by the second army and fleet at Kinchou.

"The further the Russians advance the better, from the Japanese standpoint.

Tells of Japanese Advance.

"Kouropatkin tells us that Kuroki is throwing forward the Japanese right towards the often mentioned town of Siamatese, but that he does not know in what force the Japanese are advancing. Kuroki reports that the Japanese have defeated a body of 2,000 Cossacks at Alyangmeun, far to the northeast of Fengwangcheng, which is confirmed by the Russian news.

"If Kouropatkin actually is pressing south the situation is one of almost unparalleled interest, and we are upon the eve of most decisive events.

Russia's Armies Outmatched.

"The Russian field army available for an advance south cannot exceed, and probably does not reach, 80,000 men, as at least 40,000 men must be left to watch the railway and guard Mukden.

"Against these Kuroki can bring at least 100,000, and probably 150,000, men into the field, while Gen. Oku has four victorious divisions to the south, or about 95,000 men.

"There are still some 50,000 Japanese unaccounted for, and where they will appear no one knows, except that it will be in the right place. A fresh force has just sailed from Japan for some unknown destination, said to be eastern Corea, though this is not probable."

RUSSIAN PLANS IN DOUBT.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, May 31, 3 a. m.—The accurate news which the St. Petersburg correspondents of the Paris newspapers send to their journals alternates with such erratic nonsense that it is difficult to decide in which class to place the report received yesterday that Gen. Kouropatkin is rushing southward to take Gen. Oku in the rear and succor Port Arthur, while Gen. Kandrotovitch holds Gen. Kuroki in check.

Russians Marching South.

That Gen. Kouropatkin either is conducting or directing some forward movement seems certain. The Chefoo correspondent of the Daily Express says:

"The main armies about Liaoyang are moving. The Russians are reported to be marching south under urgent orders from the czar. Gen. Kouropatkin is striking out to a position slightly southeast of Liaoyang. His activity is caused by the steady circling movement of the Japanese, who threaten to surround him unless he breaks out and offers battle."

According to this correspondent it is not considered that the southward march has any connection with the Port Arthur position, but is an attempt to restore the prestige of Russian arms. The Japanese have several cavalry brigades operating westward who are in touch with the Russians. The Japanese are moving up infantry and guns from Fengwangcheng. The simultaneous advance of both armies causes the belief that a battle is imminent.

Forced by Alexieff.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily News refers to the same movement, which, like some other correspondents, he represents to be the outcome of the conference between Gen. Kouropatkin and Viceroy Alexieff. The News also makes Gen. Oku's rear the Russian objective, adding that Gen. Kouropatkin's advance guard is believed to be already rapidly nearing Kinchou. This obviously is gathered from the same source as the Paris story to the effect that the Russian vanguard is farther south than Wafangtien, which is sixty-five miles north of Port Arthur.

Japanese Army Advancing.

Finally there is Gen. Kouropatkin's own announcement of a Japanese advance from Kuantien. Gen. Kuroki's report of activities at Aiyangpienman and elsewhere northward of Fengwangcheng shows it is improbable that the Russian commander will remain inactive at Liaoyang in view of recent events. So, while the curtain temporarily falls on the Liaoyang promontory scene, it appears about to rise on an interesting and perhaps decisive event farther north.

Kouropatkin's Enemies at Home.

Gen. Kouropatkin, the Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent says, is fighting two enemies, one at home, the other in Manchuria. While his military reputation is undergoing a terrible ordeal, he also is accused of failure as minister of war, to make proper preparations for war.

The emperor is alleged to be so dissatisfied that he would dismiss both Alexieff and Kouropatkin were it not that he fears the effect on public opinion.

Ought to End War.

The general impression among the highest classes is that the fall of Port Arthur ought to connote the end of the war and that if the Japanese succeed in this aim Russia's best interest would be to make peace, but nobody, the correspondent avers, possesses the moral courage to make such a suggestion to the emperor.

Count on German Aid.

The correspondent also asserts that an agreement exists whereby Germany promises armed support to Russia if necessary to prevent England and the United States from attempting to submit the far eastern question to an international congress, and declares that the recent relaxation of anti-Jewish laws by Russia is the outcome of the desire of the minister of the interior to conciliate American opinion.

The correspondent adds his testimony to previous reports of internal unrest in Russia, which, he says, is greater among all classes than ever before. He declares there is no doubt whatever that the attempt to blow up the forts at Cronstadt was the work of the revolutionary committee, as were also the attempts to sink the battleship Orel.

Jap Army Building Roads.

According to correspondents at Japanese headquarters, Japanese troops are largely engaged in building roads and bridges. The Standard's correspondent says that Gen. Kuroki gave a luncheon to the foreign military attachés to celebrate the victory on the Yalu, while almost simultaneously the Japanese first army was informed of the Kinchou victory.

The same correspondent indicates the reason for delay in the operations. He says that the force that landed at Takushan appears to have struck the fringe of the rainy season. The downpour has been heavy.

Kouropatkin and Alexieff Confer.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, May 30.—Col. Gaedke, the Berliner Tageblatt's correspondent with the Russian general staff, telegraphs from Mukden that last Friday Gen. Kouropatkin had a long conference with Viceroy Alexieff, after which he returned to Liaoyang.

JAPS DEFEAT 2,000 COSSACKS.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

TOKIO, May 30.—A detachment of Japanese troops attacked and defeated 2,000 Cossacks at Aiyangpienmen, northeast of Fengwangcheng, on Saturday. The engagement began at 10:30 and ended at 11:30 a. m. The Japanese lost four men killed and twenty-eight wounded. The Russian casualties are not known.

After defeating the Cossacks at Aiyangpienmen, the Japanese occupied that place and reinforcements were sent forward to support them.

The Japanese captured a quantity of powder and fifty-six railroad cars after the battle of Kinchou.

Russians in Retreat.

Gen. Oku reports Russians at Nanshan on Thursday consisted of seven regiments of infantry, the Kwangtung fort artillery, five companies of railway guards, and some bluejackets. Thursday night, apparently, they were at Sanshilapao. At midnight they retired by railway to Port Arthur. At present no Russians are to be seen east of Chienkechinpao. Hoanshan has been deserted and dismantled. Gen. Nakamura with a detachment occupied Linshutung on Friday, and captured four guns and a quantity of ammunition.

JAP ADVANCE ON LIAOYANG.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 30.—Gen. Kouropatkin telegraphs the czar that the Japanese advance began at Kwantien, westward of Saimatszi, this morning. Its strength is unknown. It is believed in St. Petersburg that this is the Japanese attempt to turn the Russian position at Liaoyang.

The reported defeat of Cossacks at Aiyangpienmen was the only news and almost the only topic of conversation in St. Petersburg last night. No official dispatches were given out last evening, but officers at military headquarters were reluctant to accept the Japanese dispatches.

They think it possible that the Japanese met Gen. Mistchenko's command, which has recently been raiding in Corea. It is formed of comparatively raw recruits, though now hardened by three months campaigning.

It is conceivable that they might have been defeated, but not Rennenkampf's force patrolling the Aiyang region, who are veterans of that old command which accompanied him on the famous ride through Manchuria.

These men are esteemed here as the hardest riders and the most reckless fighters in the transbaikal army. Any disaster to them would have a greater sentimental effect than the most serious reverse at Kinchou.

DALNY TO YIELD WITHOUT BATTLE

Russians Expect Japanese Army to Land Great Siege Guns at Once.

WAIT AT PORT ARTHUR.

Czar's Forces Confident That Their Gibraltar Cannot Be Stormed or Starved.

BULLETIN.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, May 31, 3 a. m.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Tashichao, dated May 29, says a Russian staff officer, who managed to get through the Japanese lines with dispatches from Gen. Stoessel to Gen. Kouropatkin, says that, after the fighting at Kinchou, the Russians retired in good order, leaving the Japanese in possession of Dalny and Talienwan.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 30.—It is admitted that the capture of Kinchou places Dalny in the hands of the enemy, practically, without a battle. It is admitted that the Japanese will be able to land siege guns there. Meanwhile the Russians are active. Taking with them a special train, Col. Spironodnoff and his engineers have done a splendid piece of work in repairing many miles of the railway line. Storms are seriously impeding the Japanese's landing operations and rains are destroying the roads, while the Cossack forces are increasing daily, harrying the lines of the Japanese.

In military circles it is accepted that beyond a few possible minor engagements Russia's rôle in the Kwantung peninsula now takes a passive form, Port Arthur being called upon to play the rôle for which it was built and to resist successfully a stubborn attack until relief comes.

Cannot Take Port Arthur.

The Gazette admits that the withdrawal from Kinchou means the investment of Port Arthur, but says:

"There is nothing that should be discouraging in that fact. The fortress was built to withstand a siege. Now only does it enter upon its proper rôle. Now only can the millions spent upon it be utilized. It is impossible to take it by storm. It can face a long siege, until the achievements of the Russian armies elsewhere enable the garrison to take the offensive."

The Japanese losses at Kinchou, the Gazette adds, have impeded their active operations and greatly weakened the army on the Kwantung peninsula.

The Novoe Vremya, inveighing against the nervousness produced by the latest news, says:

"The war will lay bare many defects in our life and administrative and political mechanism, and must have its useful consequences if it shows up weak spots and directs attention to them. But the Russians must not allow themselves to become the prey of depression. In war the stronger always wins in the end. We should not be downcast at the latest news of the success of the weaker side, which is enjoying temporary numerical superiority."

Deceived by Gen. Kuroki.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 30, 2:18 p. m.—According to information from a high source, important news regarding the Japanese plan of campaign, which has reached the Russian authorities since the battle of Kinchou, compels the conviction that the advance of Gen. Kuroki and the activity of his scouts northwest and southwest of Fengwangcheng are parts of a well executed feint to prevent Gen. Kouropatkin from detaching a strong force to hamper Gen. Oku's operations on the Liaotung peninsula.

Under cover of Gen. Kuroki's screens, it is added, part of the Japanese army landed at Takushan will be moved southward into the peninsula, while Kuroki attempts to make Kouropatkin believe that he intends to force a decisive engagement with him.

Port Arthur All Along.

This information would tend to prove that the primary object of the Japanese campaign all along has been Port Arthur, and that once that fortress is in their hands, unless an exceedingly favorable opportunity offers to attack Kouropatkin, the Japanese plan is simply to make their tenure secure and force the Russian commander to assume the offensive.

Moreover, there is information to the effect that the Japanese propose to storm Port Arthur with the briefest possible delay, after having first closed the harbor to render the egress of the Russian ships impossible at the last moment, thus forcing the Russians to destroy them without subjecting the Japanese to the inevitable losses which must occur if the Russian squadron gets out for a last fight before going to the bottom.

No Offer to China.

Owing to it being a holiday it is impossible to obtain official opinion regarding the announcement made today by the Tientsin correspondent of the Daily Express of London that the Russian minister at Pekin, M. Lessar, had informed the Chinese government that Russia will finally evacuate Newchwang provided China grants a concession for a railroad across Chinese Mongolia and that Russia will evacuate Manchuria outright if China leases the Ili or Kooldja territory to Russia.

In diplomatic circles the report is regarded as absurd. It is pointed out that Russia already owns the greater part of the Ili territory and that three-fourths of the course of the river, which empties into Lake Balkash, flows through Russian territory.

KAISER WRITES KOUROPATKIN.

German Emperor Sends a Personal Letter to the Russian Commander in the Far East.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, May 30.—The paper called Asien, organ of the German Asiatic society, states that Maj. Runkel, one of the German staff officers sent to the seat of war, carries with him a long letter from the kaiser to Gen. Kouropatkin.

The kaiser takes keen interest in the progress of the war and has reports made on it twice a day, illustrated by maps and sketches prepared by the general staff.

Asien further learns from its St. Petersburg correspondent that at the last council of ministers held at the Russian capital it was proposed to send a corps of grenadiers, now in garrison in and around Warsaw, to the front, as well as a division of Polish cavalry.

The czar, it is stated, favored the plan, saying he considered these troops even superior to the corps du guarde. The minister of war, however, opposed it, as he did not regard the mere verbal assurance of Germany that she will not seek to profit by this depletion of a frontier district as offering a sufficient guarantee.

It was decided to ask the German government to repeat the assurance in writing.

Critic of Kaiser's Governing Methods

PROF. ERNST HASSE.

Prof. Hasse dared lese majesty at a meeting of the Pan-German congress at Luebeck yesterday by arraigning the kaiser for his "personal government" methods and for placing a barrier of courtiers between himself and the people. Prof. Hasse is noted as a statistician and student of government, and is connected with the University of Leipzig. He is the author of several books on statistical and political subjects.

TIME FOR PEACE NOT YET

JAPAN'S MINISTER SAYS RUSSIA MUST MOVE FIRST.

Kogoro Takahira, Mikado's Envoy to United States, in Interview at St. Louis Asserts That Only in the Newspapers Is There Any Talk of Mediation—Czar Can End War by Conceding All of the Demands Made Before Strife Began.

St. Louis, Mo., May 30.—Kogoro Takahira, the Japanese minister to the United States, stated tonight in an interview that all talk of mediation between Japan and Russia is futile until Russia asks for the aid of a friendly power to end the war. He said Japan would not make the overture. He stated Japan's case this way:

"War," he said, "is like trying a case before the supreme court. Japan and Russia are now in the midst of this contest. They are each trying to make out the best case possible, because, after all, the final question must be left to the will of God.

"I have heard much talk about arbitration and mediation—in the newspapers. I have never heard anything of it officially, either from the American government or any other. I do not believe Japan would at this time be willing to make any overtures.

Russia Must Speak First.

"As I have said, this war is one for peace. Japan would no doubt welcome that outcome, but the initiative, I judge, would have to come from the other side.

"If Russia would agree to withdraw from Manchuria and would consent to the things that we asked before the outbreak of hostilities, Japan would undoubtedly listen. But I do not think that anything of that kind is likely to occur just now. It is too early. Each, as I have said, is still trying to prove its case before the world.

Fighting for Nation's Life.

"The people of Japan, as well as its rulers, believe that we are fighting for the integrity and existence of our nation," continued the minister. "That belief is as firmly planted in the heart of the private soldiers as in the highest official, and it may be that that alone has done much for the success of our arms.

"Japan has grown in many ways, it is true. We have taken great pains in the last few decades to educate our people as far as possible, not in war alone but in the arts of peace. This war, we believe, is a fight for peace. War, however, seemed the only way to obtain it."

MAY DRAW CHINA INTO WAR.

Japan's Proposal for Control of Territory Taken from Russia Causes Uneasiness at Washington.

Washington, D. C., May 30.—The reported offer of Japan to China to surrender to her so much of Manchuria as already has been taken by the Japanese troops is viewed here with interest, because of the possibility, if the offer is accepted by China, that Russia will hold that the Celestial empire has thereby violated her pledged neutrality, thus affording ground for an attack upon certain parts of Mongolia that would be of great strategic value in the war.

The alternative said to be presented by Japan, of an administration of the captured territory by an international commission, is not likely to meet with much favor in Washington.

The experience of the government in the boxer uprising, and the subsequent difficulties in getting clear of the obligations incurred in conjunction with European nations, have not encouraged further concurrent movements of that kind.

ANOTHER JAPANESE ARMY SAILS

Transports Believed to Be Carrying 15,000 Troops Leave Japan for Unknown Destination.

Washington, D. C., May 30.—Advices received here report the departure from Japan of another army division. While its destination is not stated, it is conjectured that these troops are about to close in the Russians' rear in northeastern Corea, cutting off the raiding parties which have threatened Gen. Kuroki's communications. There are no less than 15,000 soldiers in the expedition.

WANT KAISER AT HOME.

PAN-GERMAN CONGRESS CRITICISES EMPEROR SHARPLY.

Prof. Hasse, Former Member of the Reichstag, Declares the Best Elements of the People Earnestly Wish His Majesty to Remain at Least Half the Year at Capital—Resolution Urges Government to Acquire Foothold on Coast of Morocco.

BERLIN, May 30.—The annual pan-German congress at Luebeck today took the character of a sharp criticism of Emperor William and the system of personal government.

Prof. Hasse, a former member of the reichstag, said the best elements of the people earnestly wished the emperor would choose advisers who had the courage to ask him to spend at least half the year at the capital, so they might daily confer personally with him without the intervention of courtiers, and who would have the courage to resign when their advice was disregarded. The professor's words evoked great applause.

Germany Wants Morocco.

A resolution adopted by the congress declares it is "imperatively necessary for the political and business interests of the empire to acquire a foothold on the Atlantic coast region of Morocco, and the congress feels it to be a humiliating disregard of Germany that France and Great Britain fixed the future of Morocco without consulting Germany, thus treating her like a power of third rank."

Urges Government to Act.

The resolution further declares that congress would regard it as "irreparable sinning against the permanent interests of the German people if the imperial government should miss the opportunity presented at this moment for asserting Germany's claims upon Morocco and establishing a permanent foothold there."

ANTI-DREYFUSARD ARRESTED.

Is an Army Officer and Is Accused of Having Used Money to Obtain Captain's Conviction.

PARIS, May 30.—The ministry of war has caused the arrest of an officer named D'Autriche, who is understood to have been connected with the Dreyfus affair. The officer, who is held in close confinement in the fortress of Mount Valerian, is said to be charged with using considerable sums of money during the court martial at Rennes in order to procure the conviction of Dreyfus. He was attached to the accountant's department of the war office and $5,000 is missing. Other arrests are expected.

CASH DEPOSIT FOR CRUISERS.

Charles R. Flint Ready to Take Over Esmeralda and Chacabuco from Chilean Government.

SANTIAGO DE CHILE, May 30.—Charles R. Flint of New York has deposited the value of the cruisers Esmeralda and Chacabuco with the bankers Rothschild in Paris.

The report was current in Valparaiso May 11 that Mr. Flint had arranged to pay the Chilean government $3,150,000 for the two cruisers, but that the congress would have to confirm the sale.

ITALY RESENTS VATICAN'S NOTE.

Pope's Protest to Powers Over French President's Visit Called an Insult.

ANGRY DEBATE IN ROME.

Members of Parliament Insist Pius X. Has Declared War on the State.

ROME, May 30.—The vatican's note to the powers, which resulted in the recent diplomatic rupture with France, was denounced as an insult to Italy in the Italian chamber of deputies today, and the government urged to take energetic measures to prevent the interference of the church with Italian affairs.

Sig. Mazza, republican, called the note of the papal secretary of state, Merry Del Val, a perfect insult. He recalled that the pope had not protested against atrocious offenses to religion in France. His holiness had now risen against a king, who, according to the vatican, had stolen the pontifical patrimony, designating his majesty as a usurper. The note therefore was a declaration of war.

National Pride Forgotten.

Signor Mazza declared that the government had forgotten all pride and the national dignity in permitting the people of France to defend Italian rights.

The liberals and the extreme parties applauded, and the galleries joined.

Signor Guerci, radical, followed, saying that "this time the vatican is not protesting, but bleating."

Signor Cabrins, socialist, interrupting: "Call it braying."

Signor Guerci, continuing, complained that the pope, who in his career before he became pontiff, saw, appreciated, and profited by Italian unity, should now as pontiff have as his inspirer and executive against Italy a foreigner, Cardinal Del Val.

Premier Giolitti Replies.

Premier Giolitti, who arose amidst a breathless silence, said that the vatican note naturally was not communicated to the Italian government. The vatican note contained a phrase regarding the king of Italy, but the effect produced was such that they must be extremely glad of the existence of that phrase, as it had offered Premier Combes the opportunity to make a statement so flattering to Italian patriotism.

The crowded galleries rose and applauded for five minutes, crying "Viva Combes."

Protest Thirty-four Years Old.

Sig. Giolitti continued:

"The note contained the usual protest which the vatican has been repeating for thirty-four years. Italy has no reason to change her policy. She does not fear the invasion of the congregations, as she has laws to protect herself. If these laws are insufficient we will make new ones.

"To fear that the country cannot protect itself against the influences of foreign congregations is to insult Italians. The state and the church must be as two parallel lines which never meet. Both must enjoy liberty. It will be worse for the church on the day that she illegally interferes in the affairs of the state."

WALK TIRES FRENCH SOLDIERS.

Forty-two Missing, One Dead, and Thirty-four Sent to Hospital After Endurance Test.

PARIS, May 30.—Fatal results followed the army walking match yesterday from the Place de la Concorde to St. Germain and back, a distance of about twenty-eight miles, in which 2,000 soldiers from many regiments took part. Reports received by the ministry of war show that forty-two men are missing, and a number of them are believed to have succumbed to hardships.

Besides those missing, thirty-four men were taken to hospitals along the course in various stages of prostration. Six were in a serious condition, one man is dead, and another may not recover. Some reports place the number of dead at four.

In the chamber of deputies today War Minister Andre was severely criticised for permitting the contest, which is denounced as brutal. Gen. Andre admitted that a mistake had been made, and a vote of confidence was passed by only a narrow majority.

BETWEEN DALNY AND PORT ARTHUR (THE COUNTRY THROUGH WHICH THE JAPANESE TROOPS ARE ADVANCING

THREAT IS HELD OVER THE SULTAN

Told He Must Produce Captives or Matter Will Be Taken Out of His Hands.

LOOKS LIKE ULTIMATUM.

Cruiser Brooklyn Arrives at Tangier, and More Warships Will Soon Follow.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

TANGIER, May 30.—The British and American representatives have sent a strongly worded note to the sultan, informing him that their governments are unable to accede to the demands made by the bandit, Raisuli, and intimating that unless his majesty secures the release of Ion Perdicaris, the American, and Varley, the Briton, who are prisoners in the hands of Raisuli, they will take the matter into their own hands.

The arrival of the Brooklyn has greatly improved the attitude of the Moorish authorities.

Raisuli is said to be elated over the situation. He threatens to capture the secretary of the Italian legation and his wife.

Several tribes are adopting a threatening attitude. They want Raisuli to demand concessions in their behalf.

A special courier, it is reported, has been sent to the sultan conveying the American view.

Rear Admiral Chadwick Arrives.

Rear Admiral Chadwick arrived today on the United States cruiser Brooklyn. The cruiser Atlanta also arrived today, and the Olympia, Brooklyn, and Cleveland are expected tomorrow.

The sultan is willing to pay a ransom and also to liberate Raisuli's partisans, who are now imprisoned, but Raisuli now asks American protection for the settlement. This last condition the sultan refuses to accept, nor will the United States undertake the responsibility implied.

In a Serious Position.

The authorities here consider that the position of Perdicaris and Varley is now more serious than before.

Rear Admiral Chadwick, accompanied by an aide, the United States consul general, and two marines, visited M. Torres, the representative of the sultan at Tangier. The interview lasted ten minutes, after which M. Torres returned the visit at the United States consulate, the Brooklyn firing a salute in his honor.

May Kill the Captives.

Washington, D. C., May 30.—Mr. Gummere, the United States consul at Tangier, in a cablegram received at the state department over night says that threats against the lives of Raisuli's captives, Perdicaris and Varley, have been made unless the bandits' demands are granted. A dispatch from Admiral Jewell, commanding the European squadron, announces the departure for Tangier of the cruisers Olympia, Baltimore, and Cleveland.

France Hesitates to Act.

PARIS, May 30.—Inquiries made at the foreign office regarding an unofficial intimation that the United States government would welcome the aid of France towards securing the release of Messrs. Ion Perdicaris and Cromwell Varley from the Moroccan brigands show that no request of that kind has been received, and that, therefore, no steps are contemplated.

Moreover, it was said that before France took decisive steps it would be essential for her to receive requests, both from the United States and the sultan of Morocco, as the authorities here do not desire to raise an issue with Morocco concerning the extent of French authority.

BOSTON GIRL IS KILLED BY NAVAL OFFICER'S AUTO.

Marion Holder, Aged 6, While on Way to Sister's Grave with Flowers, Run Down in Mother's Presence.

Boston, Mass., May 30.—[Special.]—While on her way with her parents and brother to place flowers on her sister's grave at Cedar Grove cemetery this morning Marion Holder, 6 years old, was knocked down and killed by an automobile, in which were Lieutenant Commander Edward H. Scribner, United States navy; Mrs. Scribner, and their two sons. Lieutenant Commander Scribner was arrested at his home in Lowell tonight on a charge of manslaughter and brought to Boston police headquarters, where he told his story and was released on $3,000 bail, furnished by his father-in-law, Stephen C. Davis, a Lowell box manufacturer.

"I saw some persons boarding a car," said Lieutenant Commander Scribner tonight. "Suddenly the Holder child, who I thought was stepping on the car, darted back, and before I could snap a finger she was under the wheels of my machine."

The child's death quickly followed from concussion of the brain. Women on the car fainted when they saw what had happened, and Mrs. Holder was almost frantic with grief when she picked up the body of the little girl.

Stories of persons who saw the accident differ about what Scribner did after it had taken place. Some say he rushed away in his automobile without stopping to give his name or address. Others corroborate his statements that he left his machine and tried to enter a drug store to which the child's body had been carried, but was refused admittance.

BANKRUPT IN A COMEDY.

SAMPLE OF LAW'S DELAY IN NEW YORK COURT.

Examination of Pollitz Robenhauer Promises to Last Six Months—Practically No Progress Made in the First Day's Examination—Witness Has an Execrable Memory—Also Seems to Misunderstand Questions Likely to Throw Light on His Case.

New York, May 30.—[Special.]—An example of the long drawn out methods in vogue in bankruptcy cases in the United States District court in this city is furnished by the case of Politz Robenhauer, now on hearing before Thomas Alexander, United States commissioner.

From present appearances it will drag along for six months at least. It is developing into a comedy and indeed comes near to the features of a circus. Here is a sample of the beginning of the case:

Q.—Mr. ——, what is your name? A.—You'll excuse me, Mr. Honorable Lawyer, I don't speak a word English.

Q.—Where do you live? A.—Im haus.

Q.—Where? A.—City New York.

Q.—What street? A.—East side.

Q.—What street and number? A.—Pitt street.

Q.—What is your house number? A.—I don't remember.

Q.—Mr. Robenhauer, don't try to be funny. Answer my questions. A.—I'm an honest men. I vouldn't be funny.

Q.—Do you own any real estate? A.—Vy should I?

Q.—Never mind whether you should; do you? A.—I vouldn't do it.

Q.—Do you or do you not? A.—Might'll be yes, might'll be nein

Q.—Don't fence with me; answer the question. Do you own real estate? A.—Dot I couldn't say.

Q.—You can say and you will. A.—It's none your business.

Q.—Do you refuse to answer the question? A.—I never did a sin all my life. Vy you ask me such questions?

Attorney (to his assistant)—Call the commissioner. [To Robenhauser]. I'll have you put in jail for contempt of court.

Robenhauer—I'll make a speaking vid de judge. [A second later, as the commissioner approaches.] Vot's de question?

Attorney—Do you own any real estate? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Any on Twenty-fifth street? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Any on Grand street? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Any on Canal street? A.—No, no, no.

Q.—Any on Madison street? A.—No—on Monroe street.

Owns Property, Not Real Estate.

Q.—Ah, then you do own property? A.—Sure.

Q.—Why did you say that you didn't when I asked you before? A.—Real estate I vouldn't. Property sure.

Q.—What property do you own? A.—I own Monroe street.

Q.—Where on Monroe street? A.—By de corner.

Q.—By what corner? A.—Dot I don't remember.

Q.—What is the number of the property on Monroe street? A.—I don't remember.

Q.—Is it a house? A.—I told you. Vy you ask me such fool questions?

Q.—Have you any tenants in the house? A.—Sure.

Q.—How many tenants? A.—Might'll be two, tree, six, a dozen.

Q.—Might'll be a million, but how many are there? A.—Vell—[counting]—four, six, twelve Twelve tenants.

Q.—How much rent do the tenants pay you? A.—I vouldn't take rent. Vy should I?

Q.—Who are these twelve tenants? A.—For vy you want to know it?

Q.—Have they been in your house a year? A.—I vont to explain.

Q.—Answer yes or no. A.—Can't I explain if I vant?

Q.—Answer yes or no.

Robenhauer (to the commissioner)—Mr. your Honor, got I answer de question?

Commissioner—Yes, answer it.

Robenhauer—Vell, if he answer me a guestion I'll allow his guestion.

Attorney—Do you refuse to answer the question? A.—Vot is de guestion?

Q.—Who are the twelve tenants in your house on Monroe street? A.—My vife Rachel, mein leetle Jakie, Sarah, Ikie, Sammie——

Q.—Your family, then, are your tenants? A.—Sure.

Q.—Any other tenants? A.—I'm a private men. Tell me, vy should I have udders?

Q.—Have you any money now? A.—Sure.

Admits He Has Car Fare.

Q.—How much money have you? A.—Mein car fare.

Q.—Has your wife got money? A.—You should ask her.

Q.—Don't you know? A.—I don't remember. I wouldn't tell you if I didn't know.

Q.—Who pays your rent and butcher bills? A.—I tink mein farder in Europe.

Q.—What do you live on? A.—It's a fresh guestion.

Q.—Answer me. What do you live on? A.—You got such inquisitiveness.

Q.—What do you live on? A.—You got to know? Vell, breakfast, supper, and lunch, and tea.

Q.—Do you still own the house in Monroe street since I asked you before? A.—Dot I vouldn't.

Q.—You don't? Then what did you do with it? A.—Gib it away.

Q.—To whom did you give it? A.—A friend's mine.

Q.—Was he a close friend, an intimate friend? A.—Sure he was.

Q.—How often do you see this friend? A.—Vonce, twice, t'ree times—every day.

Q.—What is the name of this intimate friend to whom you gave the house? A.—I vouldn't tell you.

Q.—You refuse to answer? A.—I vouldn't speak more vid you. It's a fresh ting.

Attorney—Mr. Commissioner, will you direct the witness to answer?

Commissioner—I so direct. Answer the question.

Robenhauer—Vot is de guestion?

Commissioner—Mr. Stenographer, please read the question.

Stenographer—What is the name of this intimate friend to whom you gave the house?

Has a Bad Memory.

Robenhauer—I don't remember.

Commissioner—You do remember and you understand the question. Now answer it.

Robenhauser—You'll excuse me, I don't remember. Vat should I say? Ven I don't remember den I couldn't remember. I never bother by names I couldn't speak easy als you. So as I live and should be dead struck, I don't remember.

Attorney to the commissioner—Will the commissioner certify to the judge that the witness refuses to answer the question?

Commissioner—The commissioner rules that the witness refuses to answer the question and he will so certify to the judge.

Robenhauer—Mr. Commissioner, it's a fine gentlemen. I'm a poor man. I vouldn't to the judge go. Please I vouldn't.

Attorney—Mr. Robenhauer, who kept your books?

A.—Shall you ask me more guestions? You get me so crazied up I don't know where I sitting.

Q.—Who kept your books? A.—You are insensible to vot I say, no?

Q.—For the third and last time, who kept your books? A.—Vot you call him—de librarian?

Q.—Your business books? A.—I never mixed in de books. Dot is for a bookkeeper.

Q.—What is the bookkeeper's name? A.—Rosle.

Q.—Rosle what? A.—You shall ask her.

Q.—Don't you know? A.—I'm too misfortunate, mister.

Q.—Have you thought of the name of the friend to whom you gave the house on Monroe street? A.—It's too soon.

Q.—Did you get anything for it? A.—Sure. You tink I a fool?

Q.—What did you get for it? A.—A leetle bit money.

Q.—How much money? A.—Dot I don't remember.

So Cheap It Was a Present.

Q.—I thought you told me you gave the house away? A.—I sold it a bargain to a friend. It vas so cheap it really vas as I call a present.

Q.—Who served you with the notice to come here today? A.—A men give it me in de hend a piece paper. I couldn't read. My vife she say: "Pollitz, you should go by de judge. If you vouldn't it cost a whole lot money—a mint money." I say: "Nur, vat should it cost?" She say: "Tousand dollis." I say: "Oy, oy, oy, might be I go on de court." Dot's all.

Q.—Does your wife read all notices to you? A.—No, sure not. Some, yes, musts.

Q.—Did she keep your books? A.—For selling customers and vid Mr. Cohen.

Q.—What Mr. Cohen? A.—Mr. Cohen of New York. I sell him vonce, twice goods.

Q.—You had more than one bookkeeper, then? A.—I am doing fifteen years so business.

Q.—Will you bring your books at the next examination? A.—I'll make a looking. If I see, I'll bring. I'm a honest man.

Examination adjourned until Mr. Robenhauer produces his books.

DESERTED WHITE CHILD ENDS PITIABLE CAREER.

Burned to Death in the Home of a Negro and Never Knew Who Its Parents Were.

New York, May 30.—[Special.]—Edith Warren, an 8 year old white child, was burned to death in her home in the rear of 247 Navy street, Brooklyn, on Saturday. Since then the police and others have taken a deep interest in her case. She lived among negroes all her life, and as near as can be ascertained never knew her father or mother.

She had never attended school, and her playmates were the little pickaninnies of her own age of Navy street. The secret of her parentage is locked in the breast of Susan Johnson, who was the only mother Edith ever knew, and that secret Susan Johnson refuses to impart to any one.

Susan's mother was a nurse and attended the child's mother at the time of Edith's birth. When Susan's mother returned home she carried with her the baby, who has since been known as Edith Warren. Four years ago Mrs. Johnson died. She had told her daughter Susan all about the antecedents of the child, but instructed her not to communicate the matter to any one.

It is said that the child's mother was at one time prominent in society on Brooklyn Heights, but that at the time she became a mother was not a wife. Several years ago a man whose identity is not disclosed, but who is said to be a physician, wanted to adopt the child, but because Susan refused positively to tell anything about the child's parents the adoption was never effected.

$100,000 Fire in Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., May 31.—A fire which started shortly before midnight burned over an area of half an acre at the corner of Oregon, Perry, and St. Clair streets. The loss probably will reach $100,000.

RUSSIAN MAP SHOWING POSITION OF HARBOR WORKS

SIX PERSONS INJURED IN PHILADELPHIA RACE RIOT.

Clash Between Children Is Taken Up by Elders and Shots and Bricks Fly Thick and Fast.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 30.—[Special.]—During a race riot at Thirtieth and Reed streets this afternoon six persons were seriously injured and a score slightly hurt. Eleven were arrested charged with assault and battery and inciting a riot. The riot started shortly after 3 o'clock and the trouble was ascribed to a negro band that paraded the streets playing rag time patriotic airs. A wagon followed the band and carried a large sign proclaiming: "This is the day we celebrate."

White children took exception and started to argue with negro children. Stones began to fly and in a few minutes missiles were going in all directions. The white children seemed to get the best of the stone fight and colored men ran from their houses and became involved. One of the negroes, Elisha Ash, drew a revolver and fired, wounding Eliza Landon and Ilone Nametz. Detective Boyd wrested the revolver from the negro, who then stabbed Boyd in the stomach before he was arrested.

Meanwhile the riot spread in the street. Jesse Walter shot and wounded Robert McCollough and Mary Walter, his wife, rained a volley of bricks upon the heads of the people, one striking Policeman Gibson and fracturing his skull.

"BADDEST BAD MAN EVER."

Alice Roosevelt's Opinion of What Her Father Would Be if He Were a Bad Man.

St. Louis, Mo., May 30.—[Special.]—Alice Roosevelt visited the Arizona gold mine exhibition in the Gulch at the fair today, and while there met Harry Clifford and a number of rough riders who had known her father.

The discussion naturally turned on men of the west, and their bad and good points. After an exchange of opinions had been indulged in the president's daughter expressed herself:

"Well, if papa had turned out to be a bad man I am sure he would have been the baddest bad man that ever was."

Accused of Wife Abandonment.

C. W. Robinson was held to the grand jury in $800 bonds by Justice Caverly yesterday on the charge of abandoning his wife.

TUG TRIPS ON TOWLINE: OVERTURNS AND SINKS.

Boat O. B. Green Rests on Bottom at Mouth of the South Fork—Capt. T. J. Culnan and Crew Escape.

The tug O. B. Green tripped on the towline of the steamer Jesse Spalding, which it was towing out of the south fork of the Chicago river last evening, and was overturned. The crew escaped as the tug went down.

The Green was in command of Capt. T. J. Culnan, and was trying to turn the Spalding into Mud lake, when the steamer took a sheer. Before the tug could be swung around the towline pulled it over.

After the boat sank only the top of the pilot house was visible above water.

AWAIT REARREST OF HAASS.

Chicago Police Expect News of It at Any Time—Blame Release to Springfield or Washington.

No word was received by the Chicago police that Herman E. Haass, te defaulting auditor of the Corn Exchange bank, had been rearrested in San Juan del Querotaro, Mexico. The fugitive is watched constantly by Detective Sergeant George Marsh.

Lieut. Rohan said last night: "We are expecting to hear of Haass' arrest at any time. This department is not to blame for his release. It was due to a delay either at Springfield or Washington in sending requisition papers."

It is said that Detective Marsh made a mistake in arresting the man without first telegraphing the Chicago police.

"We are confident that Haass will be rearrested by arrangement with the Mexican government and surrendered for return to Chicago in a day or so, just as soon as extradition papers arrive for him," said D. A. Moulton, vice president of the bank, last night.

CITY BREVITIES.

Held Prisoner in Vestibule.—Louis M. Beyer, ill of the smallpox, was kept a prisoner for an hour last night in the vestibule of the West Chicago avenue police station. He was taken to the Isolation hospital and the building fumigated. Beyer lives at 2947 Dearborn street.

"Good Fellow" on Trial.—Robert Sperce, who said he spent his entire salary to be a "good fellow" and "drum up" trade, is under indictment and will be put on trial today before Judge Chytraus on a charge of embezzlement. He was the representative of a wholesale wine concern.

Killed by Joliet Line Car.—Henry Koppen of Summit, Ill., was run over and almost instantly killed by a Chicago and Joliet electric car at La Grange early yesterday morning. The coroner's jury found that death was accidental and not the fault of the car crew.

Colored Y. M. C. A. Election.—The Colored Young Men's Christian association of Illinois has elected these officers: President, Prof. Ira Z. Taylor; vice president, the Rev. J. T. King; treasurer, R. M. Leach; secretary, W. W. Taylor.

Students Go Star Gazing.—Prof. Kurz and the twenty young men and women students of his class in descriptive astronomy at the University of Chicago last evening inspected the Yerkes telescope at Lake Geneva, Wis.

WORKS AS MAID TO ROB.

"ELSIE MEYERS" IS BELIEVED AGAIN TO BE BUSY.

Servant Answering Description of Much Wanted Woman Disappears with Property Valued at $300 from Residence of Mrs. Elizabeth Skyle, 4337 St. Lawrence Avenue—Two Men Are Arrested Charged with a Daylight Holdup.

One more house robbery in Hyde Park is credited to Elsie Meyers or Elsie Manard, the woman who, under the guise of a servant, has robbed a number of residences recently.

A few days ago a young woman applied to Mrs. Elizabeth Skyle, 4337 St. Lawrence avenue, for employment as companion and maid. She presented excellent references and was engaged. Last Saturday the new maid disappeared, taking with her jewelry, clothing, and bric-a-brac valued at $300.

The matter was reported to the police, and after comparing the description of the woman with that of the much wanted "Elsie Meyers," Lieut. Sullivan is satisfied that they are the same. The woman was first heard of when she secured employment at the Elms hotel, Fifty-third street and East End avenue, where she is said to have stolen a purse containing $400.

Daring Daylight Store Holdup.

A holdup in broad daylight yesterday morning in the pawnshop of Morris Hernreich, 111 Halsted street, resulted in the arrest of two men. The police of the west side believe that the men captured were implicated also in the robbery of the Touraine shoe store, 165 Madison streets, Saturday evening.

They were taken after a chase in which several shots were exchanged. They gave the names of John Kane and S. H. Gallagher. Both were armed with revolvers and Kane had $42.75 when searched at the station.

Hernreich was alone in the pawnshop shortly before 8 o'clock when the two men entered. They asked to see some diamonds and a tray of gems was placed on the counter. Hernreich was then attacked and a lively fight ensued. As a crowd gathered the thieves ran from the place and were followed by the police.

Believe Touraine Mystery Solved.

In the arrest of three men in connection with the robbery of the Touraine shoe store in Madison street the police believe that they have the culprits. They were caught at 17 Eldredge court. The police say they were identified by W. C. Parks, a clerk in the store. The men gave the names of Robert Kyle, Edward Jonathan, and James Loomis. Two other suspects, Samuel Harris and Edward Baumgarden, were partly identified by Manager A. J. Franks at the Desplaines street station.

When eating a meal after they had stolen cigars, silverware, and jewelry valued at $100, two burglars were interrupted in Pattani's restaurant, 219 Jackson boulevard, last evening by the proprietor. They jumped through a rear window and escaped with the booty.

T. Reade Ryan, an agent of the Mexican Central railroad, a guest at the Stratford hotel, was robbed Sunday night of a pocketbook containing valuable papers and $45 in cash. The robbery was committed by a sneak thief. Mr. Ryan was awakened by a noise in his room, but the intruder apologized, saying he had made a mistake, and left. Later Mr. Ryan discovered his loss.

Bicycle Stolen from Under Him.

While on his rounds as a special delivery carrier from the Stockyards postal station on Saturday, Fred Korwer was held up at Forty-ninth street and Wentworth avenue and robbed of his bicycle. The boy said he thought at first that it was done in fun, and did not report it to the police.

Says He Was Robbed on Train.

W. A. Dellinger, a resident of West Virginia, while traveling from Lost River, W. Va., to Piedmont, N. D., yesterday reported to the South Chicago police that he had been robbed of his wallet containing his railway ticket and $45 in money. The conductor put him off at South Chicago because he would not produce his transportation. Dellinger asserts that some one picked his pocket while he was on the train.

Lieut. Mulcahy of the Chicago police department arrived at Providence, R. I., yesterday to take charge of Stephen Herbert, arrested last Wednesday for the alleged theft of $15,000 worth of jewelry from John W. Kiser.

BABOON AND EMPLOYE GONE.

Proprietors of a Circus at Lincoln Avenue and Larrabee Street Complain to Police.

The simultaneous disappearance of one agile baboon and one stake driver has furnished another vexing problem for the police. Complaint was made yesterday to Lieut. Schlau of the Halsted street station that Sig. Ravenzo, otherwise John Rafferty, had disappeared from Lincoln avenue and Larrabee street, and that D'Artagnon, the trick monkey, was missed at the same time. The managers of the circus declared they could not live up to the bills without D'Artagnon, whose particular forte was looping the loop.

HURT WHILE BUILDING CHURCH.

Workman at Oakwood Boulevard and Langley Avenue Leans on a Gable and It Falls.

James Sheridan, a brick mason, was severely injured yesterday afternoon when the gable of a new church building at Oakwood boulevard and Langley avenue fell as he leaned upon it.

Sheridan fell sixty feet. Both legs and his body were severely bruised and internal injuries, it is feared, will cause his death.

John Suka, employed in raising a barn at 237 19th place, was pinned under it when it slipped from the blocking and fell. Both legs were broken.

SEE TRUE BILLS IN DREAM BOOK.

Seventy-five Policy Men Likely to Be Indicted by Grand Jury Today.

MORE RAIDS BY POLICE.

Twenty-five Persons Arrested in Fourteen "Shops" and "Headquarters."

Seventy-five policy men will be indicted today by the grand jury on evidence supplied by members of the flying squadron if the expectations of Assistant Chief Schuettler are realized. Twenty-five men were arrested yesterday. Four were found in a policy shop at 173 Clark street, said to be the headquarters for the policy "syndicate," which has been raided once a day for the last five days. At this place the police found records of six different policy drawings.

Among the prisoners taken yesterday were George Washington and Washington Holmes, the negro proprietors of policy shops at 1800 Dearborn street and 123 Monroe street. Washington offered no resistance, but Holmes became violent when an attempt was made to remove three "good luck" horseshoes from above the door, and handcuffs were put on him.

"For goodness sake, break all the furniture, but don't take the horseshoes!" Holmes shouted.

On entering the shop Detectives Congdon and Blaul had confiscated a pile of policy books and policy slips, and were leaving, with Holmes in custody, when they saw the horseshoes. Both were deaf to the proprietor's entreaties.

"Isn't the house's percentage big enough without those mascots?" demanded Blaul.

Then the detectives took the horseshoes and put them in the patrol wagon as a part of the evidence against Holmes before the grand jury.

Other Shops Raided.

Other shops raided during the day were as follows:

2515 Dearborn street—Alfred Sconks, keeper.
2512 Dearborn street—John Williams, keeper.
186 Halsted street—Joe Bradley, keeper.
1906 Dearborn street—W. H. Lavoystean, keeper.
2110 Dearborn street—C. Hall, keeper.
138½ Wells street—John Mascok, keeper.
2833 Wentworth avenue—George Chadwell, keeper; one inmate.
3031 Dearborn street—John Todd, keeper.
28 Harmon court—Bert Roberts, keeper; two inmates.
13 Clark street—Charles Rissman, keeper; two inmates.
460 State street—Sam Johnson, keeper; two inmates.
672 West Van Buren street—Nell Phelps, keeper; two inmates.

Chief O'Neill Finds Penny Fraud.

Chief O'Neill detected a fraud in a penny weighing machine at Fifty-fifth street and Cottage Grove avenue. After investing four coins in the machine in an effort to weigh himself, the chief turned it upside down and discovered that it was out of order.

"This is a fraud," said he.

The owner of the machine, who stood by, apologized, but the chief was not to be appeased. He threw the machine into the street and ordered the owner to remove it.

INQUIRY INTO WOMAN'S DEATH.

Coroner Investigates Circumstances in the Case of Mrs. Bridget Doody, 28 Selden Street.

The police and coroner are investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Bridget Doody, 28 years old, 28 Selden street. The woman died on Sunday evening as the result of an operation, it is said. Dr. R. C. De Veny, who attended Mrs. Doody, refused to make a statement pending the inquest.

NEGROES SLASH A MOTORMAN.

Board Car at Sixty-ninth and Paulina Streets and Attack Daniel Clark.

Daniel Clark, a motorman living at 6330 Wentworth avenue, was assaulted and stabbed last night by colored men who boarded his car at Sixty-ninth and Paulina streets. He sustained a gash in the right thigh and a deep cut in the abdomen. He was taken home. A description was furnished the police of his assailants.

HOPE FOR BREAK TO END DEADLOCK

Gubernatorial Candidates Expect Same Old Story at Start, but Trust in Lightning.

LOWDEN IN YATES' CAMP.

Finds Governor's Followers Napping and Occupies Former Stronghold.

smoking, but I am going to try and do it if it takes the entire Springfield police force."

Each Hopes to Win on Break.

The prevailing idea is that when the end comes it will be the result of a breaking up of Yates' forces. Every other candidate and his friends are confident the governor cannot hold his people together indefinitely. Quite a number of the governor's followers admit this privately. What will become of them when they do break up no man here in Springfield pretends to know. Each candidate hopes he will be gainer. No one has any good reason to claim it.

The program by which Yates still hopes to succeed was outlined by one of his lieutenants today. He recognizes he cannot get any votes in Cook county to amount to anything. He has an idea he can unify enough delegates from outside Cook to make a majority. This would necessitate getting Hamlin and Sherman as well as Warner out of the way. It was leading up to this that the governor called the attorney general and ex-Speaker Sherman into conference in the Wellington hotel in Chicago last Wednesday. At that meeting he made no suggestion about the senatorship for one and the speakership for the other, as has been reported elaborately, but told them he wanted to see if there could not be better feeling established among the delegates from outside Cook county.

Deneen Men More Hopeful.

Judging from the spirit in which they return to the scene of conflict the Deneen forces are more firmly united and more hopeful than even in the nine days' fruitless balloting that preceded. Mr. Deneen's arrival was greeted in the Leland hotel with enthusiasm. He stood in the lobby much of the later afternoon, shaking hands with all comers. The general opinion was he had gained rather than lost in strength and probability during the recess.

So far as the Will county situation is concerned there are no developments as yet.

"The Will county delegates have not received any petition from anybody as to the manner in which they shall vote at this convention," said Warden E. J. Murphy of the Joliet penitentiary. "We understand a petition asking us to vote for Deneen has been circulated in Will county. It, however, has not been presented to us, and we know nothing about it."

"I have seen mention of such a petition in the Joliet papers," said Congressman Howard Snapp. "There were some 300 names there published. So far as I know it has not been presented to the delegates, nor do I imagine they have any official knowledge of it."

Lowden Delegation Arrives.

The "Lowden forever" forces made a "triumphant entry" and progress through Springfield at 7 o'clock this evening. The special train which left Chicago at 2 o'clock arrived at 6:45 with the colonel's 400 delegates all under the colonel's personal supervision. With De Baugh's band in the van playing "Union Forever" and "Hold the Fort, for I Am Coming," the delegates formed a procession four abreast, and with badges fluttering and flags waving marched through the streets to the Leland.

Col. Lowden, who has been in town since last night, was standing in the door of the hotel when his cohorts arrived and pressed into the new headquarters on the opposite side of the street. While the band played and the delegates cheered the colonel reviewed his forces, after which they bore him away to tell him how they mean to stick, stick, stick.

Lowden Claims Chicago Gain.

The Lowden people made a poll of their Cook county strength tonight and say it shows a gain of two. They claim they secured two former Deneen delegates from the Sixteenth ward. This would make a net loss of four for Lowden from Chicago over the fifty-eighth ballot, as it is expected six votes in the Twentieth ward, following the lead of W. J. Moxley, will vote for Yates on the first ballot tomorrow, as they did for him on a couple of ballots the first part of the convention. These six votes are tabbed as the total result of Gov. Yates' three days' spellbinding in Chicago. He had them twice before he made his speeches.

Quite a number of Mr. Deneen's Chicago friends came in at 8:30 p. m. Roy O. West, James A. Reddick, Col. W. H. Harper, and others were in the party. A big majority of the state's attorney's followers will not be here till tomorrow, however. A number of his chief lieutenants, like Fred Busse and James Pease, will be with them, having been detained in Chicago by the funeral of A. W. Pulver.

"I have quit making predictions," said William Lorimer. "I was so successful once when I guessed 40,000 plurality in Cook county that I thought I would preserve what reputation I made then by going out of the prophesying business. I can say for the Lowden delegates, however, that I believe our candidate will retain all he has until the end, and naturally will get more as he goes along. I see no signs of any great change, however, on the first ballot."

CANDIDATES APPEAR SATISFIED.

Unwilling to Make Predictions as to Outcome, but Are as Hopeful as Ever.

Springfield, Ill., May 30.—[Special.]—The following statements by the gubernatorial candidates indicate their views of the situation:

CHARLES S. DENEEN—From what we have heard from various delegations we are confident there will be no change on the first ballot, and we all are confident our delegates will stick.

HOWLAND J. HAMLIN—I see no change in the situation and am not making prognostications. I shall not be surprised, either, by a continuance of the deadlock or by a break.

VESPASIAN WARNER—I see no change in the situation, and look for none till the third or fourth ballot tomorrow.

FRANK O. LOWDEN—I am satisfied with the situation; perfectly satisfied, and beyond that statement I do not care to be interviewed.

JOHN H. PIERCE—I am in the same position I occupied before. My delegates do not affect the situation one way or another. I did not take the initiative in my own candidacy. I did not seek delegates, and now there is no reason why I should give them up, especially as it would not alter the situation.

MRS. ECKLEY IS AGGRESSIVE.

Considered Out of the Running for University Trustee, She Shows Strong at the Finish.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 30.—[Special.]—Petticoat lane, where the candidates for university trustee lay their snares for delegates, is swayed tonight in a palpitating state of excitement, compared with which the first epoch of the convention was like a church sociable. The excitement arises from the deep and dark mystery in which Mrs. Corinne B. Eckley of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Chicago, is the central figure.

Mrs. Eckley, whom everybody considered out of the race for trustee, suddenly appeared on the scene today in advance of Mrs. Springer and Mrs. Busey, and opened headquarters in a prominent situation in Petticoat lane. In the first stage of the convention Mrs. Eckley was so inconspicuous as a candidate that she did not burden herself with headquarters.

"Something has been doing!" is the exclamation that went up and down the lane when the rival candidates caught the first glimpse of and the business air about the Eckley rooms.

"Of course something has been doing," replied Mrs. Eckley. "I haven't many women behind me, but I have men, and that's what will count in this convention."

Mrs. Busey, who introduced bevies of Urbana beauties into the political situation, arrived at her headquarters in the evening, and soon stationed herself in a position in the lane commanding coming and going delegates.

Mrs. Busey says most of the delegates are returning instructed for her.

"O, yes, you're Mrs. Busey, are you?" said a man who wore a delegate's badge. "I'm only a proxy, but I'm instructed to vote for you, even if I bolt the crowd for governor."

"You see," said Mrs. Busey, "that's the way proxies have been coming in all the evening—ironclad instructions."

Mrs. Springer will not arrive until tomorrow morning, though her women followers kept open house in her headquarters during the evening.

"Homesick Clifford" May Organize "Grand Army of Rip Van Winkles."

Springfield, Ill., May 30.

MY DEAR:

The veterans of the "First epoch" have been gathering today. The "First epoch" is what Jim Rose calls the other gathering, the one that got out of town to take a fresh breath and let the prohibition convention get busy. Rose has got out a souvenir book with bunches of photographs of patriots who fought and bled before, and he calls it an "epoch."

I guess if we made an "epoch" before we are going to make a "glacial period" this time. At least that's the way lots of the fellows figure it, and they are not going to be caught short on shirts this time. "Billy" Lorimer came down with a reticule the last time. This time he brought a steamer trunk. "Pash" Warner has brought Mrs. Warner along, and I notice a number of delegates seem to be prepared to start housekeeping, having brought their wives along. This sign indicates it may be a long time before the ice breaks up and goes out. Maybe some of the ring leaders know how and when the thing is going to end, but if they have a thought on the subject you would have to take it away from them with an instrument.

Jim Rose, who says the last affair was an "epoch," thinks we are now going to get into the "Jarndyce vs. Jarndyce" class, and that our sons' sons will be found in our seats some day still voting: "Adams county, 20 for Yates" down to "Woodford county, three for Lowden; three for Deneen."

I have a hunch to organize the Grand Army or Rip Van Winkles and hold a reunion every year. Maybe we could get pensions after awhile. I think it would be a grand idea to organize such a glorious body.

This aggregation of patriots should not be allowed to perish off the earth. Today was practically a reunion of the veterans of the "First epoch." Some of us were not recognizable because we had on clean shirts and some of the others had had a shave while they were home. We just naturally drift into corners and begin with: "Say, do you remember--?"

We're holding campfires all round the Leland tonight and showing bandaged wounds. I have begun to think a good deal of this grand army idea. We could form a Woman's Relief Corps also. We'll need one before long, I guess.

Lowden has been whooping up the town tonight. I guess he figures he can get them started, but it looks hopeless to me.

He might as well try to start a log jam by standing on the bank and hollering at the logs.

HOMESICK CLIFFORD.

PAID EMPLOYES WILL BE FEW AT NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Sergeant of Arms of Big Republican Gathering Outlines His Plans—Will Do Away with the Standards.

William E. Stone, sergeant at arms at the coming republican national convention at the Coliseum, has devised a system which he believes will be a great improvement over former years. He is determined to avoid the friction his predecessors had to contend with by reason of misunderstandings over appointment of employés. He also has announced that a limited number of assistant doorkeepers are the only attachés who will receive pay for their services. Then no republican, he says, will come here expecting to get a position out of which he will receive compensation sufficient to pay for his time and cover his expenses. Only such persons as are recommended by members of the national committee will be appointed to any position in connection with the convention.

Mr. Stone yesterday mailed a letter to the committeemen fully explaining his plans, and stating specifically that the assistant sergeant at arms, and attendants of every rank, must accept with the understanding that they are not to receive compensation, traveling expenses, or hotel bills.

The long used standards will be done away with. Placards carrying the name of each state will be tacked to backs of the seats.

JOHN H. PIERCE RESIGNS.

Candidate for Republican Nomination for Governor Severs Connection with Western Tube Company.

Kewanee, Ill., May 30.—[Special.]—John H. Pierce, president of the Western Tube company, and candidate for governor, has tendered his resignation, to take effect June 1. The work at the head of this great corporation has been exacting and Mr. Pierce resigns in order to gain an opportunity to recuperate. His family has urged him to take the step during the last year, but it was a severe attack of illness following the republican state convention ten days ago which caused him to decide.

INDIAN CHIEF IS FOR PARKER.

Quanah Parker Says Judge Was Named for Him and That He Is Heap Democrat.

Fort Sill, Okla., May 30.—[Special.]—Quanah Parker, the aged chief of the Comanche Indians, says he is a democrat and expects to support, with all the other members of his tribe, his namesake and alleged kinsman, Judge Alton B. Parker of New York, for the presidency. "Me heap democrat," he said. "Big judge, he my man; named for me; he my nephew; my Indians all democrats, all for Parker."

Great Annual June Lace Sale

The Most Extraordinary Lace Sale in Our History.

FOR several years past we have taken at the close of the spring season in Europe the entire surplus of certain leading St. Gall manufacturers of novelty laces. For the last three years these lots have been placed on sale by us about the 1st of June with wonderful success. All those who attended our sale last year, and we believe the majority of women in Chicago did attend it, will remember that the assortments were not only exquisite, but that the prices were actually only about half, and in many cases much less than half, the usual price of such laces. At this annual sale

Prices will be much less than half.

We will simply say that the assortment for this sale is the largest and finest we have ever shown, and the prices are unquestionably the lowest you have ever known.

Enthusiasm will run high in that lace aisle for the next two weeks. Do not miss the opportunity.

There has not been a lace transaction the past season which offered such an unusual opportunity for buying the finer goods. Included in this immense collection will be found all the fashionable trimming laces, such as will be required for the Derby Costumes and Coats.

The amount purchased was enormous, but the conditions were so advantageous that we could not afford to allow a single yard to be left out.

The sale opens today, and we promise you an event that will long be remembered by the women of Chicago. The season's grandest laces are included. The following will suffice to give you an idea how prices run:

Silk Escurial Laces, 90c.
Black Silk Lace Medallions, 75c.
White Irish Crochet Allovers, $2.90.

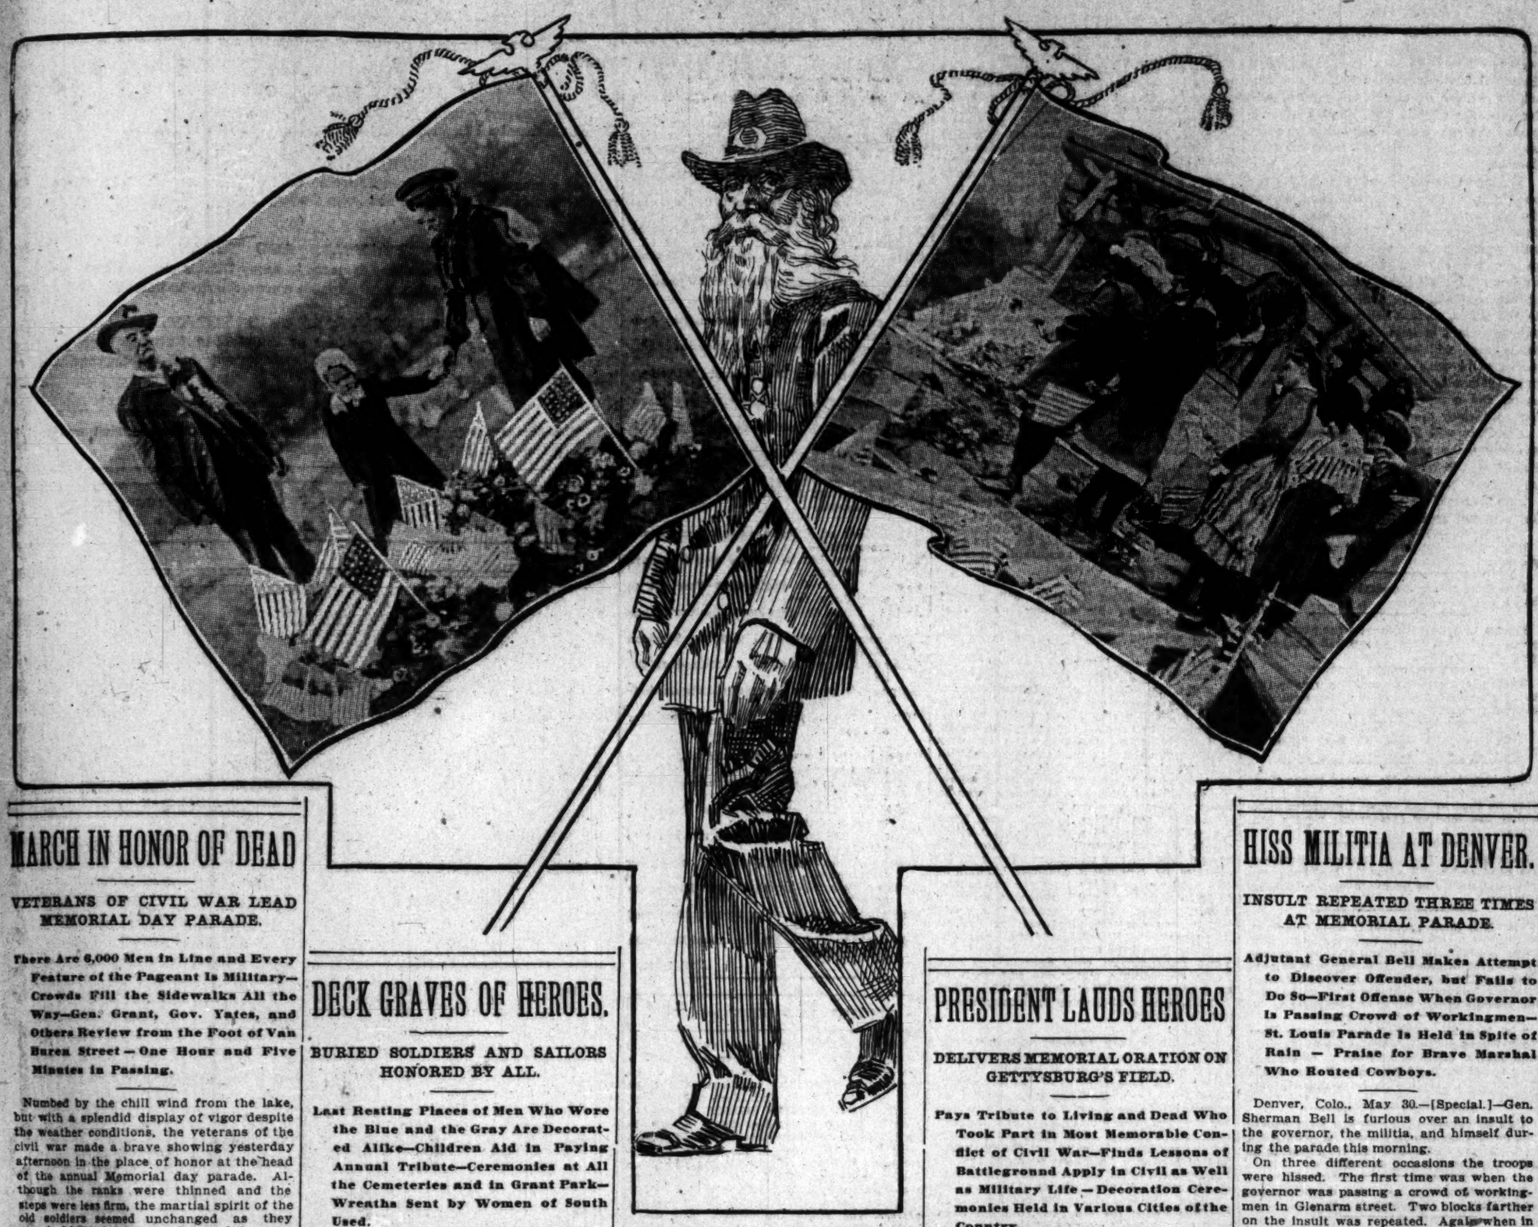
Chicago Pays Loving Tribute to Its Soldier and Sailor Dead; Graves Are Strewn with Flowers and Martial Host Parades.

[From Photographs Taken for The Tribune.]



MARCH IN HONOR OF DEAD

VETERANS OF CIVIL WAR LEAD MEMORIAL DAY PARADE.

There Are 6,000 Men in Line and Every Feature of the Pageant Is Military—Crowds Fill the Sidewalks All the Way—Gen. Grant, Gov. Yates, and Others Review from the Foot of Van Buren Street—One Hour and Five Minutes in Passing.

Numbed by the chill wind from the lake, but with a splendid display of vigor despite the weather conditions, the veterans of the civil war made a brave showing yesterday afternoon in the place of honor at the head of the annual Memorial day parade. Although the ranks were thinned and the steps were less firm, the martial spirit of the old soldiers seemed unchanged as they marched behind the post colors and the stars and stripes.

Organized to do honor to the memory of the military dead, the parade itself was military in every feature. Only military organizations were in line. The bands played principally military airs. The columns moved with a precision and nicety gained only from drill. The salutes, the stirring bugle calls, the tramp of men and horses, and the rattle of the artillery wagons on the pavements recalled the war days.

Spectators Line the Streets.

The spectators filled the walks along the route and the police had difficulty in many instances keeping them back to the curb line. The windows of every building were filled and people were crowded on the roofs of the Auditorium and Victoria hotels. Pennants and flags decoraied the buildings along the route.

Following the Grand Army of the Republic posts came the cavalry and artillery troops from Fort Sheridan, the Chicago regiments of the Illinois National guard, volunteers who had taken part in the Spanish-American war, and independent military organizations. It was estimated that 6,000 were in line, and of these 2,000 were veterans of the civil war. The marchers were an hour and five minutes in passing.

Reviewing the Column.

The point of greatest interest was the reviewing place on the east side of Michigan avenue, at the foot of Van Buren street. Here were stationed Gen. Frederick D. Grant, commander of the department of the lakes, and the members of his staff; Troop A, First Illinois cavalry, acting as an escort to Gen. Grant; Gov. Yates and eight colonels of his staff; Gen. C. S. Bentley, chief marshal of the parade; Col. C. R. E. Koch, adjutant general; Capt. H. Waldo Howe, chief of aids; and Col. George F. Stone.

Mrs. Frederick D. Grant was in a closed carriage, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Honoré and H. H. Honoré.

The columns formed in Michigan avenue, between Fourteenth and Twentieth streets, and moved north to Jackson boulevard and west to Market street. Gen. Bentley and staff rode at the head of the column till the reviewing place was reached, and then he joined Gen. Grant and staff.

Gov. Yates and his staff were at the head of the Illinois National guard division until they came to the reviewing place, where Gen. Grant and the others were waiting to receive him.

Start at 3 O'Clock.

The start was at 3 o'clock at the third signal gun fired by Battery D. Mounted park police, followed by a platoon of city police on foot, preceded the military organizations. Gen. Bentley, the chief marshal, came next with his staff, and then the Grand Army of the Republic veterans. Col. J. G. Crerest, was marshal of the veterans, and Col. Elliott Durand was his chief of staff; Capt. C. H. Taylor, assistant adjutant general, and Capt. George F. McKnight, chief of aids. Twenty-nine grand army posts were represented in the line.

Some of the veterans allowed their grandchildren to march with them. A number of these children were dressed in the national colors, and several of the boys wore full regimentals. Ruth Estoves, 10 years old, in square costume and carrying a sword, marched at the head of the Winfield Scott post, of which her grandfather is a member. Genivieve and Bessie Brooks accompanied their grandfather with the colors in the Custer post. Marie Gallery and Rosa Froehlich helped to carry the colors of the U. S. Grant post. As the line was about to move a veteran standard bearer said:

"This is my grandson; he's going to be a soldier, too."

Cheers for Colored Veterans.

The John Brown post, composed of colored veterans and led by Col. B. B. Jones, was given applause along the line for its fine showing. The 6 year old grandson of Col. Jones was the mascot.

The United States troops were in command of Maj. E. W. Howe of the Twenty-seventh infantry. Several troops of cavalry and batteries of artillery were in the column.

The Illinois National guard troops were in command of Brig. Gen. George M. Moulton, chief marshal. The First infantry was in command of Col. J. B. Sanborn; the Second, of Col. James E. Stuart; the Seventh, of Col. Daniel Moriarty; the Eighth, of Col. John R. Marshall; the First cavalry, of Col. E. C. Young; and the Signal corps, of Capt. John W. McConnell.

The volunteers who served in the Spanish-American war showed a greater variety of uniforms and probably represented a larger number of regiments and organizations than any other division.

DECK GRAVES OF HEROES.

BURIED SOLDIERS AND SAILORS HONORED BY ALL.

Last Resting Places of Men Who Wore the Blue and the Gray Are Decorated Alike—Children Aid in Paying Annual Tribute—Ceremonies at All the Cemeteries and in Grant Park—Wreaths Sent by Women of South Used.

The graves of the soldiers who wore the blue and those who wore the gray were given equal honor in Chicago yesterday. Old comrades and former foes strewed flowers over the grassy mounds in all the city's burial grounds. The widows of three wars and the children whose fathers or brothers marched to death under the flag joined in the yearly tribute to the soldier dead.

The women of the south added their offerings, the wreaths and wild flowers they had sent to Chicago being placed on the graves by their northern sisters. A day of gloomy skies and cold winds did not halt the processions of old soldiers. At each of the cemeteries a post of the Grand Army of the Republic was in charge of the ceremonies.

Flowers Scattered on the Water.

While the graves of those who died on land were being decorated the men who were lost at sea were remembered by the flowers that were scattered over the water of the lake at the foot of Van Buren street and in the Desplaines river near Forest Home cemetery. All the river was covered until the current carried the wreaths away.

Confederates Honored at Oakwoods.

Confederates and unionists were remembered alike in Oakwoods. While the G. A. R. posts, with the women of the G. A. R., Sons of Veterans, Woman's Relief corps, and two companies of the Illinois National guard were decorating the graves of the 1,000 union soldiers, those of the 7,600 confederates and of several federals were being cared for by United Confederate Veterans and the Woman's National Blue and Gray auxiliary. Fifty laurel wreaths, sent by the Charleston (S. C.) chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy, and hundreds of bouquets of wild flowers, gathered by the school children of Somerville, S. C., were used.

Thomas Post at Rosehill.

George H. Thomas post, G. A. R., was in charge of the ceremonies in Rosehill. Other organizations were represented and marched together to the graves. Dr. W. A. Waterman, who took part in all the battles of the army of the Potomac, was the principal speaker.

Children Aid at Graceland.

Lyon post decorated the graves in Graceland and Wunder's German Lutheran cemeteries. The same post also cared for the graves in St. Boniface's cemetery. In the services at Graceland 200 children marched with the veterans.

Impressive Ceremonies at Calvary.

At Calvary cemetery children from the Haven, Noyes Street, Dewey, and Foster Street schools decorated the graves. The services were held at the entrance to the cemetery near the Mulligan monument. The chaplains of Col. J. A. Mulligan Post No. 306 and Posts Nos. 573 and 28 of Chicago had charge of the ceremonies.

Naval Veterans in Grant Park.

The monument of Gen. John A. Logan in Grant park was the gathering place for the members of the Chicago commandery of the Naval Veterans' association. Addresses were made by Capt. D. W. Ackerman and the Rev. William B. Leach. After a short ceremony the procession marched to the foot of Van Buren street, where a salute was fired from the revenue cutter Morrill. Flowers were placed on the water by Mrs. Ackerman and her daughter, Miss Rose Ackerman.

Flowers Thrown on Desplaines.

Phil Sheridan post of Oak Park marched to the Oak Park Methodist Episcopal church, where James G. Monahan of Madison, Wis., made the principal address. Afterwards the 263 graves in Forest Home cemetery were decorated and the memory of the naval heroes was honored by baskets of flowers thrown into the water of the Desplaines river. The Kilpatrick post of Austin decorated the graves in Waldheim and the Winfield Scott post of Austin cared for the graves at Concordia.

At Elwood 500 school children decorated the 300 soldiers' graves and scattered flowers over the lagoon. U. S. Grant post was in charge of the ceremonies.

The graves of 150 soldiers in Mount Greenwood, Mount Olivet, and Mount Hope cemeteries were decorated by Wilcox and Gen. E. Hatch posts. The Rev. George C. Williams was the speaker.

The members of John A. Logan post of Evanston decorated the graves in Arlington Heights and Gross Point cemeteries. Details from the same post were in charge of the ceremonies at Niles Center, Northfields, and St. Adalbert cemeteries.

BARBARA FRIETCHIE AND FLAG AWAKE NO CHICAGO CHEERS.

Stops Pounding Pillow in Great Northern Hotel and Leans Far Out from Window Sill Without Effect.

A modern Barbara Frietchie tried to become famous yesterday afternoon by emulating her illustrious namesake. Unfortunately she chose for her act a twelfth story window in the Great Northern hotel. Because of this the "marching host" swept by unaware of Barbara and her silken flag, although she "leaned far out from the window sill and flung it forth with a loyal will."

"O, pshaw," said Barbara when the last soldier had passed, "I guess I'll go back and make those beds."

Barbara Frietchie, she spelled it Fritchie until yesterday, is a chambermaid in the Great Northern. William Berckes, a bell boy, first told her in the morning of her namesake, whom Whittier made famous. Berckes even recited the poem to her, and Barbara at once decided to become famous, especially as Berckes assured her that cheers and not bullets would greet her.

Barbara secured a flag and absent mindedly went about her work until the head of the Memorial day parade turned into Jackson boulevard from Michigan avenue. Then she dropped the pillow she was pounding and rushed to a window. Flinging it open, she leaned out and waved the flag.

Somehow it did not create the expected outburst of applause. Far below her veteran, volunteer, and regular marched by, but Barbara could not evoke a cheer.

"I almost wish they would shoot," she declared in disgust at length. Her friends encouraged her to persevere, and she did till the last of the "host" had passed. Then the wind swept the flag from her hand and Barbara sadly went back to her work.

She spells it Frietchie today, however.

VETERAN IS GUEST OF POLICE.

Man Who Lost His Purse Finds a Welcome at the Station in Evanston.

Fred Hecker, a war veteran, appealed last evening to the Evanston police for a night's lodging. Instead of being sent to the "hobo room" with the tramps, he was given a good supper and put into the hospital room in a comfortable bed.

Hecker has been residing on the south side on his pension, and yesterday was present at the memorial services at Rosehill. In the afternoon he lost his pocketbook and rather than beg from a stranger he walked to Evanston, where he asked for a night's lodging.

J. W. Holland, 65 years old, arrested on a charge of begging, told Justice Caverly he was a veteran, and the plea won him his liberty.

FLOWERS ON HARRISON'S GRAVE

Kentuckians Honor Memory of the Father of the Present Mayor of Chicago.

Three former Kentuckians, Prof. O. N. Card, Mrs. Lena Osborne, and Charles P. Osborne, yesterday sought out the grave of Carter H. Harrison, father of the present mayor, in Graceland cemetery. Flags and flowers were placed on the mound by them. Mr. Harrison was a Kentuckian.

FLOWERS FOR M'KINLEY'S TOMB

President and Mrs. Roosevelt Among Those Who Sent Memorials to Widow of Martyr.

Canton, O., May 30.—Floral offerings from widely separated portions of the country were received by Mrs. McKinley today to be placed on the tomb of her husband. Among those who sent memorials were President and Mrs. Roosevelt, the president sending a large wreath of various white flowers. Mrs. Roosevelt's token was a bouquet of American beauty roses.

PRESIDENT LAUDS HEROES

DELIVERS MEMORIAL ORATION ON GETTYSBURG'S FIELD.

Pays Tribute to Living and Dead Who Took Part in Most Memorable Conflict of Civil War—Finds Lessons of Battleground Apply in Civil as Well as Military Life—Decoration Ceremonies Held in Various Cities of the Country.

Gettysburg, Pa., May 30.—President Roosevelt today delivered the memorial oration on Cemetery hill, paying tribute to the nation's dead who fell in the most memorable conflict of the civil war. The president was escorted to the cemetery on Gettysburg battlefield by several hundred veterans. Mrs. Roosevelt and other members of the party followed in carriages.

Gov. Pennypacker presided at the ceremonies and spoke briefly, introducing the president. The invocation was by Dr. Edward Everett Hale, chaplain of the senate.

Precedent by Roosevelt.

No president between Lincoln and Roosevelt has ever had the temerity to make a speech at Gettysburg, considering that Lincoln's great speech was enough for all time. Grant, Hayes, and Cleveland all refused to speak there.

As the president rose to speak it began to rain, and continued throughout his address. He was accorded an enthusiastic reception notwithstanding the rain, and the crowd of 10,000 people in the cemetery remained, despite the thorough drenching.

Referring in the beginning of his speech to the allusion of Gov. Pennypacker to the death of Senator Quay, the president paid a tribute to the military service of the late senator.

War for Righteousness.

The president in his address said:

As long as this republic endures or its history is known so long shall the memory of the battle of Gettysburg likewise endure and be known, and as long as the English tongue is understood so long shall Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg speech thrill the hearts of mankind. The civil war was a great war for righteousness; a war waged for the noblest ideals, but waged also in thoroughgoing, practical fashion. It was one of the few wars which mean, in their successful outcome, a lift toward better things for the nations of mankind.

The soldiers who won at Gettysburg, the soldiers who fought to a finish the civil war and thereby made their countrymen forever their debtors, have left us far more even than the memories of the war itself. They fought for four years in order that on this continent those who came after them, their children, and their children's children, might enjoy a lasting peace.

Lessons Apply Today.

The lessons they taught us are lessons as applicable in our everyday lives now as in the rare times of great stress. The men who made this field forever memorable did so because they combined the power of fealty to a lofty ideal with the power of showing that fealty in hard, practical, common sense fashion. They stood for the life of effort, not the life of ease.

All are as one now, the sons of those who wore the blue and the sons of those who wore the gray, and all can unite in paying respect to the memory of those who fell, each of them giving his life for his duty as he saw it; and all should be at one in learning from the deaths of these men how to live usefully while the times call for the performance of the countless necessary duties of everyday life and how to hold ourselves ready to die nobly should the nation ever again demand of her sons the ultimate proof of loyalty.

Leaders at Little Round Top.

Among the prominent military figures present were Gen. O. O. Howard and Gen. Daniel E. Sickles. They discussed with Maj. Robbins, who led the famous confederate charge, the incidents of the battle. President Roosevelt, who was an interested listener, said:

"This country is all right so long as we can have this kind of a talk on Little Round Top."

The president returned to Washington after the exercises.

Gen. J. C. Black at Arlington.

Washington, D. C., May 30.—Washington's patriotic citizens turned out today to participate in memorial day exercises in the various national cemeteries. Interest centered at Arlington. While the Fifteenth United States cavalry band played a dirge the graves were decorated. The oration was delivered by Gen. John C. Black, commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Secretary Taft at Topeka.

Topeka, Kas., May 30.—Topeka was decorated in holiday attire today in honor of her semi-centennial, and there were great crowds here. Secretary of War Taft was the orator of the day. After riding at the head of a parade in a carriage with Gov. Bailey he was driven to the Auditorium, where he was greeted by 600 people and delivered a patriotic address.

HISS MILITIA AT DENVER.

INSULT REPEATED THREE TIMES AT MEMORIAL PARADE.

Adjutant General Bell Makes Attempt to Discover Offender, but Fails to Do So—First Offense When Governor Is Passing Crowd of Workingmen—St. Louis Parade Is Held in Spite of Rain—Praise for Brave Marshal Who Routed Cowboys.

Denver, Colo., May 30.—[Special.]—Gen. Sherman Bell is furious over an insult to the governor, the militia, and himself during the parade this morning.

On three different occasions the troops were hissed. The first time was when the governor was passing a crowd of workingmen in Glenarm street. Two blocks farther on the insult was repeated. Again when in the final review the National guards were passing between lines of regular troops there was a distinct hissing sound.

Adjt. Gen. Bell attempted to discover the offender by riding down the line, but failed to see a familiar face.

The feeling between the state troops and the regulars is strained since the encounter with United States cavalry at Trinidad, during the early days of martial law in that district.

Parade in Spite of Rain.

St. Louis, Mo., May 30.—The first day of "military week" at the world's fair was rendered disagreeable by a hard rain. The soldiers and cadets marched, apparently indifferent to the soaking, and the plaza was thronged by thousands who cheered.

The military parade was the feature of Decoration day. Over 5,000 military and semi-military organizations passed in review before Maj. Gen. John C. Bates and President D. R. Francis of the exposition.

Powder Flash Blinds Veteran.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 30.—[Special.]—Michael Stafford, a veteran of the civil war, was blinded by the flash of a military salute today.

He had trudged with his dog from his home to the square where the memorial day parade was forming. Ellis post No. 6, G. A. R., prepared to fire a salute. Stafford picked the dog up and carried him to the other side of the street that they might better witness the salute.

As the report sounded the veteran dropped the dog and fell to the ground. It was found that the man's optic nerves had been paralyzed.

Odd Turn to Memorial Day.

Abilene, Kas., May 30.—[Special.]—This city devoted the principal part of its Memorial day ceremonies to the laudation of a man whose claim to fame was that he subdued the cowboys when they were rulers of this old time cattle town. This was Thomas J. Smith, a former marshal of Abilene. The G. A. R. united with the citizens' committee in giving up the day to frontier reminiscence. A bowldr to Smith's memory was unveiled.

Drowning Mars a Ceremony.

Salida, Colo., May 30.—While the memorial exercises were at their height today, and the veterans were casting flowers in the waters of the Arkansas river in memory of the heroic dead, four people were suddenly plunged to death in the river by the breaking of a foot bridge. Several others are missing. The rest narrowly escaped.

Pitchblend costs eight dollars a ton.

The Radium particles in it are worth eight million dollars a pound.

Why?

Because pure Radium works wonders that nothing else will work.

"FORCE" costs more than the run of breakfast foods because of the pains I take to make it pure.

THE OLD FOLKS AT HOME

Are Never Without Pe-ru-na in the House for Catarrhal Diseases.

MR. AND MRS. J. O. ATKINSON, INDEPENDENCE, MO.

UNDER date of January 10, 1897, Dr. Hartman received the following letter.

"My wife had been suffering from a complication of diseases for the past twenty-five years.

"Her case had baffled the skill of some of the most noted physicians. One of her worst troubles was chronic constipation of several years' standing.

"She was also passing through the most critical period in the life of a woman. In June, 1895, I wrote to you about her case. You advised a course of Peruna and Manalin, which we at once commenced, and have to say it completely cured her. She firmly believes that she would have been dead only for these wonderful remedies.

"About the same time I wrote you about my own case of catarrh, which had been of twenty-five years' standing. At times I was almost past going. I commenced to use Peruna according to your instructions, and continued its use for about a year, and it has completely cured me.

"Your remedies do all that you claim for them, and even more. Catarrh cannot exist where Peruna is taken according to directions. Success to you and your remedies."

John O. Atkinson.

In a letter dated January 1, 1900, Mr. Atkinson says, after five years' experience with Peruna:

"I will ever continue to speak a good word for Peruna. In my rounds as a traveling man I am a walking advertisement for Peruna and have induced many people during the past year to use Peruna with the most satisfactory results. I am still cured of catarrh."

John O. Atkinson,
Box 272. Independence, Mo.

When old age comes on, catarrhal diseases come also. Systemic catarrh is almost universal in old people.

This explains why Peruna has become so indispensable to old people. Peruna is their safe-guard. Peruna is the only remedy yet devised that meets these cases exactly.

Such cases cannot be treated locally; nothing but an effective systemic remedy could cure them. This is exactly what Peruna is.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

THE END SEAT.

The open cars have been running in Chicago for a few weeks, but the "end seat" question has not come to the front, though it may later in the season. In New York it is one of the great topics of discussion and is being argued over in all its moods and phases, legal, ethical, and social. The "end man" is denounced as a hog or upheld as a sensible fellow.

A member of the board of aldermen has introduced an ordinance to the effect that "any person occupying an end seat on the entrance side of an open passenger car who shall refuse upon request to change such seat to a vacant seat nearer the inside of the car shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction punishable by a fine not exceeding $100 or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both." This would be ruthless legislation. He would be an obstinate man who would rather go to jail than "move along" when requested civilly or uncivilly to do so.

It is not unlikely that before long some Chicagoan who has had to work his way past the large and projecting knees of an occupant of the end seat will put up one of his aldermen to introduce an order on the subject. Then the question will attract public attention and the debates of a few years ago will be repeated.

It certainly is a great nuisance to have to squeeze past a number of people to reach a seat. It would be much pleasanter if a spirit of sweet obligingness ruled them all, and they unanimously moved along to give the newcomer that end seat which is so desirable except when the rain is driving into the car. But the street cars are so crowded that there is no room in them for the cultivation of the amenities of life.

The best way to dispose of the vexatious controversy is to abolish the end seats. The open cars of the old pattern should go and be replaced by the big ones with an aisle in the middle and seats facing forward. Then the knees of passengers will cease to be the nuisance they often are now.

HOW NOT TO MANAGE COLONIES.

Germany may have a more serious task than she supposes in subduing the revolt among the Hereros of Damaraland in southwest Africa. Starting several months ago, the revolt has spread, and a new danger is suggested in the possibility of its involving the warlike Namas who inhabit the rough country known as Namaqualand. Efforts of the imperial troops to suppress the uprising have not only been fruitless but have been extremely sanguinary, resulting in the loss of one-third of the German troops. The situation is growing worse, and unless considerable reinforcements are sent to assist in quelling the rebellion Germany may find herself confronted with as serious a problem as the English faced in the Boer war.

The reason for the revolt appears to be the feeling among the Hereros that the kaiser's system of colonial administration is unnecessarily harsh. They sought modifications and the result was that the Germans sent their troops against such presumptious subjects. There appears to have been no attempt to conciliate the natives. The plan recommended to the imperial government by the German Colonial society seems likewise to be devoid of any conciliatory spirit. It proposes that the Herero tribes be broken up and scattered over the country, that their property be confiscated, and the leaders of the uprising be heavily punished.

Such a policy of rigorous treatment of the natives will in the end defeat Germany's ambitions to become a great colonial power. England has adopted a far different policy and seeks by every possible means to secure the friendship and loyalty of the native tribes over which it exercises dominion. It recognizes to the fullest extent possible the religion and customs of the native people. This policy has enabled England to build up a vast army of colonial troops, whose services in a crisis like the Boer war are of incalculable value. In this way the colonies of England become a source of military income rather than expenditure. Germany can hardly hope to attain similar results from the policy adopted in the treatment of the Hereros.

America would do well to study carefully the causes of England's success and of Germany's failure in colonial enterprises.

TOO MANY APPEALS.

The lawyers who wish to reform practice in the Illinois courts, where reform is sadly needed, are members of the State Bar association but not of the state legislature. The lawyers who are sent to the general assembly, and the number is not small, are either so much absorbed in political or business questions that they do not have time to work for the improvement of conditions in the courts, or they are satisfied with a system which is obviously full of defects.

The trouble is that when the defects are attacked men come forward to laud them as virtues. The State Bar association condemns the almost unlimited liberty of appeal in civil cases which has been bestowed on Illinois litigants. It suggests that the Appellate courts have final jurisdiction in the cases heard by them, and that appeals to the Supreme court be allowed only in criminal cases and those in which the validity of a statute, a franchise, or a freehold is involved.

Some lawyers and some laymen will contend that that would be monstrously unfair. They will assert that it would be a denial of justice to refuse to any man, no matter how trivial his case may be, the right to have it passed on by the Supreme court.

The Bar association is in the right. One appeal is enough. The statutes provide for too many, and the privilege is harmful to litigants. It delays the final settlement of cases. It makes litigation more expensive. It gives the man with a full purse, who is better able to stand the expense of a trip to the Supreme court, an advantage over the poorer man. It does not result in securing a better article of justice for suitors.

It is inexpedient that there should be so many appeals. It is against the real interests of lawyers and their clients. The next general assembly ought to act on the recommendations of the Bar association. Probably it will not, because some lawyers will think it may deprive them of business, and some ill informed laymen will fancy it may rob them of a valuable privilege.

EXTIRPATING THE ARMENIANS.

Two weeks ago dispatches began coming about fighting between the Armenian peasants and the Turkish troops, mostly Kurds and Circassians, stationed in that part of the sultan's dominions. According to the first reports the fighting was of a serious nature. In one encounter in the district of Mush 136 Turks and 91 Armenians were killed and wounded. In the district of Sassoun, which takes in Mount Ararat and adjacent territory, according to the statement of a Turkish official, Armenian insurgents destroyed seventeen villages and had a battle with the Turks in which the insurgents lost 900 men and their adversaries 700.

A week ago it was reported that the Ottoman government, under the pretext of putting a stop to the forays of Armenian bands from the mountains, had decided to remove them all to the plains, where they would be under the observation of the Kurds, who hate them intensely and would be at their mercy. The latest news is that the Turks have a large force of regulars and irregulars in the field, and that forty-three Armenian villages have been burned and their inhabitants killed.

There may be some exaggeration in the dispatches, but it is evidently the intention of the Turks to make an end of the Armenians who are within their jurisdiction. They believe that now, when everybody is watching the war in the east, is the time to do the work. If the Armenians have revolted it is because they have been goaded into it. They would not do so under ordinary circumstances, because they are aware of the futility of an appeal to arms. Of late years the nations of western Europe have been deaf to their cries. They cannot turn to Russia not merely because she has a war on her hands but because recently her policy towards the Armenians in her territory has been distinctly unfriendly. For one thing, she has confiscated all the property of the Armenian church.

If the Armenians were to remain passive the Turks, after carrying out the policy of disarming them, would bid the ruthless Kurds, who are full of Mohammedan fanaticism, to pick a quarrel with them and make short work of them. If the Armenians must die, it is better that they should die in battle than be slaughtered like sheep.

If there be any humanity left in the Christian governments of western Europe they will stay the hands of the Turks before they have hunted down the Armenians in their mountain refuges and have finished their ruthless work. It is in their power to stop the slaughter.

TO PROMOTE HONESTY.

The Massachusetts legislature has passed a bill to promote honesty among the employés of private individuals and corporations. It is said that dishonesty is rife among them, from the cook who accepts presents from the butcher and grocer to get them the family custom up to the purchasing agents of great mills or railroads who are influenced by commissions to be false to the interests of their employers. No doubt there is much corruption of this kind in every community, but there may be more of it in Massachusetts than elsewhere. The manufacturers of that state say they are constantly being sold out by their employés.

In response to their demand the legislature has made it an offense to attempt to bribe an employé so as to influence his action about his employer's business and for an employé to be bribed. The employers are delighted, but it remains to be seen whether they will be benefited—whether the men who work for them can be made honest by act of the general court. There are some laws which are little more than pious aspirations. They set forth the opinion of certain people that various things should be done or should not be done, but for economic reasons, or because a perverse generation refuses to pay attention to them, they remain unenforced, mere expressions of opinion.

It is the law of Massachusetts, as it is of every other state, that those who bribe state or municipal officers and the officers who are bribed shall be liable to punishment. When this kind of legislation applying to a comparatively small number of persons whose conduct is likely to be pretty closely watched is generally enforced, and the servants of the public are faithful to their employer, it will be time to undertake to make the servants of private employers more loyal to their interests than at present.

A New York state senator says: "I regret deeply to say that franchise grabbing is rampant in the state legislature." That is true of other states. As long as honest legislatures cannot be elected, why try to reform cooks?

NAVAL LESSONS OF THE WAR.

The present war has demonstrated that in operations around harbor mouths torpedo boat destroyers and mines are useful both for the attackers and defenders. Harbors, to be well defended, must be well provided with torpedo boats and mines. An attacking fleet directed against an enemy's "fleet in being" lying in a hostile harbor must likewise be well provided with torpedo boats and mines.

But for the mastery of the high seas big ships which carry big guns are necessary. On the open ocean, when a storm blows up, a torpedo flotilla would be helpless against cruisers. A torpedo flotilla would be useless on a distance cruise.

Big ships are necessary to protect commerce, to destroy commerce, and to convoy army bearing transports. Ships which can carry big guns are useful in joint land and naval attacks. The Japanese naval artillery demoralized the Russian left on Nanshan hill and made the success of the final assault possible.

But what kind of big boats are best? The present kind of battleships or the present kind of armored cruisers? Or could not some new kind of big warship be adopted which would be better than either? The modern armored vessels are built to resist shells—namely: attacks above water. All their defensive arrangements have been put above the water line. Torpedoes and mines attack below the water in the unprotected regions where no defense has been prepared. In naval operations near harbor mouths, where the use of mines and torpedoes is feasible, the offense has now distinctly gained the advantage. The inventors must now devise a better means of submarine defense.

Perhaps they will resort to diplomacy for one thing and obtain international assent to the proposition that no mine may be laid outside the three mile limit. Perhaps they will construct a new and more perfect torpedo net to envelop the hull of the ship. Perhaps they will lighten the upper works of the ship and give additional buoyancy to the whole, so that contact with a mine will not result in immediate sinking. Certainly they will hereafter furnish all armored ships with a more complete search light system to discover hostile torpedo boats, and a more effective rapid fire system to destroy them.

Admirals will learn the lessons already assimilated by generals and will marshal their forces in more extended order, throwing before them a thicker screen of scouts.

This war will certainly result in a recasting of naval dogma.

THOMAS AURELIUS

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1904: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

LORD LANSDOWNE, having been notified of the disinclination of President Roosevelt and of Secretary Hay to interfere in the dispute between England and King Leopold in connection with the charges of gross maladministration in the Congo Free State, and finding it difficult to assemble an international congress this year for the purpose of dealing with the matter, has now determined upon a different course, calculated to dismay both the Free State government and its sovereign.

It seems that in the convention signed at Berlin in December, 1884, and to which the signatures of Col. Strauch, the Free State plenipotentiary of King Leopold, and of Sir Edward Malet, the ambassador of Queen Victoria, are affixed, a clause exists giving extraterritorial jurisdiction to English consular officials throughout the Congo Free State until "sufficient provision" is made by the latter for the administration of justice among foreigners. Indeed, article 5 of the convention of 1884 states that "British consuls or consular officials in the Congo Free State shall exercise sole and exclusive jurisdiction, both civil and criminal, over the persons and property of British subjects in accordance with British laws," thus exempting not merely all English citizens but likewise every native African who may happen to be a British subject from the civil and criminal jurisdiction and laws of the Congo Free State courts.

England, from a feeling of good will and friendship towards King Leopold, has never yet made use of this clause nor of the rights which it confers, and which have never been renounced, and, having failed to obtain from him any satisfaction in connection with the charges of maladministration to which his attention as sovereign of the Congo has been officially called, Lord Lansdowne now proposes to avail himself of the prerogatives which the English government enjoys by its terms, and to enforce the extraterritorial rights of British subjects throughout the length and breadth of the Free State, emancipating all British subjects from the control and jurisdiction of the authorities of the state in which they reside.

Of course, King Leopold will protest strongly against this measure on the part of England as constituting an infringement of his sovereignty, and will appeal to the other powers.

But, while the latter are not sufficiently interested in Congo affairs to be willing to make the charges of maladministration there the subject of an international congress just at present, they will be equally disinclined to take up the cudgels in behalf of Leopold against England, when the latter is merely enforcing the execution of its treaty rights. Indeed, it is quite possible that some of the other powers may follow the example of England and likewise exempt their subjects from the jurisdiction of the Free State authorities, in which case King Leopold's power and prestige in his African dominions will be sadly shorn. Moreover, should there be any resistance offered to the exercise by England's consular officials of the duties with which they are now about to be intrusted by Lord Lansdowne, matters might quickly come not merely to a crisis but to an actual clash between the British government and King Leopold in his capacity as sovereign of the Free State. In one word, Lord Lansdowne's coup against the king is an exceedingly clever one and likely to be extremely effective. Indeed, it has filled King Leopold with dismay and brought matters to a crisis.

Prince Frederick Leopold of Prussia has just had a judgment issued against him by the Berlin courts in a suit brought against him by his former chief of the household, baron von Luck, and has been condemned to pay the latter a pension of $3,000 a year for the remainder of his life. This is the first occasion, I believe, of a prince of the reigning house of Prussia being brought into court and of having a judgment rendered against him, and the affair has attracted a good deal of attention on the continent of Europe just on that account. It would not have been possible under the old laws, but has been rendered so by the terms of the new code.

It is a pity, however, that the case was ever allowed to come into court, for the prince is colossally rich and the sum at stake was a relatively small one. Moreover, Baron Luck had been for many years an old and devoted servant of the prince and claimed, when forced to sever his relations with the prince, a pension based on the whole time that he had spent in the prince's service, whereas Frederick Leopold was only inclined to rate his pension upon the relatively brief period that he had acted as grand master of his household. Emperor William declined to interfere, it being, however, generally understood that he sympathized with the baron, and thus it is that the courts have been called upon to determine the issue, settling it, as I have stated above, against the prince and in favor of the baron.

Prince Frederick Leopold, let me add, is the only son of the famous cavalry general, Prince Frederick Charles, popularly known as the "Red Prince," and to whom the French Marshal Bazaine surrendered Metz in the war of 1870. He is married to one of the sisters of the empress, is a brother of the duchess of Connaught, and visited this country some years ago.

I have received quite a number of inquiries concerning the title of the prince de Bearn, one of the new secretaries of the French embassy at Washington, people complaining that they are unable to find any mention of such a title in the Almanach de Gotha. This is not surprising. For the title in question is not a French one, but merely a papal honor, which should be borne in a different manner to that used by Ambassador Jusserand's new secretary. The latter is not a French prince, but a French count of ancient lineage, his French title of comte de Bearn and his name being sufficiently illustrious that one would have imagined that he could have dispensed with the foreign title of "prince." Strictly speaking, he is comte de Bearn, prince de Viana, Viana being a château in Spain owned by the Bearn family.

Sir Archibald Berkeley Milne, in spite of his recent promotion to the rank of rear admiral, is to retain his command of all King Edward's yachts, as well as his post of naval A. D. C. to his majesty, and the orders which have been given to this effect demonstrate once more how great is the favor which this gallant officer enjoys on the part of both the king and queen.

Sir Archibald has seen considerable active service both by sea and by land, and was severely wounded at the battle of Ulundi in Zululand while naval A. D. C. to Gen. Lord Chelmsford. He likewise took part in the Egyptian campaign of 1882, but is principally known on this side of the Atlantic in connection with his extraordinary encounter with William Waldorf Astor, resulting from the fact that having been asked by the countess of Orford, who was Miss Corbin of New York, at whose house he had been dining, to accompany her to a concert given by W. W. Astor at his house in Carlton house terrace, he was summarily requested by Mr. Astor to leave his house on the ground that he had not been asked by him, matters being made worse by the Pall Mall Gazette containing on the following day an intimation to the effect that Capt. Milne had appeared at Mr. Astor's house as an uninvited guest.

It is true that Mr. Astor had been provoked beyond all endurance by finding people whom he did not know from Adam frequenting his entertainments and abusing his hospitality, ignoring him completely, and it was by a singular piece of misfortune that he should have happened to select so distinguished and popular an officer as Sir Archibald Milne as a scapegoat for the others. It may be added that Mr. Astor subsequently withdrew and apologized for the offensive paragraph in the Pall Mall Gazette and that all the unpleasantness in connection with the affair has been obliterated.

A LINE-O'-TYPE OR TWO.

BACK to the CONVENTION

A wheelhorse of the party was climbing on the train;
Some neighbors stood beside him their faces lined with pain;
They wept upon his shoulder and murmured their good-bys—
The "'Boart!" of the conductor broke in upon their sighs.
The wheelhorse of the party in sadness
wrung each hand
And wistfully the faces of all his friends he scanned.
"The deadlock," he said, slowly, "will come to life, you bet—
I'll bid farewell to Bingham, old Bingham of Fayette."

"Tell all the grocery sages when they convene each morn,
And speak of the convention in tones of bitter scorn,
That I am fighting bravely and that ere we adjourn
I'll make a speech announcing how many things I spurn.
I'll be at every session—my duty must be done;
I hope some day we'll finish, for some one's got to run,
Or when election's over I'll be full of regret
That I have left old Bingham, old Bingham of Fayette.

"I shudder as I leave you; 'tis not alone from grief—
The fate that lies before me would stagger your belief;
I've got to eat in Springfield—I've got to sleep there, too—
And, O, I fear the skeeters and other things that chew.
Perchance for years I'll linger, like Rip Van Winkle did
In ancient Sleepy Hollow, a deadlock on the lid."
He paused; the tears came rushing as their sad eyes he met—
"Good-by, good-by to Bingham, old Bingham
of Fayette.

"'Twas here I spent my childhood; 'twas here I hoped to die,
But possibly in Springfield my wearied bones must lie
Until that final morning when from the trumpet's throat
The rising call will vibrate—I'll rise again to vote!
Remember me, I pray you, and teach your children, too,
As they grow into manhood that I was ever true"—
The engine wheels were turning; he cried with eyelids wet:
"My last farewell to Bingham, old Bingham
of Fayette!"

W. D. N.

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS.

Here is a guidebook of its own kind. It is not a directory for those who have a morbid passion for slumming. It is a historical and descriptive handbook about the city of New York, but, first and chiefly, "THE BETTER NEW YORK." Of course, a great city is a world of itself, where are gathered all sorts and conditions of men, a multiplicity of races, of languages, of customs, of religions, of occupations, of human interests and needs. As Dr. Josiah Strong remarks in an "Afterward," the city's ignorance of itself is responsible for many abuses, for much indifference, and not a little hopelessness as to better conditions.

"The Better New York" has been a revelation to many who knew the best side of the city. The reader wonders at the many philanthropies, as various as human needs, and at the same time admires the inventiveness and ingenuity of the spirit of hopefulness, until he is convinced that if New York is one of the worst cities of the world it is also one of the best.

And what is specially noticeable about this guidebook is that it has been prepared in a way to make it seem alive with human interest from beginning to end. The nearly 100 illustrations serve their purpose well. The author of the book, one Dr. W. M. Tolman, director of the American Institute of Social Service, and Charles Hemstreet, author of several books on New York. The only fault with the book is its insubstantial binding.

It is greatly to be hoped that there may soon be prepared a similar handbook about the better Chicago, if only as an offset to Mr. Steaffens' lurid picturing of the worst side of the city—the proper title of which should have been "If the Devil Were Here." (The Baker & Taylor company, New York.)

"FOLK TALES FROM THE RUSSIANS" is a singularly charming little book, which suggests, in its own way, some peculiar significant glimpses of what may be termed the aboriginal Russian character. Mme. Verra de Blumenthal, who has "retold" in surprisingly idiomatic English these popular Russian folk tales, has evinced fine discrimination in her selection of representative fairy stories.

And the publication of them just now, when all the world is watching and studying everything distinctively Russian, is timely. For, while the more or less primitive folk tales of all peoples the world over bear some generic resemblances to each other, there are also certain characteristic differences that are profoundly significant. Any way, this dainty and fascinating little book is well worth reading. (Rand, McNally & Co.)

Katherine E. Dopp of the University of Chicago has written a little book for children, "THE TREE DWELLERS," intended to enable children to get some vivid idea as to the kind of life which our long ago ancestors lived when the "evolution of man" and of human society was comparatively new. It is an attempt, the author explains, to "facilitate the transitional movement in education now taking place," and to "gain cumulative results of value in explaining our own institutions."

The educational theory seems a little fanciful, but doubtless there is a pedagogical truth underlying it. Teachers having too much good sense to be mere faddists might use the book to advantage. It is attractively printed and illustrated. (Rand, McNally & Co.)

Vertebrate Embryology.

"An Introduction to Vertibrate Embryology," based on the study of the frog and the chick, by Prof. Albert M. Reese of the Syracuse university, is a good instance of the improved modern textbook, and an excellent illustration of the present day methods of student laboratory work. In following the directions and explanations here given the student finds himself an immediate observer of incipient life in the working of it, and in its earliest successive development from day to day, almost from hour to hour. It would be a dull student whose scientific sense would not be wakened and cultivated in the making of such experimental observations, especially under the guidance of a skillful teacher. (G. P. Putnam's Sons.)

Memoir of Edward L. Atkinson.

"Edward Lincoln Atkinson, 1805-1902," is the portrayal, in warm colors, of a brilliantly pure, wholesome, unselfish, and intensive life of one who had a consuming passion for being helpful to others: a man who had almost a genius for friendship. Born in Reading, Mass., educated at Harvard, peculiarly loved by Phillips Brooks, he labored in the Episcopal ministry in Springfield, Boston, and, for two years, in New York. His splendid life was cut short by accidental drowning some two years ago while out alone in a boat. Dr. Charles Lewis Slatterly, one of his ardent friends, has written the fascinating story of his life. (Longmans, Green & Co.)

Some Religious Essays.

"A More Excellent Way" is a volume of religious essays, showing from various points of view how it is that, naturally, man was made to live a life at once human and divine; the human showing in the very life of the divine. So that the way of the religious life is in nowise unnatural, but in the highest degree natural as well as reasonable. (G. P. Putnam's Sons.)

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

JANET PRIEST AS MUGGSY IN "THE MAID AND THE MUMMY." JANET PRIEST AS HERSELF

The low temperature yesterday was a boon to the theaters, although the managers of the gardens and parks did not rise up and call it blessed. Special matinées were offered at all the houses, except the Illinois. Last year this theater found that, owing to the procession passing its doors, the giving of a performance was accompanied by too great difficulties in the way of noise and disturbance to make the undertaking advisable. This season the extra matinée was therefore abandoned. Last night an audience of fair size was in attendance to see Miss Held in "Mlle. Napoleon."

At the Studebaker in the afternoon a comfortably filled house welcomed "The Sho-Gun" and in the evening all the seats were taken. At the other downtown theaters people were turned away at every box office. The "Wizard of Oz" at the Grand, "The Maid and the Mummy" at the Garrick, "York State Folks" at the Great Northern, "The Silver Slipper" at McVicker's, and "The Royal Chef" at the La Salle attracted both afternoon and evening more patrons than the houses could accommodate. "The Earl of Pawtucket" at Powers' was also sold out in the afternoon and in the evening had an audience of good size.

Down at Cleveland's theater every seat was occupied and many would be purchasers of tickets found themselves unable to secure the coveted pasteboards. At the Chicago opera house similar conditions obtained, and the outlying houses did a holiday business also.

At Cleveland's this week the headliners are Mme. Mantelli and Elita Protor Otis. Mme. Mantelli sings an arrangement for voice and orchestra of the intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana" and Tosti's "Good-by." Her work has tonal opulence and warmth and interpretative authority to win it commendation. Mrs. Otis has altered little in appearance since last seen here, still dresses elaborately, and still gives her four-part monologue, "Engagement and Marriage Up to Date," which she has used here in the past. Julian Rose kept the audience in roars of laughter last evening by his Hebrew impersonations, a line of work in which he has few equals. Mr. and Mrs. Robyns play in commendable manner a diffuse and overlong playlet entitled "The Counsel for the Defense." Cordua and Maud appear in an equilibrist act and Bartlett and Collins in a specialty.

Mr. Otis Skinner arrived in Chicago on Sunday and spent yesterday celebrating the birthday of Miss Skinner, whose festival cake was decorated with candles five in number. Mr. Skinner will leave this week with his family for the Maine woods, there to rest until autumn, when his season will open in New York. He has "tried out" the "Harvester" during the last three weeks by presenting it in the northwest, and now feels confident of the success of the Richepin play. He will retain the same company he has had during this trial tour. The Chicago engagement will be at the Grand, and will be for three weeks, beginning the week before Christmas.

Janet Priest, who, as Muggsy, in "The Maid and the Mummy," at the Garrick, gives promise of becoming "the" feature of the performance, is a living refutation of the charge that a critic is a person who has failed in a certain line of work, and has therefore taken to finding fault with everybody who succeeds. Miss Priest began by finding fault, and then she went in and proved she could succeed. She was a writer for the Minneapolis Tribune, and, among her other duties, reviewed the theatrical performances given in the northern city. There was at one of the playhouses a stock company, and in the notice of one of its productions Miss Priest felt called upon to criticise sharply one of the actresses. The manager of the house took exception to this notice, and remarked that, if the writer knew so much about the art of acting, perhaps she could play the rôle better than the actress had done. Miss Priest averred that she could, and the manager placed the rôle at her disposal. The newspaper woman took the part, studied it, and in due season appeared in it. In the language of the stage, she "made good." She scored a success, and from that time her stage career began. The career has not been of long duration. It has consisted of part of a season in a character rôle in a melodrama called "The Little Outcast." The managers of the "Maid and the Mummy" learned of the young player's abilities, and therefore selected her to "create" Muggsy. The hit made by her the opening night proves the wisdom of their choice, and if Miss Priest develops the part along the lines of low comedy as she has begun, there seems no reason why she should not make it one of the most successful and amusing feafures of the performance.

"A Celestial Maiden," a Chinese drama by Charles Ulrich, had its first production in Chicago yesterday evening at the People's theater before an audience that taxed the capacity of the house. Comment on the play will be made later in the week.

Among the early fall attractions at the Garrick theater will be W. H. Thompson in "The Secret of Polichinelle," a play from the French, which has been one of the real successes in New York this season. The return engagement at this house of "The Virginian," with Dustin Farnum, Guy Bates Post, and Frank Campeau in their respective rôles, is scheduled for November instead of October, as originally announced.

The rehearsals for "A Business Man," which is to have its premiere at McVicker's next Sunday night, began at the theater yesterday forenoon. Frank Hatch is stage managing the production, but Lee Arthur, the author, is also in town and is in attendance at the rehearsing. W. L. HUBBARD.

"O, I don't know," retorts the fluttery lady. "I've kept my age a secret since I was 24."

"Well, I think that when a woman has kept a secret for twenty years she comes pretty near knowing how to keep it."—Judge.

All linen waists—every one of them—made with four styles of Mexican drawn work and medallion trimmed fronts; tucked back. Full pouch sleeve, tucked to elbow. $3.50

$1.15 for white lawn waists, embroidery trimmed, fasten at side; tucked back and sleeves.

Basement salesroom—50c for women's striped madras waists, with tucked front, plain back, neat stock.

20% Discount off Entire Stock Women's & Misses' Suits, Skirts & Wraps.

No sale of similar importance or of as great advantage to Chicago women has ever been announced. In order to dispose most expeditiously of the immense stock of women's, misses' and children's garments, both on the fourth floor and in the basement salesroom, within the limited number of days remaining, an additional discount of 20% will be taken off every former price—beginning today. Fourth floor and basement salesroom.

We wish to lay especial emphasis on the fact that the discount comes as an additional lowering of the prices, and is wholly and entirely apart from our general reduction effective pending the retirement of this firm from business June 13. The unprecedented advantage of this sale cannot be overestimated.

Retiring From Business: 11 Days

The time has come for radical action. This page shows how we're taking it. But a page affords space for only a small part of the whole story. An entire paper would be needed for listing in detail the thousands of extraordinary bargains created by this extraordinary emergency.

The old firm of Schlesinger & Mayer will cease business at the end of 11 business days. On Monday, June 13, the new firm of H. G. Selfridge & Co. will take possession of this store. Hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of high grade, seasonable, desirable goods must be swept away in the meantime. And, we repeat, the prices—low prices—closing out prices—are the only levers that will move these stocks.

Additional reductions have been ordered throughout the house—reductions from prices previously marked down—reductions to make the next 11 days set a new record in the rapid movement of merchandise.

SCHLESINGER & MAYER

IN THE SOCIETY WORLD.

WEATHER INTERFERES WITH COUNTRY PROGRAMS.

Largest Attendance at Onwentsia, Where There Are Many Dinner Parties in the Evening—Homewood Gives a Banquet to Its President, John Findley Wallace — Kenwood Club Issues a Long Program for the Month of June—Personal News.

When a holiday turns out cold, bleak, and cheerless there is not much pleasure in taking a run into the country. Yesterday's bad weather prevented what had been planned for a gala day at the country clubs, except at Onwentsia, where over 150 people went to celebrate the formal opening of the club. The gayety started in the afternoon, when there was a hunt at 3:15 o'clock. A goodly number took part in the chase, and later the clubhouse presented a merry aspect.

No serious accident occurred during the hunt, although Mr. Granger Farwell was thrown at the last jump. Among the riders were: Mr. W. Vernon Booth, Mr. W. O. Lindley, Mr. Delavan Smith, Mr. Frederic McLaughlin, Mr. Arthur Young, Mr. Frank Farwell, Mr. Arthur Bissell, Mr. A. L. Baker, Mrs. Preston Gibson, Miss Helen Lord, Miss Johnson.

There were a number of dinner parties, among the hosts and hostesses being Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Dick, who entertained eight guests, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Fairbanks, who had four guests; Mr. and Mrs. Edson Keith Jr., whose guests numbered nine; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Aldis, who had eight; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garfield King, who had four; Miss Pauline Kohlsaat, who had eleven; Mr. A. L. Baker, who had twelve; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hollis, who had six; Mr. Frank Hall, who had six; Mr. John E. May, who had five; Mr. and Mrs. Turlington W. Harvey Jr., who had four; and Mr. George M. Ludlow, who also had four. Altogether dinner was served for over 100 people.

Some of those who were at the club for the day were:

Mr. and Mrs. W. Vernon Booth,	Mr. and Mrs. Harold Howard,
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gaylord,	Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Cobb,
Mr. and Mrs. Honoré Palmer,	Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Adsit,
Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Field,	Miss Marjorie Burns, Miss Pauline Kohlsaat,
Mr. and Mrs. Preston Gibson,	Miss Gwethelyn Jones, Miss Lord,
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garfield King,	Miss Holt, Mr. Fred McLaughlin,
Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jackson,	Mr. Solomon Sturges, Mr. Hugh McBirney,
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Farwell,	Mr. Arthur Young, Mr. Potter Palmer,
Miss Muriel Byram,	Dr. James Nevin Hyde,

In the evening there was a dance.

The Chicago Golf club at Wheaton made little over the holiday because of the weather. Some fifty people went out to the club, but no special program was arranged, and the day and evening were spent quietly. At Exmoor there was no formal program, although the evening was devoted to dancing and a large number of people were present. There was little going on at the Saddle and Cycle club. The yacht races were called off owing to the weather, and the only extra attraction was the annual spring game of baseball played by the bachelors and benedicts. The new tennis courts are not finished, but will be shortly, and it is expected that several tournaments will be played there this summer.

Midlothian club presented the gayest appearance next to Onwentsia. One hundred and eighty people were present. There were no special dinners, however, and the day was spent in playing golf and cards. Some of those out were Mr. and Mrs. J. Finley Barrell, Mr. and Mrs. Eben Lane, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Thorne, Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Martin, Mrs. E. H. Phelps, Mr. Charles H. Canby, and Mr. George E. Van Woert. In the evening there was a dance.

The Homewood Country club at Flossmoor gave a banquet in honor of its president, Mr. John Findley Wallace. At River Forest and Glen View dancing was enjoyed in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. King, Mrs. Bruce Clark, and Mrs. William Odell spent yesterday in St. Louis attending the exposition. They will return to town today.

Mrs. Alexander McClurg, 125 Lake Shore drive, has gone to her summer home in Sharon, Conn. She is expected to return to Chicago in two weeks, and her summer home will be opened for the season in July.

Mrs. Marshall Field Jr. is now in New York. She will spend the summer at Narragansett Bay.

Mrs. W. F. Whitman of Riverside will give a tea on Thursday from 3 till 6 o'clock.

Mrs. J. J. Dau, 4807 Greenwood avenue, will will entertain at a musical on Saturday, the hour to be 3 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. William Riggs, 5115 Cornell avenue, have returned to the city from the south.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Cole and their daughter, Florence, 703 Monroe street, are entertaining a house party at their summer home on Lake Beulah.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Brega, 2816 Michigan avenue, with Mr. and Mrs. Ahl of Boston have been automobiling in France. They will spend the month of June with Mrs. Ralph Hawels James in Camberly, England.

Mr. Roland Phelps Marks and the Misses Marks of the Lessing have returned from Phœnix, Ari., where they have been since early in January.

The Kenwood club has announced the program for the month of June, as follows:

Saturday, June 4—Gentlemen's guest night.
Tuesday, June 7—Progressive euchre.
Saturday, June 11—Members' night; luncheon.
Saturday, June 18—Members' night; luncheon.
Tuesday, June 21—Progressive euchre.
Saturday, June 25—Members' night; luncheon.
Tuesday, June 28—Lawn party.
Saturday, July 2—Gentlemen's guest night.

If it should rain on June 28, the lawn party will be postponed to Friday, July 1.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bailey, 736 West Forty-fourth street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lillian, to Mr. Robert F. Raber of Tacoma. The wedding will take place early in June.

WANTS A LUTHERAN SANITARIUM

Denver Pastor Urges Norwegian Synod to Contribute to Building Hospital for Consumptives.

The Norwegian Lutheran synod in session yesterday at St. Paul's church, 596 West North avenue, was urged by the Rev. J. F. S. Her of Denver, Colo., to help build a sanitarium for consumptive Lutherans. He said: "Most of the institutions of this kind are money making schemes; they take all they can get and give you as little in return as possible. Our home will be a charitable institution, where all the afflicted will receive the best of care."

With today's session the German Evangelical Lutheran synod, Illinois district, will close.

Swift & Company's sales of fresh beef in Chicago for the week ending Saturday, May 28, averaged 6.62 cents per pound.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

CONDUCTED BY THE SCHOOL OF DOMESTIC ARTS AND SCIENCE OF CHICAGO

LESSON NO. 230.—A Debate on Coöperative Housekeeping.

ALTHOUGH the term "coöperative housekeeping" has been applied to the housekeeping of the first Adam and Eve and of all the Adams and Eves who have since then taken the vows "to love, honor, and obey," etc., it is generally applied to a certain kind of living which attempts to take most of the industries of the household out of the home and transfer them to a central, coöperative institution.

It is this latter sort of coöperative housekeeping which furnished the theme for a lively debate recently between three young women of the Beloit college and three from the Milwaukee-Downer college. The question which was submitted by the latter college was: "Resolved, that under present conditions in cities of the United States with a population of over 10,000 a system of coöperative housekeeping is practicable and desirable."

Without speaking of the merits of the two sides, or of the merits of the question in general, it may be interesting to note the arguments presented by each side.

In the first place, as the question reads "that A system of coöperative housekeeping is practicable and desirable," the affirmative had an opportunity to work up a system as nearly perfect as could be and maintain the practicability and desirability of that system—not of all systems.

Their system included three departments—the kitchen, the domestic service department, and laundry department, united under one general management and in one central plant.

The establishment was to be founded by means of shares, bought by from 100 to 200 stockholders. These stockholders were to form a conference, which would regulate all the affairs through a salaried manager. There were to be a head of each department and specialized assistants.

The kitchen department was modeled after the Boston Laboratory Kitchen and Food Supply company and the London traveling kitchen—that is, meals ordered by individual families were to be cooked in the central kitchen, packed in individual retainers which keep the food hot four or five hours, and which have proven a practical success in many cities of the United States, and delivered in specially fitted motor cars such as are used in London. "Instead of 100 kitchen fires we would have ten," was a quotation on this point.

The domestic service department, similar to the Boston Household Aid company, was to consist of a training school for those who desired it, whence specialized "aids" would go out to work by the hour or day. Other servants might also be obtained here.

The laundry department was to resemble private laundries, although by far the greater part of the work was to be done as at present in our homes and not by ruinous machines.

This is in bare outline the system as offered by the affirmative, who then proceeded to prove—

First—That there are evils in the present state of affairs which demand a remedy.

Second—That coöperative housekeeping will remedy these evils, and is, therefore, desirable; and,

Third—That their system was practicable.

The evils in the present state of affairs were mainly "servant troubles," and the breaking up of homes on account of these troubles and because of the growing tendency toward monopolies on food supplies.

Coöperative housekeeping remedies these evils, as it stands for the desirable organization of household labor on an industrial basis, because it retains the home by simplifying household work, and because it is the needed organization to meet the trusts on food supplies.

It is desirable, first, to the mistress, because it raises the standard of work and establishes a common system of wages, which has proven so successful in all business lines; because it removes the drudgery and difficulties of housekeeping from the home to an institution where these difficulties are not encountered and where the work is not drudgery; and because it promotes the privacy of the home by removing the "stranger" from it, as the servant is to live at her own home or in residence clubs.

Second, it is desirable to the servant because of industrial advantages: the chance of promotion, organization and specialization, personal independence, because of social advantages, as companionship, social position, and the opportunity of real home life.

Then the system was proven practicable by special reference to the London traveling kitchen and by the use of figures to show the economy of wholesale buying.

A plea for the home, where the mother would have more time for her children, her husband, and herself—"time which is not filled up with accounts of servants' troubles"—was earnestly presented by the affirmative. As one writer said: "We will not remove the home, but the kitchen odors and the laundry steam."

The causes of failure of all other previously attempted systems were proven not to exist in the system offered by the affirmative, for such reason that the offered system did not maintain a public dining room or because it was larger, or because the appliances are now more perfect than those previously used.

The negative advocates confined themselves almost entirely to the point that the capitalistic organization of labor has in all history preceded the coöperative stage, and that the affirmative would upset the natural order of affairs by the introduction of their system; and, also, that capitalistic organization will remedy the existing evils more surely and more efficiently than any other scheme. They attacked the system offered by the affirmative and showed the results which would follow if people were dependent upon a central institution which might at any time either become disrupted or rendered impracticable temporarily.

The decision was in favor of the affirmative.

The discussion called forth a great deal of interest and enthusiasm, as many people claim we are "doomed to accept coöperative housekeeping."

It may seem like an ideal and Utopian subject for discussion, but it certainly seems to be an important one, and one especially fitted to be discussed by women. The decision of the judges was rendered amid shouts of "coöperation," coöperation," on one side and on the other of—

"We will not coöperate, for you know what we think,
That those who will do so are driven to drink."

VICTORIA P. RICE,
One of the debaters on the affirmative side.

Your Corner.

THE wide, wide world is a cozy little spot, when we feel sisterly and brotherly to the people we jostle with on the streets, to all the folks opposite us in the street car, to all those we job with in office or store, or meet in dining room or amusement hall.

IT becomes a cozy little spot when we wish each of them a long life and a merry one, and health, and wealth, and happiness;
When we wish them to be fortunate as they pass through life, to speak well, to act well, to have faithful friends, to spend their day pleasantly, to cope with their difficulties;
When we wish them ease of mind and body;
When we wish them all success, and all good, and all joy;
And when, as the occasion offers, we give them the glad hand or speak a good word for them.

WHEN we feel thus, and act thus, and think thus all the cold, hard world softens, and in each stranger it brings us a friend and a brother.

CASE, September, 1841: You have a native good humor and wit that is attractive. In your younger days you must have received many offers of marriage, and the horoscope shows that you are likely to marry two or three times, each a most advantageous union. A proposal is imminent, and you are likely to take a long journey within two months. The latter end of the life is shown to be passed in elegant retirement and you will be well provided for through your judicious marriages and investments in oil and mining stocks.

MUD, May, 1886: Yours is not an unfortunate horoscope; on the other hand, the whole range of experimental arts are of reasonable accomplishment to one of your mentality. You have ability to teach, to practice medicine, and to be successful in law. Cultivate regularity in business methods, and a tendency to take things as they are rather than to be blue about the future, and you will be successful.

SUSPENSE, June, 1878: You are well fitted to be successful in stenography, in bookkeeping, or in teaching, but should beware of attempting anything in the line of literature. More than one marriage is certain, and if not already married you will not remain single two years longer. Children will bring great good into the life. You will also gain by inheritance. Will travel extensively and at some time in life will live in a foreign land. The second husband will not be of your own nationality.

P. V. W., November, 1866: You are ambitious to gain wealth and have a tendency to act with more haste than judgment. Are fitted to succeed in a small business rather than a large field of action. Are now under trying planetary vibrations, which will cause business worries during the coming year. In 1911 there will begin a period of prosperity which will be in effect for about two years, but even after this is over the life will be much more fortunate than it has ever been in the past. Children will be a source of much prosperity.

IDA MAE, August, 1872: You are independent in opinion, are energetic, and have ability to make others bend to your will. You are now under planetary vibrations which cause dissatisfaction and a sense of injustice inflicted. This you must guard against and be determined to look upon the bright side. In about four years you are likely to gain an inheritance, and again in 1911 there will be another period of prosperity. Children will be a source of great happiness.

BABE BUDDER, February, 1892: This child will have good ambition, will be economical in money matters, and constant in affections. Will succeed in general business and make a happy marriage at an early age. He will be delicate and sensitive during childhood and should be kept away from old or nervous people and given as much outdoor exercise as possible.

G. U., August, 1863: You are lively, good natured, and witty. Are fond of order and system in business. The coming year is a most propitious time for making investments, for health, travel, and success in general. In about five years you will be under another fortunate transit. Marriage promises to be fairly happy and the home life is enjoyable. Will live to a great age.

EAGER, December, 1865: You are impulsive and forceful in either mental or physical directions. You love personal freedom and physical labor and have ability to make the most of circumstances and to achieve success in life. You are now under planetary influences which tend to make you erratic and which will bring the unexpected in many ways. The general trend of the life is successful. In 1912 you will fall heir to some landed property.

E. F. B., November, 1854: You have good executive power, are able to make a good appearance on little money, and have a reserved nature which tends to make you keep your plans and movements secret. Marriage is shown to be ideally happy and is also likely to occur more than once. You will be successful during the coming year, a prophecy which holds good for the remainder of the life. Will gain wealth by marriage and by inheritance.

MRS. WILES DISOWNS THE FEUD.

Club Woman Declares She Has Without Authority Been Drawn Into Springer-Coleman Fight.

Mrs. Alice Bradford Wiles has been stirred by the connection with the Springer-Coleman feud attributed to her. Yesterday she issued a statement in which she says:

The effort to connect me with the disbarment proceedings brought against J. A. Coleman by the Chicago Bar association is about as absurd as it would be to say had a bolt of lightning struck him that I had directed the bolt. It is simply a continuation of the deliberate and unscrupulous persecution to which I have been subjected for the last two years in an effort to injure me by unpleasant notoriety, more direct means having failed. I have just received the inclosed letter from Mr. W. N. Gemmill, a well known attorney of this city.

In the letter to which Mrs. Wiles refers the lawyer says:

In certain testimony taken some time before by Master in Chancery Rogers reference had been made to Coleman's troubles in Evansville, Ind. I sent a young man, who lives at Rensselaer, Ind., to Evansville, to look up the record. He returned with the record of Coleman's conviction and gave it to me. It remained in my sole possession until about five weeks ago, when I gave it to Warren Springer.

Mrs. Springer did not go to Indiana or anywhere else to get this record. She never saw it until she saw it in my possession. She did not furnish any of the information which led to our securing it, and certainly you did not furnish any such information. Springer's indictment was quashed, and I had no longer any use for the record, so I gave it to him.

Gemmill says he makes the statement that "justice may be done."

WILL TALK OF HIGH SCHOOLS.

Program Ready for Sessions of Chicago and Cook County Association Next Saturday.

The program is ready for the all day session of the Chicago and Cook County High School association next Saturday. The reports of officers will be received in Fullerton hall, Art institute, in the morning. In the afternoon the Richard T. Crane Manual Training High school will be inspected and the "departmental meetings" will be held. The speakers include Charles R. Barrett, Kenneth C. Fitch, Miss Maude L. Radford, Miss Anna F. Mullay, Marian E. White, and Prof. Lewis Stuart.

Memorial Mass This Morning.

A high mass of requiem will be celebrated at 8 o'clock this morning in St. Patrick's church, Adams and Desplaines streets, by the Rev. T. F. Galligan for the dead members of St. Patrick's Commercial academy alumni.

ELOPE WITH TWO WAITERS

ROMANCE IN WHICH ST. LOUIS AND CHICAGO GIRLS FIGURE.

Miss Nell Wetmore of Washington Heights Visits Her Chum in St. Louis—In Restaurant at Exposition They Meet College Student Attendants—Two Days of Rapid Fire Courtship Ends in Double Wedding—Parents Learn on Monday.

A romantic double wedding, in which a Chicago girl and her St. Louis cousin were the brides, became known to their parents yesterday. It was an "exposition romance," for Miss Nell Wetmore of Washington Heights was visiting Miss Pearl Troutman in St. Louis, while the men to whom they were married, college students, were working in St. Louis so they could visit the fair.

Miss Wetmore went to St. Louis a week ago to visit her cousin. The girls were chums and roommates at the Northwestern university in St. Louis. On Thursday they went to the exposition and had dinner at the Nebraska hotel, near the world's fair grounds. Charles F. Grant and "Tommy" Shea, center and half back on the "Hawkeye eleven" of the Iowa State university, served them.

Renew Acquaintance at Table.

The four had met before, but the college men did not suppose the young women would recognize them in their waiters' garb. They were mistaken, however.

"Why, how do you do?" Miss Wetmore said to Grant, when he brought the soup. "Don't you remember that house party on Lake Michigan, when you were the guest of your Chicago college chum?" He blushingly acknowledged that he did.

The young women were anxious to visit the exposition again, and the college men were more than willing to be their escorts. Cupid went along. Friday and Saturday were spent on the grounds, the double courtship progressing rapidly.

Take Hurried Trip to Wed.

Saturday afternoon both men proposed and were accepted. It was too late to secure licenses in St. Louis so a hurried trip was made to the town of Clayton, where the double ceremony was performed by a justice of the peace. Miss Wetmore became Mrs. Grant and Miss Trautman Mrs. Shea. Then they found they had missed the last trolley car for St. Louis and the return trip was made in a farmer's wagon.

Both young couples, it is said, will reside temporarily at 4000 Delmar avenue, St. Louis.

Bride's Father Is Surprised.

The marriage of Miss Wetmore was a surprise to her father, W. T. Wetmore of Washington Heights.

"Her uncle and aunt knew of the affair, but I did not," he said last night. "It was not an elopement. Miss Wetmore and her cousin, Miss Troutman, went quietly to the home of a friend, and were both married, and that is all I can say about it. I have not heard directly of the marriage."

CHICAGO JEWS ARE ELECTED.

Convention of B'nai B'rith Seeks to Secure Russian Recognition of Passports.

Des Moines, Ia., May 30.—[Special.]—The convention of B'nai B'rith today appointed Judge Philip Stein of Chicago chairman of a committee which will seek to induce the United States government to cause Russia to recognize passports of American Jewish citizens into Russia. Strong resolutions against the course of Russia in this regard were adopted. The following officers were elected:

President—Adolph Kraus, Chicago.
First vice president—J. Goldberg, Kalamazoo.
Secretary—Justice E. C. Hamburgher, Chicago.
Treasurer—David Fish, Chicago.
Executive committee—I. L. Strelisky, Judge Philip Stein, H. Gollus, Chicago.
Delegates to constitutional convention, to be held at New Orleans next March—Judge Philip Stein, Adolph Kraus, Israel Cowan, M. M. Husch, I. L. Strelisky, Chicago; J. L. Strelisky, A. Fruend, Samuel Folz of Michigan, and Samuel Woolner of Peoria.

LOST BOY SLEPT IN A PEW.

Milwaukee Police Drag the River and Frantic Parents Search the Streets All Night.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 30.—[Special.]—While the police were dragging the river and his frantic parents were searching the city all night long, 6 year old Joseph Lang slept soundly in a pew of St. Mary's church and was found this morning.

Mrs. Lang left the child alone Sunday night while she attended church. When she returned the boy was missing. Believing he had fallen into the river close by she asked the police to recover the body. This morning the sexton found the child. The youngster said he had become lonesome and had followed his mother to church. He took a seat in a rear pew, fell asleep, and did not wake up until today.

BOY AERONAUT UP ONCE MORE.

Parents Had Obtained an Injunction, but He Begged for Another Trial and Got It.

Omaha, Neb., May 30.—[Special.]—Willie Roberts, the boy aeronaut, made an ascension this evening in spite of an injunction obtained by his parents to restrain him from engaging in the dangerous occupation.

Roberts has been making ascensions whenever he could escape his parents' vigilance for two or three years. The injunction stopped his exhibition yesterday after the balloon had been inflated and the boy was dressed in his tights and ready for the ascent.

Today he begged permission to make one more attempt to beat his own record for a long distance rise, and promised to retire from the business until he comes of age.

Osteopaths Meet and Elect Officers.

Springfield, Ill., May 30.—The fifth annual convention of the Illinois State Osteopathic association met here today and the following officers were elected: William Hartford, Champaign, president; Ethel Burner, Bloomington, vice president; Laretta L. Lewis, Paris, secretary; Mrs. W. C. Carter, Springfield, treasurer.

NEW YORK.

Miss GERTRUDE BARTHOLD.
Paine's Celery Compound Made Her Feel "Better Than Ever In Her Life."

No Other Remedy in the World Has Stood So Firmly the Test of a Generation—A Standard Tonic.

"Last summer under the strain of family nursing, my nerves gave out. I was irritable and moody. I did not know I had lost control of my nerves, but my family saw signs of incipient epilepsy. The superintendent of our Sunday School recommended Paine's Celery Compound and brought a bottle to mother one day.

"I commenced to grow stronger before the bottle was finished, and in two months I was feeling better than I had felt in my life, and looked it. My friends are astonished at the transformation. I am hearty, well and strong, and can do my work with more pleasure than ever. I sleep well and have not had a spasm since I began taking Paine's Celery Compound."—Gertrude Barthold, 11 West 115th St., New York.

"I had to overwork, being employed night and day for more than a week. I ran down and was very weak. I was so tired that I thought I would never think of work again. A friend recommended Paine's Celery Compound, and it certainly did me a world of good. Right at once I began to feel better and was able to go back to work in a few days. You would not think to see me that I had ever been sick and run down. I am thankful for the good that Paine's Celery Compound did for me. I am telling my friends."—Daniel Bain, 706 W. 12th St., Chicago.

CANNED PEAS KILL TWO.

Third Member of Family of Five Not Expected to Recover from Poison.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE
New York, May 30.

Unusual scenes marked the services at the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Transfiguration, in East New York, last night, when the organist, Harry Bentley Ridley, who resigned his position because, after giving his services free for ten years, his reward had been a request to contribute toward building a new church, played the organ for the last time. The organist says he had notified the rector that he wished to make the musical services a little longer, because it was to be his last appearance in the church. There was probably some misunderstanding, however.

Angry Churchman Shuts Wind from Organ.

During the offertory the organist played an unusual length of time, and the minister, after waiting about fifteen minutes, waved his hands to the offertory collectors to come forward. When they reached the altar rail the minister leaned over and whispered to one of them, Mr. Boudinot, who stepped over to the organist's side and asked him to stop playing.

The organist kept right on with his patriotic airs for several more minutes.

At last the minister, plainly excited and apparently angry, beckoned to Mr. Boudinot, who once more stepped up to the organist and requested him to cease. When he apparently ignored the request to stop Boudinot rushed behind the organ, and, taking the bellows handle out of the hands of the organ blower, forcibly jammed it down and held it until the music ceased.

Meantime the greatest excitement prevailed. Many women became hysterical, several jumped up and rushed from the church, and one, after she had reached the door of the church, added excitement to the occasion by fainting.

After eating a can of green peas a few days ago, an entire family, consisting of five persons, were taken ill. Two of them have already died, a third cannot recover, and the other two are still ill, although it is believed their chances of recovery are good.

Canned Peas Kill Two of a Family.

Guiseppe Obraco, his wife Marie, his daughter Angelina, 18 years old, and his sons, Vincent, 14, and Antonio, 11, had a can of peas for supper last Friday. A short time later they were all taken ill and grew rapidly worse.

A physician advised that the family go to a hospital, but they refused. On Saturday Vincent, the elder son, died; today Angelina died, and Antonio is beyond help.

In his sermon in Plymouth church, Brooklyn, the Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis has expressed the belief that in the next generation it will be considered vulgar to be rich.

World Grows Better All the Time.

"It will be vulgar to have jingling chains on your horses," he prophesied, "so that people may know of your approach; vulgar to have bright colors blazing on your carriages in the form of monograms; vulgar to publish in the newspapers the amount spent on flowers at a funeral or a reception, and if any continue to be so vulgar you'll pass such a man by as you would a common beggar or criminal.

"This country is soon going to learn sobriety, prudence, simplicity, and the essential vulgarity of wearing on the outside an exhibit of the possessions."

Dr. Hillis took issue with the pessimists who talk of the "good old times," and who declare that society of today is rapidly going to the bad. He continued:

"God has saved us from horse races. There are a few people who are interested in them now. One day in the spring, perhaps, 50,000 people go to a horse race that is the center of attraction. In the old days there would have been fifty such races in a year, when the city would have been deserted for the racetrack."

Four persons were injured today, one of them probably fatally, in the partial collapse of an old fashioned four story brick building in East Eighth street, which was occupied by a saloon and two small firms of hat manufacturers. The portion of the building which collapsed was the easterly wall, which crumbled away the entire height of the building, and two-thirds the length of the structure, commencing at the sidewalk.

Wall Falls; Four Persons Are Injured.

The collapse is supposed to have resulted from undermining the wall on the easterly side, where an excavation is being made for the construction of a large modern building.

The injured persons were employés of the hat factories.

Money orders from all over the country, aggregating thus far $30,000, are pouring into the general postoffice for a concern known as the "Eastern Trade company." Mail thus addressed was ordered held up a month ago by the postal authorities because, it is alleged, of a circular which fell into the hands of a mail clerk informing him that he had won a prize of some sort for which, to his knowledge, he had never competed. Advertising in the local postoffices throughout the country has failed to check the stream of money orders, and they are being returned to the senders as fast as possible. One clerk is kept busy remailing the letters at the rate of 1,000 a day.

Authorities Return $30,000 to Dupes.

Until the books of the railroad company are examined to determine the quantity and character of the freight destroyed, no accurate statement can be made of the losses by the burning of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western terminals at Jersey City on Sunday evening. President Truesdale and Supt. Ketcham visited the ruins today. Each, in round numbers, estimated the loss to the railroad at $1,000,000. The road will handle its freight over the Erie railroad tracks. Fireproof piers will replace those burned.

D., L. and W. Loss by Pier Fire $1,000,000.

Walter Jennis of Boston, said to be an expert swimmer, and to have held several medals for aquatic skill, was drowned today in the Harlem river by the overturning of a rowboat, while his two companions, one of whom could not swim at all, came out alive. Jennis, it is said, belonged to the Volunteer Life Saving association of Boston.

Marais des Cygnes River Overflows and Bottom Lands Are Flooded—Farms Laid Waste and Many Head of Cattle Perish—Streets of Ottawa Inundated—Cloudburst in Oklahoma Does Damage Near Enid—Railway Tracks Washed Out.

Ottawa, Kas., May 30.—A Missouri Pacific and three Santa Fé passenger trains are water bound at Quenemo, and 1,000 passengers are marooned. One of the passengers, Frank Stevens of San Bernardino, Cal., died of tuberculosis on one of the stalled trains.

The residents of Quenemo, who are endeavoring to care for the beleaguered passengers, are also in a bad plight, many of their homes being flooded and smaller building carried away. Foreman Siemantel and party are marooned in the Santa Fé shops.

River Higher than Ever Known.

The Marais des Cygnes river is higher than ever known, and the overflow has caused a serious flood in its valley. Above here, however, the stream is falling, and the worst probably is over. Two hundred families are homeless in the lower portions of Ottawa and vicinity.

In North Ottawa several business houses are flooded, there being two feet of water in the Santa Fé depot and the lower floor of the Marsh hotel is covered with water. The Santa Fé yards are two feet under water, and no trains on the Santa Fé or the Missouri Pacific can move in or out of Ottawa.

At Vassar, Kas., the flood is the most serious since 1844. The river reaches from bluff to bluff, crops are practically ruined in the bottoms, and many head of stock have been drowned.

Cloudburst in Oklahoma.

Enid, Okla., May 30.—A cloudburst in the vicinity of Enid did much damage. A portion of the Denver, Enid and Gulf track between here and Guthrie was washed away. All streams were swollen and country roads were rendered impassable.

EVANSTON INVADED BY TRAMPS.

They Pitch Tents and Announce a "Caucus" While Police Plan a Raid Today.

An invasion of tramps from Chicago is alarming the Evanston police, who will raid the hobos' camp today and attempt to drive them from the suburb. The tramps began gathering several days ago and yesterday pitched two large tents at Crain street and the city limits. When questioned they declared they were going to "hold a caucus" to select a candidate for "king of the hobos" to be named at St. Louis in October. The police declare that there will be a "caucus" in the Evanston jail, unless the tramps get out of town by noon today.

SHOE FACTORIES READY TO START.

Three Will Try to Resume Work Today on the Open Shop Basis.

OTHERS TO FOLLOW SOON.

Drug Clerks Sever Connections with Other Labor Organizations.

Shoe factories in Chicago that are a part of the Manufacturers' association will try to resume operations in a few days as "open shops." Employés of three concerns have been summoned to report for duty today, and those who worked in other plants before the shutdown on May 1 will be called on shortly. Members of the boot and shoe workers' union, its officers declare, will refuse to return under the conditions offered.

Notices calling on the workers to report for duty this morning at 7 o'clock were received yesterday by the employés of the J. E. Tilt Shoe company, the Tilt-Kenney Shoe company, and the Florsheim Shoe company. The three factories employ 1,000 men and women.

Bound to Have Open Shops.

J. E. Tilt said the manufacturers were determined to operate their establishments as open shops.

"We will all operate on the 'open shop' basis in the future," he said. "There will be no change in wages except in one or two small matters. We realize that we may not be able to run our shops at full force at once. It may mean a long fight, and we may be a year in winning, but we are going to hold to our program."

When asked what would be the effect of the order of the Western Federation of Miners that its members should buy no Chicago made shoes, Mr. Tilt said:

"The agitation for the union stamp is dead. There is now practically no call for it. Of orders for 200,000 pairs of shoes only 200 pairs were asked for with the stamp. Many customers actually insist that the stamp be left off. The trade outlook is excellent. We have on our books many more orders than we had last year at this time. If any boycott has been attempted by the western miners or others it has helped rather than hurt our business."

Plan to Amalgamate Unions.

Five international unions engaged in leather work will be amalgamated if the plan to be proposed by Marcellus Waite of Milwaukee, general organizer of the Amalgamated Workers of America and the American Federation of Labor, at the annual convention of amalgamated leather workers to be held in Chicago next July 4 is adopted. The proposed amalgamation would bring together more than 400,000 leather workers and would be composed of the Amalgamated Leather Workers of America, the International Leather Workers' union (the harness makers), the International Glove Workers' union, the International Leather Traveling Goods Workers' union, and the Boot and Shoe Workers' union of America. The membership of these bodies is approximately as follows:

Amalgamated leather workers	150,000
Boot and shoe workers	175,000
International leather workers	50,000
Glove workers	25,000
Traveling goods workers	10,000

"I have conferred with President Tobin of the boot and shoe workers on the subject and he has expressed himself in favor of the plan," said Waite yesterday. "I shall bring the matter before the annual convention in Chicago, and it is probable that action will be taken by the delegates at that time. All members of the other three unions with whom I have spoken have expressed themselves favorably towards the scheme."

Drug Clerks to Be Independent.

The Registered Drug Clerks' association has severed all connections with other labor organizations, and President Dan W. Richmond of the International Association of Railway Clerks is selling souvenirs to get money enough to pay his back wages.

"Trade union members gave us no moral support," said I. B. Kronberger of the drug clerks, explaining his position, "and so we see no reason for trying to help them. It would be easy for union men to help us along by demanding that they be served by union clerks. But they will not do it."

Richmond's organization was supposed to have several thousand members. The last report in the American Federationist shows it to have 785 men. As there is to be a convention in St. Louis in June, and as the president says he has been unable to get any pay for his services since December, he has prepared a booklet which he is selling as a souvenir in the hope of raising money enough to pay him for his work and to enable him to go to the convention.

Labor Notes.

President John D. Hibbard of the Chicago Metal Trades' association put in the day playing golf as a preparation for today's renewal of the contest with the machinists' union. The association will decide today on a full plan of action for the coming conflict.

The disposition of bricks made at the bridewell and of the methods employed in their manufacture will be investigated by a committee from the building trades.

MEAT CUTTERS MAKE DEMANDS.

Want Raise in Wages and No Women Employed Where Any Steel Is Used.

Kansas City, Mo., May 30.—The executive board of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's association met tonight and formulated the following demands, which will be presented to the leading packers in Chicago tomorrow:

First, That no girls be employed in these departments where the knife or any steel is used; and,

Second, That to all employés throughout the country an increase in wages be granted, ranging from 5 to 25 per cent.

About 10,000 men are affected by the scale in all the packing centers.

LAKE STRIKE END IS FAR OFF.

Carriers Will Not Arbitrate Unless the Masters Leave Union with the Mates.

Cleveland, O., May 30.—Hope for a settlement of the masters and pilots' tieup through arbitration by the Civic federation came to an end today, when President Livingstone of the lake carriers announced that his organization appeared only as a matter of courtesy, and that there was no chance of a compromise or settlement so long as masters remained in their union with the mates.

MEET TO TALK SCIENCE.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERS FROM ALL OVER WORLD HERE.

Joint Convention of British and American Societies Opens Tonight at the Auditorium Hotel—Nearly 100 Delegates from Abroad Already Have Arrived — Rear Admiral Ahmed Pasha of the Turkish Navy Expected —Visit Manufacturing Plants.

Many of the principal mechanical engineers of the United States and Europe are in Chicago this week to attend the joint convention of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the Institution of Mechanical Engineers of Great Britain, which opens tonight at the Auditorium hotel. There are nearly 100 delegates here from abroad and many of them are accompanied by their wives and members of their families.

The vanguard of the British society arrived yesterday and opened headquarters at the Auditorium hotel, with Edgard Worthington of London, secretary of the society, in charge. The president of the British society is J. Hartley Wicksteed of Leeds.

Turkish Admiral Is Coming.

Among the members of the society is Rear Admiral Ahmed Pasha of Constantinople, the principal engineer of the Turkish navy, who is expected in Chicago this morning. Daniel Adamson, another member, from Hyde, England, is a nephew of the man who financed and forced to a successful conclusion the building of the Manchester ship canal.

Other members are Prof. D. A. Low of the Batterson Polytechnic institute, London; George A. Ryder, Bolton; William G. Kirkladv, James Dronsfield, Oldham; George Chaffey, who first reclaimed lands in Australia by the irrigating process; Janlee Barningham of Manchester, and Sidney Smith and William Blaine of Johannesburg, South Africa.

Will Visit Manufacturing Plants.

The British engineers are making a tour of the United States and Canada, and will visit the world's fair at St. Louis at the conclusion of the Chicago convention. At the opening session an address of welcome will be made by Mayor Harrison and responses by Preses Swansey of the American society and President Wicksteed of the British society. The delegates will visit local institutions and manufacturing plants.

TANK CAR MYSTERY WEAKENS.

Police Now Believe Fred Hull Hid and Was Killed by Fumes from the Oil.

The theory that Fred Hull, whose body was found last Friday in an oil tank car at Whiting, Ind., was murdered, has been abandoned by the police. They now believe that the dead man hid in the car from imaginary pursuers and died from the effects of the fumes.

The inquest begun yesterday will be resumed today, when Coroner G. H. Hoskins will introduce new evidence. Employés of the Standard Oil company will be asked to show where the car was every evening from the time it was cleaned, May 20, until the body was found.

The coroner said the only theory he has at present is that Hull, in a partly intoxicated condition, crept into the car to hide, or that he sought to steal a ride.

TASCOT IS FOUND ONCE MORE.

This Time on His Deathbed in the Klondike and Confesses to the Snell Murder in Chicago.

Victoria, B. C., May 30.—[Special.]—Philip Robertson, a mining man from the Yukon, arrived here today. He says he found a man dying in the Klondike wilds who confessed on his deathbed that he was Willie Tascott, the murderer of Amos J. Snell in Chicago several years ago.

The Beverage of Health

Schlitz

Pure beer—Schlitz beer—is the best drink in the world for you.

The malt is a food; the hops a tonic. The alcohol—only 3½ per cent—is an aid to digestion; a healthful stimulant.

The most healthy nations in the world—the most hardy, most energetic—drink the most of it.

But the beer must be pure. Impurity means harmful germs. That is why we brew Schlitz in absolute cleanliness—why we filter even the air that touches it and sterilize every bottle.

And the beer must be aged. Green beer causes biliousness. That's why we age Schlitz for months before we market it.

Schlitz beer is absolutely pure; it can't harm you.

COLTS LOSE ONE; WIN THE OTHER.

Cincinnati Trims Chicago in the Morning Game by a Score of 7 to 4.

CAPTAIN CHANCE IS HURT

Selee's Men Capture Afternoon Contest, 5 to 2, Wicker Pitching Well.

Cincinnati, O., May 30.—[Special.]—The Colts broke even with the reds on the two games played here today. Kelley's men captured the morning game in a handy fashion, the contest being more onesided than the 7 to 4 score would indicate. In the afternoon the Colts were victorious in a hard fought engagement by a score of 5 to 2 and the finish was a thoroughly exciting one, the 12,000 people who had come out to root for the reds being well repaid for their trouble, even if the game was lost.

The weather during the day was a mixture of sunshine and showers. In the morning game the sun came out with a vengeance but in the afternoon the clouds gathered again and a light drizzle started about the middle of the game, continuing until the end.

Kellum was in the box for the locals in the afternoon, as Manager Kelley thought he would be the hardest man he had for the Chicagoans to hit, but the mysteries of his delivery were soon solved and the visitors took a lead in the first inning which was not overcome. Wicker, who was on the firing line for the Seleeites, stood the test of a hard afternoon's battering, but he kept the ten hits so well scattered that they were good for only two runs.

Colts Begin Scoring Early.

After Williams had sent an easy fly to Corcoran in the opening session Casey was safe on Corcoran's muff of his fly and stole second, reaching third on a wild throw by Schlei. Chance was hit by a pitched ball and then Slagle sent both of them over the plate with a luscious swat into right field.

Wicker held the locals safely up to the eighth inning, seven hits being made off him up to that time, but the hitting was all done after two men were out in each inning. In the eighth Kelley opened for his side with a three bagger and Seymour got a life on a wide throw by Casey, Kelley scoring. Dolan sacrificed. Corcoran hit to Chance, who threw Seymour out at the plate, and Corcoran was nailed trying to steal second.

In the ninth Kellum issued a pass to the first man up and a wide throw to first by Huggins let Evers to second. O'Neil was out at first, but Tinker poked one of Kellum's slants over Dolan's head and made three bases on it, sending in two runs and scoring himself on Wicker's single. Woodruff started trouble for Wicker in the reds' half with a single. Schlei struck out, but Peitz, who batted for Kellum, sent Woodruff to third with a smash into center. Wicker then became generous and issued free transportation to Huggins and Donlin, which forced Woodruff over the plate with only one out. The crowd pulled hard for Kelley to make his third three base hit, but all he did was to pop up to Tinker, and Seymour was an easy victim for Evers and Chance.

Morning Game Is Different.

Lundgren and Harper were the opposing pitchers in the morning game, and the latter had all the better of the argument. Up to the ninth inning only three hits were made off Harper, while Lundgren was hit frequently all through the game.

Capt. Chance was hit in the head by one of Harper's fast shoots, and was out for several minutes. The Chicago captain recovered, and continued in the game with nothing worse than a blackened eye, but it was a narrow escape, for if the blow had been an inch farther back it would have killed him. Harper hit Chance three times during the game.

Dolan started the scoring for Cincinnati with a run in the second. Donlin, Kelley, and Seymour made the circuit in the fifth on four singles. Peitz, Huggins, and Donlin added three more in the sixth on two passes, a three bagger by Donlin, and a single by Kelley.

It looked like a shutout for the Colts, but Harper got a little wild in the ninth and filled up the bases. Casey singled and Chance was hit in the sleeve. Slagle was allowed to walk, and a hit to center field followed, Seymour diving for the ball, but missing it, turning it into a scratch home run, cleaning the bases. Scores:

Notes of the Colts' Games.

Harper struck out four times.

The Chicago team left tonight for Philadelphia, where it is scheduled to open with the Phillies on Wednesday.

Wicker pitched heady ball and kept his nerve to the last, although it looked for a time in the ninth as if the crowd had him going.

The Giants were leading the league for a few hours today. The New York team won from the Phillies in the morning, and the defeat of the Colts left the Giants in first place, but they are tied tonight with the Colts, as the Phillies defeated them this afternoon while the Colts won.

EVEN BREAK FOR THE PHILLIES.

Quaker City Nationals Lose Morning Game to New York, but Win Out in the Afternoon.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 30.—The morning contest between New York and Philadelphia bore little resemblance to a baseball game. Errors and misplays were almost too numerous to mention. McGann was put out of the grounds by Umpire O'Day. Attendance, 3,573. Score:

WHITE SOX KEPT IDLE BY WEATHER

Rain Prevents Both Holiday Games Scheduled with Cleveland Club.

CAPT. LAJOIE SUSPENDED.

President Johnson Punishes Blue Leader for Actions in Sunday Game.

Cleveland, O., May 30.—[Special.]—Rain kept the White Sox and Cleveland from playing the two games scheduled here for today, and at the same time hit the two clubs a financial blow which cannot be remedied.

Yesterday's storm cut down what normally might have been figured a 15,000 crowd. The two games today ought, with good weather, to have numbered close to 20,000 more. Instead of having 35,000 spectators to see these three games, only about 4,000 were out, those who braved the storm in Chicago yesterday. The local magnates figured today that the financial loss on these three games cost the two clubs not less than $7,500 each. Such blows hurt.

The storm which stopped today's games broke here about 10 o'clock last night and continued without abatement until 4 o'clock this afternoon. The local grounds are thoroughly saturated, but if no more rain falls tonight tomorrow's game can be played. Owen will pitch for the White Sox and Bernhard for Cleveland.

Manager Armour was notified today by Umpire Frank Dwyer that Capt. Lajoie has been suspended indefinitely and will be fined by President Johnson for his conduct on the ball field in yesterday's game at Chicago. Members of the local team feel "sore" over the loss of the game. Abbott and Lajoie claim that Altrock fouled the ball on which the Chicago runners scored and over which the discussion arose that has led to Lajoie's suspension. The claim is denied by Umpire Dwyer and the Chicagoans.

Chicago's players found little to amuse them here today during the storm. The rain kept them indoors, and as the theaters were all sold out they had to stay at the hotel. Even the Decoration day parade did not prove a success and served to occupy their attention but a few minutes.

Tomorrow's game closes the series here with the White Sox, who will leave after it for Chicago, where they are to meet Washington on Wednesday. Cleveland's first opponent from the east will be Boston.

ATHLETES COMPETE IN MEET.

Annual Spring Handicap Games of the Pullman Athletic Club Are Held, with 170 Men Taking Part.

For more than three hours yesterday afternoon 200 spectators shivered in the cold watching 170 contestants compete in the twenty-third annual spring handicap athletic games held under the auspices of the Pullman Athletic club. The meet was held on the athletic field at Pullman and the list of contestants included many well known athletes.

Walter H. Liginger was referee. The events commenced at 2 o'clock and were not concluded until 6 o'clock. In most of the events the time was slow, due to the cold and strong wind.

The winner of each event was awarded a gold medal, the second place man a silver medal, and third a bronze medal. Summaries:

100 yard dash—Won by James D. McGann, Central Y. M. C. A.; W. Pemberton, F. R. A. A., second; John Vickery, F. R. A. A., third. Time, 10:01.

AUTOMOBILE LAUNCHES RACE.

First Contest of the Season on Long Island Sound Won by F. H. Waldorf's Boat.

New York, May 30.—F. H. Waldorf's automobile racing launch Japansky, driven by a forty horse power engine, won the first prize in the first boat race of the season today over a course of nineteen and a half miles, with a turn, on Long Island sound. Japansky defeated with ease the other three boats with automobile engines—the Flat, the Shooting Star, and the Panhard—covering the nineteen and a half miles in 1:06:29. W. K. Vanderbilt Jr.'s motor boat was entered, but in speed tests before the race it and the Panhard came near colliding. Mr. Vanderbilt jammed his tiller down so hard to avoid a collision that his steering gear was disabled and his boat was withdrawn.

Boxing Shows Tonight.

KOEPPE IS FIRST IN BIG ROAD RACE

Nineteen Year Old Boy Wins Event of Century Club to Evanston.

FINISH PROVES CLOSE.

Winner and Fred Schlewitt Have Hard Sprint—Time Prize to Hultgren.

Oscar Koeppe, a 19 year old boy, won the annual Century Road club road race, run over the old Evanston course yesterday morning. Koeppe started from the three minute mark, and won only after a desperate sprint through Lincoln park with Fred Schlewitt, who started from the same mark.

The finish was close, only a wheel separating the two men. Peter A. Rocklage, the holder of state records for double and triple centuries, finished third from the four minute mark.

The winner of the time prize turned up in Herman Hultgren, a scratch man, who rode the twenty-five miles in 1:08:16, sixteen seconds slower than "Farmer" Blum's time over the same course last year. Two other scratch men, Erwin Siegel, the winner of the race last year, and Otto Jacoby, took second and third time prizes respectively.

Despite the cold weather and strong north wind, only fifteen of the fifty-six entries failed to leave the starting point, and thirty-four finished. The start was made promptly at 10 o'clock J. R. Stephens, the limit man, being sent away with a ten minute handicap. After that the men got away at one minute intervals.

The race was run off in good style. Not a serious accident occurred, the roads being good, in spite of the rains. The course was a complete twenty-five miles, the men starting at Grant's monument, in Lincoln park, and riding to Ridge avenue, in West Evanston, and return.

Koeppe, the winner of the race, rode in only one race before yesterday. Hultgren, winner of the time prize, is probably the best road rider in the city outside of "Farmer" Blum, having won first time prize in the century race Labor day last year and third the year before.

The order of the riders at the finish follows:

ACCIDENT IN "CYCLE DERBY."

H. J. Gilbert of Newark Has Skull Fractured by Collision in Irvington-Milburn Road Race.

Hilton, N. J., May 30.—The sixteenth "cycle Derby" was run today over the Irvington-Milburn course. Stretched along the course were over 20,000 persons, who cheered the contestants as they passed. When twenty miles had been covered the strain told on a number of the starters, and several fell by the wayside, some of them in collisions. One of the victims was H. J. Gilbert of Newark, who had his skull fractured and was removed to Memorial hospital in Orange. E. E. McCallum of Brooklyn, one of the six minute men won the race, with Alfred Demarest [six minutes], also of Brooklyn, second; and Charles Widman of Newark [four minutes], third. Time, 1:13:49. Adolph Krohn of Brooklyn, the winner of the race last year, won the time prize in 1:12:30.

Skat League Elects Officers.

St. Louis, Mo., May 30.—The national skat congress held a business session at the Liederkranz hall today. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, George F. Gerlach; vice presidents, Henry Holle and Paul Jaenicke; treasurer, Henry Strohmeyer; secretary, Ernst E. Hottlett, all of Milwaukee; board of directors, A. Gauff, Chicago; J. C. Elchorn, Detroit; Emil Martin, Indianapolis; Charles Schuepbach, Cleveland; L. Priester, St. Louis; and William Sievert, Pittsburg. A change in the constitution provides for the formation of the clubs in the various cities and that the national congress shall be composed of representatives from each club.

SCHREIBER LUCKY AT ST. LOUIS.

His Mare Schwalbe Wins the Memorial Handicap—Harmakis Is Far in Front.

St. Louis, Mo., May 30.—Schwalbe, favorite at 8 to 5 today, won the Memorial handicap, at five and a half furlongs, worth $2,000 to the winner. Schwalbe got off flying and won easily by two lengths. Harmakis, at 7 to 10, in the fifth race, won by an eighth of a mile. Never Such, odds on favorite in the sixth, had to be driven out to win from Nettie Regent. Track sloppy and heavy. Summary:

First race, 5 furlongs, selling—Matt Wadleigh, 100 pounds [L. Wilson], 9 to 5, won; Yellmantown, 5 to 1, second; Happy Hooligan, 7 to 1, third. Time, 1:10.

Nick Hubinger Has Narrow Escape.

New Haven, Conn., May 30.—[Special.]—Nick Hubinger, owner of Frank Agan, Grace Hastings, Elastic Painter, Daniel, and Great Barrington, and the greatest plunger in the grand trotting circuit, had his leg broken in the Gentlemen's Driving club races today. His dashboard gave way and he was hurled upon the track. He narrowly escaped being trampled to death by Great Barrington, which he was driving. Mr. Hubinger is a millionaire manufacturer.

Judge Hamilton Arrives.

Col. A. W. Hamilton, presiding judge at Los Angeles last winter and at Harlem park for some years, came up from Mount Sterling, Ky., yesterday. He intends to spend the summer in Chicago, his idea being to keep tab on form at other tracks when Harlem park is not running.

Notes of the Tracks.

Barney Sanders bet $60 against $3,000 on Burleigh to win the American Derby in Weller's book last night.

S. C. Hildreth backed all three of his winners heavily, as he likes to do when they are a short price. The betting was good, despite most of the spectators did not belong to the wagering division.

HATS AND CANES IN AIR.

BIG CROWD AT GRAVESEND SHOWS GREAT ENTHUSIASM.

Victory of Popular Horse Is Greeted with Remarkable Demonstration of Approval—Glorifier Wins the Hudson Stakes After a Hard Chase to Catch Sydney Paget's Added Starter, Diamond—Hildebrand Blunders on Jennings' Gold Money.

New York, May 30.—[Special.]—A crowd even larger than the gathering on Brooklyn handicap day went to Gravesend today, where seven races were decided amid the wildest kind of enthusiasm. Six favorites, carrying thousands of dollars of the public's wealth, and a heavily backed third choice flashed past the judges victorious. There were nearly 50,000 spectators.

The most pronounced enthusiasm was shown when L. V. Bell's fine colt, Glorifier, won the $6,000 Hudson stakes for 2 year olds at five furlongs. He opened at 3 to 5, but went back to 4 to 5 because of the heavy plunge on Sydney Paget's Diamond, an added starter. Diamond beat the gate and secured a lead of three lengths, but Glorifier went after the Hastings colt with tremendous strides until he had him under a drive at the head of the stretch. Diamond held his advantage up to the last furlong pole, where Glorifier proceeded to run over him, winning cleverly by a length in 1:00⅗, a fifth of a second slower than the record for the stake. The crowd cheered Glorifier all through the stretch, and when he passed the wire the air was filled with flying hats and canes.

In the third race, at a mile and a furlong, W. B. Jennings' Gold Money got off in front, and was traveling at a great rate as she reached the lower turn, when Hildebrand stood up in his stirrups and proceeded to pull her head back until she fell behind. Going up the backstretch Gold Money was jammed to the rail, Hildebrand having his left leg bruised and breaking a stirrup. Meanwhile E. R. Thomas' pair went to the front and finished first and second, Duke of Kendal having two lengths over Andy Williams, who was five lengths before Lord Badge.

S. S. Brown's Agile ran a superb race in the sixth event for maiden 2 year olds, five furlongs.

First race, handicap, about 6 furlongs—Reliable, 140 pounds [Shaw], 11 to 10, won; James V., 102 [Travers], 5 to 1, second; Rosetint, 114 [Fuller], 12 to 1, third. Time, 1:10 1-5. Montreson, Iredeus, Marjoram, and Sweet Alice ran.

Second race, Empire State steeplechase, handicap, about 2½ miles—Caller, 162 pounds [Donohue], 4 to 5, won; Land of Clover, 165 [Veitch], 16 to 5, second; The Ragged Cavalier, 146 [Gallagher], 6 to 1, third. Time, 4:53. Tom Cogan, Flying Buttress, Adjidaumo, Gascar, Captivator, and Emigrant ran.

Third race, handicap, 1⅛ miles—Duke of Kendal, 97 pounds [Phillips], 8 to 5, won; Andy Williams, 103 [Redfern], 8 to 5, second; Lord Badge, 102 [Fuller], 7 to 2, third. Time, 1:53 3-5. Colonsay, Brigand, and Gold Money ran.

Fourth race, the Hudson stakes, 5 furlongs—Glorifier, 125 pounds [Gannon], 4 to 5, won; Diamond, 115 [Lyne], 13 to 5, second; Veto, 112 [Odom], 25 to 1, third. Time, 1:00 3-5. Right Royal and Jake Sanders ran.

Fifth race, selling, 1 1-16 miles—Sheriff Bell, 110 pounds [Shaw], 3 to 1, won; Charles Elwood, 107 [O'Neil], 2 to 1, second; Auf Wiedersehen, 84 [Olney], 100 to 1, third. Time, 1:48. Witchcraft, Conpella, All Gold, Wild Pirate, and Paget ran.

Sixth race, 5 furlongs—Agile, 112 pounds [Helgesen], 5 to 2, won; Trapper, 112 [Lyne], 5 to 1, second; Gilpin, 112 [O'Neil], 5 to 1, third. Time, 1:01 4-5. Golden Sunrise, Portsmouth, Humo, Fruit, Handy Bill, Bill Bailey II., Mephisto, Small Boy, Agent, and Maggie Stroup ran.

Seventh race, selling, 1 1-16 miles—Go Between, 95 pounds [Hildebrand], 1 to 2, won; Courtmaid, 110 [Walsh], 6 to 1, second; The Cricket, 90 [D. O'Connor], 60 to 1, third. Time, 1:48 1-5. Trepan, Sir Roche, The Rhymer, Sir Carter, Tanegra, Ben Cotta, The Rival, and Spanish Lassie ran.

Reservation First at Latonia.

Cincinnati, O., May 30.—The largest crowd of the meeting attended the Latonia races today. It was raining and the track slow. The Decoration Day handicap was won by George Hendrie's Reservation in a driving finish by half a length. Fonsoluca beat Harfang five lengths for the place. The latter was an added starter. Fonsoluca cut out all the pace until the stretch, when Reservation came with his usual burst of speed and won in impressive fashion. Summary:

First race, 6 furlongs—Quiz II., 101 pounds [Livingston], 9 to 2, won; Van Ness, 1 to 3, second; Rachael Ward, 20 to 1, third. Time, 1:16¼.

CROWD AT TRACK SEES DULL RACES.

Big Holiday Gathering at Hawthorne, but the Sport Proves Tame.

BURLEIGH IS INJURED.

Derby Colt Wins Flight Stakes Galloping, but Gets an Ugly Gash.

There was a great crowd of chilled holiday pleasure seekers at the Hawthorne racetrack yesterday afternoon. It beat the attendance on Chicago Derby day by some thousands, and, perhaps, it was just as well the weather was cold instead of warm, otherwise the mob in the stands and betting ring would have sweltered in its struggles to get back and forth.

However, the bad track spoiled the sport almost completely. There was not a real good horse race during the afternoon. It was merely an exercise program for the six winners, every one of whom won in hand. Most of the spectators, however, did not appear to worry over this outcome, and they cheered the leaders just as if they had had to struggle to land the money.

But three started in the Prairie stakes, at two miles, and only four in the Flight stakes, at six furlongs.

The latter was much the more interesting race, despite the shorter route, because it produced a mild surprise, and all of the four which started were conceded a chance, whereas the long race looked like a setup for Potheen and proved to be.

Race for Flight Stakes.

Floral King, Gregor K., Prince Silverwings, Wainamoinen, Irene Lindsey, and The Fog were withdrawn from the Flight, leaving Burleigh, Sylvia Talbot, Skillful, and Sad Sam to compete. The betting men made a bad guess and established Sylvia Talbot the favorite at even money, while 2 to 1 was obtainable against Burleigh and 4 to 1 against Skillful. The odds against Burleigh were due to two things—the uncertainty as to whether he would run in the mud and the fact that his two victories had been achieved against horses of but fair speed, whereas he had been beaten in a better field, although at his first start.

Both misgivings regarding the colt proved unwarranted. He showed that he liked the soft going and the smart speed he encountered in the first furlong did not worry him at all. He began to draw out of the bunch in the first fifty yards and at the end of 100 yards was clear of his pursuers. From that on there was nothing to the contest. The 3 year old, with giant strides, drew farther and farther away and never was in danger. Sylvia Talbot, however, had got cut off immediately after the start, falling some lengths behind her field. Then she ran past Sad Sam and Skillful, but never could get up to the big leader. Finally, in the home stretch, she succumbed to the challenge of Skillful for the place and was beaten by him three lengths. Burleigh had galloped home five lengths before the Ellison horse.

Burleigh Meets with Injury.

After the race it was discovered Burleigh had quite an ugly looking gash on his right hind leg, and Owner Hildreth, who stands to win $40,000 on the colt in the American Derby, had a few anxious minutes until Veterinary Hollenback had examined the injury and pronounced it not serious. The injury is on the outside of the leg, and while the cut reaches quite to the bone in one place, it does not affect the ligiments, and Dr. Hollenback says he thinks the youngster will be all right in three or four days. It is thought Sad Sam jumped on Burleigh shortly after the start of the race.

Only Potheen, Rankin, and Lacy Crawford started in the two mile stake, and the first named won as his rider pleased.

The nearest to a contest during the afternoon was in the fifth race, when T. H. Griffin's Glioriosa, the favorite, although running under wraps at the sixteenth post, had to be shaken up to withstand a challenge on the part of Louisville.

The opening race was interesting because of the initial appearance of the season of J. W. Fuller's splendid filly, Tokalon. Mr. Fuller caught the bookies napping by having his filly primed at her first start, and after she was backed from 6 to 1 to 5 to 2 she won easily from George Bennett's Forehand, who, off badly, was easily second best in the race.

HOLIDAY GOLFING UNDER HANDICAP.

Heavy Rains Leave Majority of the Local Courses in Poor Condition.

TOURNAMENT AT EXMOOR.

Sixteen Players Compete in One Day Event, in Which Are Six Flights.

As far as the weather was concerned, the golfing of yesterday was a repetition of that of Decoration day a year ago, when strong breezes and heavy courses severely handicapped the players. The heavy rain of Sunday and the early morning left all but the best drained links in sodden condition, and, although the strong northeasterly gale had a beneficial effect in drying them out, its extreme frigidity more than overbalanced its otherwise useful services.

It was a poor day for golf, and those who had the hardihood to play went out clad in heavy sweaters. Fortunately, the rain stopped soon after the time set for the early events, and, although a number of players were deterred from competing in them, the afternoon events were fairly well patronized.

All of the local clubs had good programs and the great majority of events scheduled were played.

Tourney at Exmoor.

Exmoor golfers to the number of sixty-four competed in a one day tournament in which there were six flights. Henry C. Street won the prize for nonqualifiers. Summary:

Mrs. C. L. Dering won the women's driving contest with a drive of 154 yards.

Blind Bogey at Glen View.

Weather conditions were too discouraging at Glen View for the collegian-golfers' baseball game, but a big field played in the blind bogey, eighteen hole event, bogey between 80 and 90, and R. D. Bokum, with 118—37—81, captured premier honors. The scores:

Good Attendance at River Forest.

A men's handicap and a mixed foursome were the events on the card yesterday at the River Forest club links. J. C. Johnson captured the former feature, while Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wilson won the mixed foursome. The cold weather did not prevent a large attendance of members and guests, and in the evening there was a special dinner, followed by dancing.

In the woman's eighteen hole putting contest Miss Anne Thatcher won with a score of forty-two. Miss Mary Moore was second, forty-five, and four tied at forty-seven—Mrs. W. F. Quick, Miss Edith Doane, Miss Grace Wilson, and Miss Blair.

Chester Johnson won the men's driving contest, averaging 190 yards for three balls.

Russians Beat Japs.

Auburn Park players competed in a team match, Russians against Japanese. It was a unique affair in which every man under 5 feet 8 inches was a Jap and every one that height a Russian. Ald. Badenoch led the Russians and C. Baker the Japs.

The boxes were inscribed alternately with Russian and Japanese names, and Lake Baikal, Mukden, Fengwangcheng, Port Arthur, and the other unfamiliar names which have lately become familiar were all made to do duty on the Auburn Park links as the names of the holes yesterday.

Medal scores counted, and the Russians won, 1,400 to 1,435.

In the afternoon thirty members played for the president's trophy of 1903, and it was won by S. B. Moody, for the first time, with a score of 83

ONWENTSIA HAS FORMAL OPENING.

D. R. Forgan and J. Roberts Win Baker Cups—Wilson Trophy to French.

REDS TAKE POLO MATCH.

Edgewater Golfers Defy the Cold Weather, Which Riddles Card at Several Clubs.

In spite of the derogatory efforts of the weather man, the formal opening of the Onwentsia club was carried through with a flourish. Polo, golf, and a hunt occupied the day, and dinners and a dance the night.

Three golf cups were competed for, two presented annually by President Alfred L. Baker and the other by W. H. Wilson. The Baker cups went to the player making the best gross score for thirty-six holes and to the player making the best choice score for eighteen holes out of the thirty-six played. David R. Forgan, former western champion, won the first, with scores of 88 and 86. Joshua McRoberts took the second, his best count for eighteen holes being 98, which, with an allowance of 24, gave him a net of 74. The Wilson cup, which went to the player over 40 years of age making the best net score for thirty-six holes, was won by C. B. French, with a net of 80.

Playing in a foursome professional, Fred McKinzie made a score of 76, which is one stroke above Willie Anderson's record of 75. Summary of cup contests.

In the polo game the reds defeated the blues by a score of 9 to 6. The game was good and had added to it the feature that for the first time in two years twelve members reported at the field ready for play. Positions were shifted during the different periods, so that each of the twelve had a chance to get into the game for at least a period.

Edgewater Players Are Hardy.

At Edgewater by the lake the members are inured to the cold breezes and, although the weather was enough to deter ordinary golfers from playing, the hardy suburbanites were not to be denied and turned out in large numbers. Finals in the spring tournament, a mixed foursome, and a members' handicap made up the program. Results were as follows:

SPRING TOURNAMENT.

First flight—H. L. Angell defeated Dr. A. F. Stevenson, 8 up.
Second flight—J. C. Murray defeated Newton Lull, 1 up.
Third flight—W. C. Miller defeated M. Schoenthaler, 2 up, 1 to play.

The finals of the tournament commenced Saturday were played off yesterday at the Westward Ho club, T. H. Gale winning the first flight, J. A. Martin the second, and Frank Hall the third.

Several Calumet Events Postponed.

Little was done at the Calumet club, as only a few cared to face the cold. The women's approaching and putting contest and the mixed foursome were both postponed as well as several of the matches of the first round of the Whiting cup.

In the men's driving contest, S. M. Rogers, with a score of 9, won easily, the next score, in a field of twenty, being 4. Results in the first round for the Whiting cup follow:

First flight—S. M. Rogers [12] defeated Rea Gwinn, 2 up and 1 to play; A. F. Shiverick defeated R. C. McCreary [3], 8 up and 7 to play; W. J. Ambrose defeated W. G. Clark; Paul Willis [2] defeated C. H. Young, 6 up; Fred Rayfield [6] defeated F. C. N. Robertson, 5 up and 3 to play; R. T. Larrabee defeated E. R. McArthur [2] 1 up.
Second flight—J. M. Tuttle [9] defeated F. W. Ruckheim, 2 up and 1 to play; R. Kirkland [4] defeated E. H. Scott, 4 up and 3 to play; A. D. Warren defeated E. F. Bryant [9], 7 up; J. M. McDermid defeated G. H. Bell, 2 up.

Play Three Flights at Westward Ho.

Three flights of the members' tournament were played at the Westward Ho club yesterday, each match being nine holes. Thomas H. Gale, who had low score in the qualifying round, won the finals in the first flight, defeating Thomas S. Swirles 2 up and 1 to play. Following are the results:

FIRST FLIGHT.

First round—Thomas H. Gale won by default from J. H. Harper; Herbert Templeton beat Wilbur Kettlestrings, 2 up and 1 to play; Thomas S. Swirles beat Frank Elliott, 4 up and 2 to play; W. Templeton beat Bruce Darling, 1 up in 10 holes.
Semi-finals—Gale beat H. Templeton, by 2 up and 1 to play; Swirles beat W. Templeton, by 3 up and 2 to play.
Finals—Gale beat Swirles, 2 up and 1 to play.

SECOND FLIGHT.

First round—J. I. Cooper beat C. H. Wells, 3 up and 2 to play; Fred Hall won by default from G. D. Webb; J. A. Martin won by default from W. H. French; J. D. Ross beat E. B. Cobb, 4 up and 2 to play.
Semi-finals—Hall beat Cooper, 1 up; Martin beat Ross, 1 up.
Finals—Martin beat Hall, 2 up and 1 to play.

THIRD FLIGHT.

First round—Dr. J. E. Nyman beat C. H. Burras, 1 up in 10 holes; J. R. McGregor beat L. W. Beebe, 1 up in 10 holes; Fred Lee beat R. T. N. Conrad, 2 up; Frank Hall won by default from J. Mortenson.
Semi-finals—McGregor beat Nyman, 1 up; Hall beat Lee, 2 up.
Finals—Hall beat McGregor, 5 up and 3 to play.

The women's approaching and putting and driving contests were postponed.

Frigid Opening at Kenosha.

Kenosha, Wis., May 30.—[Special.]—The season of the Kenosha Country club was opened this afternoon, and, notwithstanding the cold weather, twelve of the women of the club turned out to compete for the Allen prize, the first event of the season. Miss Edna Farr won the prize with a score of 60. It was a handicap match, and the three best scores follow:

Miss Farr	78	18	60
Miss Palmetier	62	sc.	62
Miss Thiers	80	14	66

The men's match was called off because the players refused to face the biting wind.

RACE TO INDIANA HARBOR

MILDRED WINS JACKSON PARK YACHT CLUB CRUISING EVENT.

Four Boats Compose Fleet Which Makes Trip Across Lake and Record Time Is Made — Hattie B. Finishes Second — Bad Weather Prevents Other Organizations from Carrying Out Decoration Day Plans—Chicago Is Formally Opened for Season.

The yacht racing season opened badly for Chicago sailors yesterday, the heavy weather conditions being responsible for the postponement of the most of the scheduled events at the four local clubs, and as a result the Jackson Park club was the only one that held to the original plans for the day. Four of the boats from that club bucked the big seas and made the run to Indiana Harbor in record time.

Mildred, an eighteen footer owned by Stanley Burrows, was the winner of the Indiana Harbor cup on time allowance, although America, the flagship of Commodore Brunnick, was the first to pass the pierhead at the finish.

The heavy combers which were piled into the harbor entrance made it hard for the boats to get out into the lake, but all made it, and immediately squared away for the Indiana shores with full reefed mainsails and the wind blowing thirty-five miles an hour from the northeast. The little fleet presented a fine sight as the yachts laid over to it, with the waves at times breaking completely over them. America was away first, followed by Hattie B., Mildred, and Phineas in the order named, all finishing in the same relative positions.

The run down was a long reach and was made on one tack. Summaries:

	Start.	Finish.
America	2:37:45	3:51:16
Hattie B.	2:44:30	3:56:45
Mildred	2:49:52	3:57:46
Phineas	2:44:00	4:03:59

All events were postponed at the Columbia Yacht club on account of the gale outside, but La Rita, Iris, Jeanettie, and Vixen went around the cribs in an impromptu brush, and came back under jibs and staysails. The races set for yesterday will be run off Saturday.

The Chicago Yacht club had no races scheduled for the day, but the season was declared officially opened, when at noon Commodore Wilbur ran the pennant up to the truck of the flagship Marcia, and simultaneously the club burgees were broken out on the clubhouse and on every yacht in commission. A luncheon was provided for the members, and a large dinner was given in the evening, while a dance followed at night.

The fleet of the Saddle and Cycle club was kept at its moorings by the adverse weather conditions, and none of the races planned for Decoration day was sailed. The postponed events will be held on Saturday of this week.

Cape May Cup Is Returned.

LONDON, May 30.—The royal yacht squadron has been obliged to decline the challenge of Commodore Morton F. Plant of the Larchmont Yacht club for the Cape May cup with his schooner-yacht Ingomar, because the Britannia, which won the Cape May cup, is too antiquated to defend it. The trophy therefore will be returned to the New York Yacht club.

Regatta at Grand Haven.

Grand Haven, Mich., May 30.—[Special.]—Today's regatta of the Spring Lake Yacht club was won by Flying Dutchman, owned by Charles Boyden of Grand Haven. The special class race was won by Peabody of Chicago.

ST. PAUL BEST AT LACROSSE.

Northern Visitors Defeat the Calumet Club Players at American League Park, Seven to Two.

About 1,500 spectators from homes across the line saw St. Paul defeat the Calumet Lacrosse club yesterday at American league park, by the score of 7 to 2. The score does not represent the local men's ability fairly, as some of their best men, including Dr. Baker, their goal keeper, were out of the game. St. Paul was keen after the ball all the time, its cleverness and skill in passing making the Calumet club's efforts seem weak in the early parts of the game.

Personal conflicts during the game were plentiful, twice the game being halted while the players separated fistic opponents. Big Dr. Murphy of the visitors was in two of these impromptu settos, which ended as shortly as they were commenced, and he was ordered to the lines for penalty in each instance, at one time St. Paul being reduced to eight players for cause.

St. Paul started with the ball, and secured goals in rapid succession, a hole seeming to exist in the lineup of the local men's side, which enabled the visitors to send the ball through with ease. Donnelly, who was in an unfamiliar position keeping goal, was unable to keep the attack from passing him for goals, Kerwin getting three counts in the first quarter.

In the second quarter the Calumets played in better style, and the quarter was passed without any counts. The visitors resumed scoring in the next quarter, however, Allen getting two goals and Towers one. On the ball being put in play again the Calumets worked it down to the St. Paul goal, and succeeded in netting the ball, but it came half a minute after the timekeeper had blown his whistle, and did not count.

This attempt gave the Calumet team courage, and it played a much snappier game after it. Allen succeeded in getting the last goal for St. Paul in the last quarter, when Morrison and Donnelly, who had relinquished the goal keeping to another, made some brilliant passes to Sewell, who twice scored a goal in the closing minutes of play.

Three of the best men of the Calumet team were out of the game and the center was held by three likely players, who, however, were inexperienced, their running with the ball holding back what might have proven successful plays. Barker, a University of Chicago man, with a record of ten seconds in the hundred yards, displayed clever work on the field, although playing his first match. Barker and Geoughan proved clever and aggressive all through. Raymond and Kerwin were the stars on the visiting side.

The game was played in two twenty minute quarters and two fifteen minute quarters.

A feature of the crowd was the large number of women in the grand stand, their attendance making the stand look like a football crowd. Lineup:

C. S. TITUS EASILY DEFEATED.

Former Sculling Champion Loses Event in Harlem Regatta to Veseley of New York.

New York, May 30.—Thousands of spectators lined the banks of the Harlem river today when the thirty-eighth annual races of the Harlem Regatta association were rowed. The conditions were most favorable, weather, wind, and water being exceptional.

The entries were from local clubs, with one exception, C. E. Johnson from Boston, who won the intermediate single sculls. The Columbia university crews carried off the honors of the day by winning the intermediate eights, intermediate fours, junior four oared gigs, the senior eights, and senior fours.

The senior single sculls showed conclusively that C. S. Titus, the former champion, has seen his best days in a rowing race. He was beaten decisively by Veseley of the First Bohemian Boat club; in fact, he only defeated Fuessel, a local sculler, by a narrow margin.

Think Travis May Win.

LONDON, May 30.—Walter J. Travis and John Moller Jr., in a foursome at thirty-six holes at Sandwich today, easily defeated T. T. Gray and W. V. Manley. Travis played magnificently, doing the first eighteen holes in 74 and the second eighteen in 76. His approach shots were the feature. The consensus of opinion among the onlookers was that if Travis maintained today's form in the championship play, which opens tomorrow, he probably would be the winner.

EDUCATIONAL.

Culver Summer Naval School
(Lake Maxinkuckee)

Its eight weeks' course is the most delightful as well as the most beneficial summer outing ever devised for boys. Special tutoring in any study. Lessons in swimming, fencing and boxing. Instruction in sailing, rowing, and seamanship in U. S. man-of-war cutters. Track athletics, baseball, tennis, water polo. A Week at the World's Fair. These are some of its many features. POOR YEAR FOR CRAMPS.

SHIP FIRM SHOWS DECREASE IN BOTH GROSS AND NET.

No Profit in Boat Building for the Last Twelve Months, Says President Grove—Orders in Hand for the Future, However, Are Larger than for Some Time Past—Classified Statement of Exports and Imports—United States Realty and Construction.

For the fiscal year ended April 30, 1904, the annual report of the William Cramp & Sons Ship and Engine Building company shows a decrease of 16 per cent in gross. Net earnings were $188,174, against $300,398 the previous year. Owing to the fact, however, that no dividends were paid, the surplus shows an increase over the previous year. The financial statement follows:

	April 30, 1904.	April 30, 1903.
Gross earnings	$7,107,082	$8,519,169
Profit over cost material, labor, etc	735,031	696,497
Net, after general ex-interest, etc	188,174	300,398
Dividends		121,260
Surplus	188,174	179,138

The profit and loss account makes the following showing:

Gross from shipbuilding	$4,818,917
Gross from other departments	2,288,165
Total gross	$7,107,082
Operating expenses	6,372,050
Balance	$ 735,031
General miscellaneous expenses	170,573
Net profit	$ 564,467
Income from other sources	25,608
Total net profit	$ 590,066
Fixed charges	401,891
Surplus	$ 188,174

President Henry S. Grove in his report says:

"The income account for the year shows a net surplus from all the company's operations and interests of $188,174. But it must be borne in mind that under the terms of several of the mortgages against your property, the conditions under which the $5,000,000 bonds were issued, we are required to pay considerable money each year toward the liquidation of our indebtedness, and as we have no means of refunding these payments we must look to our earnings for the means of meeting them each year. It is therefore satisfactory to find that your net surplus for the year has been sufficient to meet these payments without encroaching on your working capital.

"The last year indicates that there has been little or no profit in shipbuilding proper. Were it not for our subsidiary companies doing business other than that of building ships we would not be able to make this showing. Our position for the coming year, however, is secure in having in all departments contracts aggregating about $13,000,000, which is an increase over the same period of last year of $1,500,000."

The old directors and officers were reelected at the annual meeting.

United States Realty.

Under the plan proposed for the reorganization of the United States Realty and Construction company as contained in the circular announcement, it appears if all the stock be exchanged on the basis formed the new company will have outstanding at first bonds to the amount of $13,505,550 and stock to the amount of $16,459,417. It will then have unissued $13,540,582 in stock. This unissued stock is to be held for the purpose of allowing the bonds to be converted into stock under the provisions of the agreement. Should all the bonds be converted into stock the company would have outstanding $29,964,967 in stock and have a balance of unissued stock for corporate purposes amounting to $35,032.

Attention is called to the fact that deposits of stock under the circular must be made on or before July 1, 1904.

Chicago Directory of Directors.

The 1904 issue of the directory of directors in the city of Chicago is out. It is published by the Audit company of New York, and contains a complete alphabetical list of directors or trustees with Chicago addresses, followed by the names of the companies with which they are connected, and an appendix consisting of selected lists of corporations in banking, insurance, transportation, manufacturing, and other lines of business, alphabetically arranged, accompanied in each case by the names of the company's principal officers, and all the directors or trustees.

This appendix renders the work especially valuable.

IN THE FOREIGN MONEY MARKET

LONDON, May 30.—Money was in good month end demand today. Discounts were easy in anticipation of easier money at the month turn. Trading on the stock exchange opened quiet, being influenced by the fact that this is Derby week, by the settlement in Paris, and by the holiday in New York. The market generally was firm, owing largely to the monetary position. Consols and home rails were steady. Americans were lifeless. Some of the stocks nominally were firmer, notably Union Pacific. The market closed quiet. Grand Trunk was buoyant as the result of the unexpected large increase in the revenue. Japanese hardened. Closing stocks:

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Receipts, Much Lighter than Expected, Cause Rush to Buy Cattle and Hogs.

While the trade was generally anticipating light receipts for Monday, the fact of only 16,600 cattle and 37,000 hogs arriving proved a surprise all around and under the strong conditions of the market these light receipts gave prices another upward turn. Cattle ruled 10c to 20c higher and hogs about 5c higher. With 15,000 sheep the market was slow and generally 10c to 15c lower. The Live Stock World's London and Liverpool cables quote the market for American cattle and sheep as follows:

LONDON, May 30.—Values here were ½c higher than last week, with good states steers making 13c.

American sheep here sold at 16c.

LIVERPOOL, May 30.—Cattle—Receipts fair; demand moderate; prices ¼c lower, good steers making 12¼c. States sheep, 2½c lower than late high point, making 15½c here. A year ago states steers sold at 12c and sheep at 15c.

The following is a statement of the movement of live stock at the Chicago Stockyards for the period indicated, with comparative figures:

Receipts—	Cattle.	Calves.	Hogs.	Sheep.

Cattle.

With only 16,000 cattle arriving there was a general rush of buying interests to the yards, and the market ruled excited, with prices 10@20c higher than the close last week, with some sales reported that were considered 25c higher than the high time last week. The best cattle here sold up to $5.90, with several bunches landing around $5.70@5.85, and the bulk of all beef cattle sold between $4.90@5.50, which is the highest range of prices seen during the current year. Cattle showing the most advance since the turn to higher prices are the pretty good medium weights that during the late winter months were selling at $4.25. Such steers are now selling freely from $5.25@5.40. The activity of demand for beef trade extended to all grades of fat cows and heifers, and prices were as much higher as steers. Few stock cattle were held over from the close of last week and buyers were not able to get any considerable number, as everything that had any kill to it was taken in by the slaughter trade at higher prices than feeder buyers would pay. Quotations:

Good to choice steers	$5.40@5.90
Poor to medium	4.40@5.40
Stockers and feeders	3.00@4.75
Cows	2.00@4.75

Hogs.

With only 37,000 hogs arriving, and the bulk of trade had been looking for above 40,000, the market got an early start, with prices strong to 5c higher than the close of last week. Local packers were averse to conceding any advance, but activity of the shipping trade compelled them to accept the situation and buy their droves at a cost about 5c above Saturday's cost, this, too, in the face of the fact that the quality was not as good as the average of last week; the best hogs sold at $4.82½, bulk of the shipping and butcher droves around $4.75, with mixed and packing largely at $4.65@4.75. Hogs were quite well bought, and the trade is looking for about 12,000 for Tuesday. Quotations:

Mixed and butchers'	$4.60@4.77½
Good to heavy choice	4.70@4.82½
Rough heavy	4.50@4.70
Light	4.55@4.70
Bulk of sales	4.60@4.75

Sheep.

The market for sheep was not heavily supplied, but there has been a reaction in the demand of late and the trade ruled dull, with prices 10@15c lower. The first western range sheep arrived from Washington and there will be a few of these far western bands arriving from now on. Quotations:

Good to choice wethers	$5.25@5.60
Fair to choice mixed	3.75@5.00
Native lambs, clipped	5.00@6.60
Clipped western sheep and yearlings	4.50@5.50

WANTS THE COURT TO FIGURE.

E. S. Tibbitts Says He Borrowed $100, Paid $156, and Is Being Hounded for $143.

Edward S. Tibbitts, a salesman, figures it out that he borrowed $100 from loan agents, paid $156, and is still asserted to owe $143. He decided to ask the Circuit court to struggle with the problem. Judge Tuthill has forbidden C. F. Wenham, George Frankenberg, and E. S. Warne from further proceedings to collect by justice court suits their claims against Tibbitts. The salesman says he has lost several positions by reason of the proceedings against him.

LOOPHOLES FOR SHORTS.

MUST SETTLE PRIVATELY, MAKE DELIVERY, OR BUY IN PIT.

Outstanding Contracts Are Believed to Be Small and Well Scattered Throughout the Trade—Talent in Grain Is Generally Bearish on the Deferred Months, as Movement Is Expected to Keep Up to Present Dimensions.

There are still three loopholes for the May wheat shorts. They can either go into the pit and even up their accounts in the open market, make the deliveries of the actual grain, or settle privately with Mr. T. H. Waterman, the principal long and the man in control of the situation. There were rumors late Saturday of private settlements between Waterman and one or two of the shorts, but these rumors were denied yesterday. There are some in the trade who believe that May wheat will sell much higher today. This, of course, will depend upon the demand and the humor of the longs in accepting the bids made in the pit.

On the more deferred months the trade in wheat leans to the bear side. J. Herbert Ware, senior partner in the house of Ware-Leland, said last night: "Although California will raise just about enough for home consumption, crop prospects elsewhere are most favorable with improvement noted in Ohio and Indiana, but there were some fears of rust in the southwest. European crop advices are optimistic, with their markets displaying heaviness, following the Whitsuntide holidays the large quantity afloat—now about the largest on record—checking buyers, with advances difficult to make. The visible in the United States proper is now well under 20,000,000 bu, the smallest since 1879, but there will be no exhaustion of supplies. The new crop year is close at hand, large stocks of flour are in sight, and the cash demand is slow, with old spring and winter wheat receipts increasing. Present prospects still favor a total crop of 600,000,000 bu; that may be exceeded considerably with favorable weather conditions. Operations are largely professional, with prices receding on July, the short interest having been largely eliminated, but the September kind is remarkably steady, offerings of old and new being well absorbed on declines. The bear element is conservative, due to the small contract stocks, and scalping operations may be witnessed for a while in July with increased activities in the deferred futures, the old September promising to become a bullish feature."

WILD BRONCHO CAUSES PANIC.

Attached to Breaking Cart, Animal Dashes Along Halsted Street, Routing Pedestrians on Sidewalks.

A western broncho, attached under protest to a breaking cart, last evening caused a panic in Halsted street in the stockyards district. The animal finally was landed at the stock yards station and the police are searching for the owner.

The broncho started on its journey at McFaddin's stable at Forty-second street and Emerald avenue. Two men were seated in the cart. After chasing the pedestrians on the sidewalks the animal dislodged the men in the vehicle. Then the broncho bolted to Halsted street. Three street cars were struck before Forty-eighth street was reached.

Joseph Dunworth managed to climb aboard, but was thrown off. On a street car he overtook the broncho and cart, which he ultimately captured.

RAILWAYS EARNING MORE BECAUSE OF LAKE TIEUP.

East Bound Roads Have Largely Increased Tonnage of Package Freight—Appointments on the Santa Fe.

The lake tieup helps to swell the earnings of the east bound roads from Chicago in this dull period. They are getting a largely increased tonnage of grain and package freight. The latter is of the most importance, as it has accumulated at eastern and western lake ports and is to be moved both ways.

All package freight that was in the hands of lake and rail lines on May 7 and on which bills of lading had been issued is sent all rail at the contract rate, but freight delivered and accepted after that date will have to pay full all rail rates, which are 2 cents a hundred pounds more.

Great pressure is brought to bear on the all rail lines to continue in effect the lake and rail rate until the strike is settled. It is not likely, however, that the railroads will make the concession. They feel that as long as the lake lines are tied up the business will have to go to them, and they are not in a position now to sacrifice any earnings to gain the good will of shippers.

The effect of the lake strike on the grain movement eastward by lake is shown by the difference between the shipments last week and those of last year. They were only 402,920 bushels, compared with 2,943,000 bushels last year and 2,467,000 bushels two years ago.

Changes in Santa Fe Officers.

John S. Hershey, assistant general freight agent of the gulf lines of the Santa Fé, has been appointed general freight agent of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fé, succeeding P. H. Goodwyn, who resigned on account of ill health. Y. Vandenberg, formerly traffic manager of the Louisville and Nashville, and lately in business in Baltimore, has gone back into railway service, being appointed assistant general freight agent of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fé, with headquarters at Galveston. Col. L. J. Polk, who sent in his resignation as vice president of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fé, has been made traffic manager of the Santa Fé lines in the southwest, with headquarters at Galveston, and he retains the title of vice president.

New St. Louis-Kansas City Line.

The Rock Island-'Frisco line between Kansas City and St. Louis has been completed and will be opened for business on June 5. The line is almost entirely new, having been built from Union, fifty miles west of St. Louis, to Kansas City.

NEXT TRACTION BATTLE OVER GROSSCUP DECREE.

City and Corporation to Dispute Application of Decision to Certain Streets—W. W. Gurley Claims Victory.

As the courts were closed and city hall officials enjoying a holiday traction matters were given a rest yesterday. Corporation Counsel Tolman said there was a "lull" in the battle.

Mr. Tolman predicted that the next "round" would be a contest with representatives of the traction company over Judge Grosscup's decree. After handing down the decision the court suggested that both parties unite in framing up an agreement in accordance with the terms of the decree. Whether they will be able to do this is a question. There are wide differences of opinion between the city officials and representatives of the corporation as to what streets should be included.

"We have now to fight out the question of the decree," Maj. Tolman said. "It will specify each street and between what bounds, in the court's opinion, the company controls under the ninety-nine year act. There are points in dispute, and every one will be carefully contested."

W. W. Gurley, general counsel for the traction company, said that if Mayor Harrison wanted to tear up any tracks not protected by the ninety-nine year act he presumed there would be no way of stopping him. "But," Mr. Gurley continued, "the action would be at his own risk." Mr. Gurley insisted that Judge Grosscup's decision was a clear victory for the establishment of the company's rights. "It gives us practically all we ever claimed under the ninety-nine year law," he said.

LIGHTWEIGHT CANDIDATE GOES IN TRAINING TO GAIN.

Thomas Walsh Taken in Charge by ex-Pugilist Fireman, Who Is Trying to Give Him Three More Pounds.

Firemen in the city engine house at Twelfth and May streets yesterday took charge of the training of Thomas Joseph Walsh, who must gain three pounds by Friday to secure a place as assistant engineer in the fire department.

During the morning Walsh had expressed apprehension that he wasn't adding enough to his weight.

"I weigh 137 pounds," said he to a friend. "I've been eating till I feel like a turkey just before Thanksgiving, but I'm three pounds shy."

"See Billy O'Brien," was the advice.

William J. O'Brien is a former lightweight pugilist, who belongs to the engine company at Twelfth and May streets. Ed. Freeman, an uncle of Walsh, is assistant engineer there, and the twenty-two men are all taking a lively interest in the contest against time and weight.

"What you want is more exercise," said O'Brien. "To take on flesh exercise until you are tired and then eat and sleep."

So with William McAffery, another member of the company, he put Walsh to playing handball in the rear of the engine house. Then they made him climb up the brass pole. After that he did a stunt with dumbbells. Then the firemen tucked Walsh away on a cot and let him sleep.

TWO MEN AND ROWBOAT MISSING

Paul Cruski and Ernest Fredberg, Who Went Fishing on Lake on Friday, Disappear.

Two young men who left South Chicago in a rowboat to fish in Lake Michigan last Friday night have not been seen since, and it is feared by the South Chicago police that they have been drowned. They are Paul Cruski, 23 years of age, and Ernest Fredberg, 24 years old, both living at 669 West Twenty-second street. They were rowed across the Calumet river to the north pier by the ferryman at that point. There they rented a boat and rowed out into the lake.

FEARS HUSBAND IS MURDERED.

Mrs. Benjamin Nelson Appeals to the Police to Help Find the Missing Man.

Mrs. Benjamin Nelson, 928 Clybourn avenue, yesterday asked the police to search for her husband, who disappeared on May 28. The wife fears he has been murdered. Nelson was 26 years old and until a few days before his disappearance was employed by the Northwestern Terra Cotta company, Clybourn and Wrightwood avenues.

"AH THERE, LIZ," COSTS $25.

Henry Kraft Is Fined on Charge of Insulting Young Woman Operator of Telephone.

Because Henry Kraft, 5045 Laflin street, said "Ah, there, Liz," Justice Quinn yesterday fined him $25 and costs. He was charged with insulting Miss Lillie O'Leary, 6444 Langley avenue, a telephone operator, whom he met at Sixty-fourth street and Cottage Grove avenue Sunday night. The young woman said the man seized her.

Fined for Blocking Car Track.

Peter Maskell, a teamster living at 3821 Cottage Grove avenue, was arrested yesterday on complaint of William Casey, conductor of a Sixty-third street car, charging him with intentionally blocking the track and striking at the motorman with a whip when asked to get out of the way. Justice Quinn fined him $5.

Central Pacific Railway Company

First Refunding 4% Gold Bonds

Dated August 1, 1899. Due August 1, 1949. Interest payable February 1 and August 1, in New York.

The First Refunding Mortgage 4 per cent bonds are secured by a first lien on practically the entire mileage of the Central Pacific Railway Company—1,347 miles of first track, and 492 miles of second track and sidings.

The bonds are further secured, as to both principal and interest, by the unconditional guarantee of the Southern Pacific Co. Through indirect ownership of capital stock, the Central Pacific Railway is now practically owned by, and in direct connection with, the Union Pacific Railroad, thus forming a continuous through line from Omaha to San Francisco.

CAPITAL: ONE MILLION DOLLARS.

A Big If.

A large copper-producing company which has just paid a dividend for the first time in more than a year promises to continue the payment of dividends IF copper continues at the present price.

The GEORGE A. TREADWELL MINING COMPANY, as soon as its smelter plant now in process of erection is completed, can pay dividends at a rate which ought to satisfy the most ambitious stockholder, without any IF.

The development work of the last three years on the TREADWELL properties, costing nearly a million dollars, has uncovered ore bodies extensive enough to last as long as the present stockholder will live to enjoy his dividends. A smelter plant—with the same capacity as that with which the United Verde paid 180 per cent dividends working ores of character and value like ours—is being erected. Our ores, like those of the Unied Verde, carry gold enough to nearly or quite pay all the cost of mining and smelting, so that we can pay our dividends without regard to the price of copper.

There is no IF in the case of the TREADWELL.

A small amount of stock is for sale to complete the smelter equipment.

Prices will be quoted on application.

Blatz Wiener BEER
Bottled Goodness

Milwaukee's Banner Brew

It isn't talk that counts, it's quality—Quality that stands pat, at all times, for honest criticism. The unprecedented popularity of Blatz Wiener is due to its pronounced individuality—that indescribable, honest flavor that always means "Blatz"—that delightful Blatz Wiener "smack" that goes straight to the spot. Drink it for beer character—For health's sake drink it. Ask for it down town. Send a case home.

THE GREAT BARGAIN SALESROOM OF PIANOS IN LYON & HEALY'S.

SCORES OF NEW AND USED INSTRUMENTS!

SPECIAL THIS WEEK.

About 40 new upright Knabe pianos of a popular style, which, owing to slight changes, will be dropped from the forthcoming catalog. Our new net price involves a heavy bona fide reduction. Do not fail to see these magnificent pianos if in the market for a high grade instrument. At the new quotation they will speedily be taken up.

REBUILT PIANOS.
Steinways, Knabes, Webers, and other well known makes of uprights that have been through our own shops, and are now in splendid condition. You will have difficulty in realizing that these are not brand new pianos of the latest styles, for their cases have been brought fully up to date. Prices on rebuilt pianos less than half new pianos.

NEW MAHOGANY UPRIGHT PIANOS, $125. This style sells for a much higher figure elsewhere.

SPECIAL! 28 uprights, returned from rental. All modern, handsome instruments. Offered at a very material reduction.

SLIGHTLY USED PIANOS.
Steinways, Webers, Knabes, and other great makes returned from renting and studio use. A liberal allowance for wear, which in many cases is of only a nominal description.

LOW PRICED SECOND HAND PIANOS.
See the uprights at $75, $85, $100, and $125 upward. A splendid choice, including many different well known makes.
Easy monthly payments may be arranged.
And remember that when you buy from us you run no risk. We stand back of every instrument we sell.

DO NOT FAIL TO MAKE A VISIT OF INSPECTION TO OUR GREAT BARGAIN SALESROOMS

LESSONS IN DOMESTIC SCIENCE and Useful Household Hints Every Day in The Tribune. The Favorite Newspaper for Women.

Marshall Field & Company

The Coming of Summer finds this store in a splendid state of preparation for the apparel and outing requirements of the warmer months. The backwardness of the season and the approach of inventory time has added a peculiar zest to price-making. The opportunities for advantageous purchases were never better than now.

Clearance of Muslin Underwear--Soiled Lines and Remnant Lots from the Great May Sale.

None but new, fresh assortments were kept on sale during this special price-making event. Every garment in the domestic lines and French Lingerie, both in regular and extra sizes, the newest of which was in the slightest impaired through displays or handling, has been reserved for this great clearance. In every instance the price is lower than that which prevailed during the past month. Third Floor South Room.

We wish to dispose of these garments in the briefest possible time, and prices have been made accordingly. | The qualities of these heavily reduced garments are not at all impaired—they are lacking only in freshness.

Women's Silk Petticoats, Black and Colors, $5.00.

One of our handsomest styles—made of heavy rustling taffeta silk, accordion plaited flounce edged with rose quilling or hemmed ruffles, silk underlay and dust ruffle—an excellent value, $5.00. Third Floor South Room.

Second Week of the Exhibition of Pictures

By...

De Longpre, Maud Humphrey, Thulstrup, Moran, La Praik, Underwood, Florence Nosworthy and others.

Picture Galleries, Sixth Floor Middle Room.

The Second Week of Our Pre-Inventory Reduction Sale of Imported Upholstery and Drapery Fabrics.

Tapestries, Damasks, Brocades, Velours, Velvets, Armures, Jutes, etc., at prices averaging one-half of our former low prices. This lot last week consisted of 10,000 yards and we expect to have practically none left on hand four weeks hence—the prices are proving most attractive—yd., 35c, 50c, 75c, $1, $1.25 to $10. Sixth Floor South Room.

The following are also on sale at greatly reduced prices:

40 styles of Cretonnes, from 15c to $1.50 a yard.

250 India Print Curtains, from 50c to $3.85.

950 India and Dutch Print Table Covers, 25c to $1.85 each.

1,000 Tapestry Squares for Pillow Tops, 10c to $1.75 each.

Women's Sweaters, Automobile and Golf Jackets.

The smartest of the new, exclusive designs are now being displayed in this section in all the popular colors; the qualities range from the finest hand-made garments to those at popular prices. Third Floor South Room.

Women's Sweaters, $3.50 to $13.50 | Women's Norfolk Jackets, $5.00 to $10. | Automobile Golf Jackets, $7.50 to $18.

A Wedding Gift Suggestion.

Vienna and English Porcelain Vases.

Fifty fine Vienna and English Porcelain Vases will be placed on sale Tuesday at about half price, each $10.00. Every piece possesses unusual artistic merit, a characteristic which will make it highly treasured as a gift.

Third Floor Annex.

Colored Dress Goods Remnants—Pre-Inventory Clearance at Advantageous Reductions.

The rapid, complete movement of an immense accumulation of short ends and odd pieces is our intention in the heavy reductions to go into effect this morning. The assortment is by far the largest and most varied we have ever included in these great clearance sales. Hundreds of desirable lengths for waists, skirts and dresses from almost all the lines of this great stock. They are to be closed out at one-half and one-third of their regular value. Second Floor South Room.

Suggested for June Weddings.

Fine Hand-Painted Vienna Plates.

To demonstrate our unequaled facilities for supplying acceptable wedding gifts at decided savings in the prices we shall offer, beginning Tuesday, a splendid collection of hand-painted Vienna Plates, richly ornamented with gold, at $10.

Third Floor Annex.

Summer Waists—Two of the New Styles Attractively Priced.

China Silk, $5.00. White Lawn, $3.50.

The light, airy summer waists have never been given a better representation than in our present displays. Every new idea of unusual merit is presented. The best styles are exclusively confined to us for Chicago. We direct especial attention to two splendid values just added to the great assortments.

A very tasteful, practical design in China silk of a fine quality, made with stitched tucks on front, back and sleeves, fancy stock and stitched cuffs, special, $5.00.

Handsome Veils at Pre-Inventory Prices.

The styles and designs are among the most attractive in our extensive displays—some of the season's newest effects. They have been divided into two lots and priced at half their actual value.

Made Veils, each 25c.

Made Veils of chiffon in fancy colors with plain and hemstitched borders; Made Veils of nets in circular effects with chenille borders.

Made Veils, each 48c.

Made Veils with plain and dotted centers with either chenille borders or borders of plain chiffon; White Nets with velvet ribbon borders. First Floor South Room.

Cold Dry Air Storage for FURS Protection from Moths during the warmer months. Garments called for on request. Visitors invited. Telephone, "Private Exchange One," Branch 96

Great Pre-Inventory Sale Beginning Today—Rare Value-Giving in Women's Fine Costumes.

Hundreds of beautiful styles in Etamines, Voiles, Crepes, Nets, Chiffon Cloths, in black, blue, cream, white, gray and tan.

Every Price Shows a Heavy Reduction.

The backwardness of the summer season makes this great clearance doubly important—the numbers are the largest and the prices the lowest we have ever offered in such a sale.

We anticipate a quick sale of the entire collection. The Prices:

$25.00 $35.00 $45.00 $55.00 $70.00 $100.00
$30.00 $40.00 $50.00 $60.00 $80.00 $125.00

Women's Wrappers and Sacques—Dainty New Ideas for Summer.

The absence of uncommon styles is one of the very notable features in these great lines of Women's Summer Negligees. We are ever on the alert for the newest and most deserving ideas from the leading designers. Some of the following are new arrivals—some are mentioned on account of the very attractive prices. Fourth Floor Middle Room.

Dainty Wrappers in light dotted Swiss, with round collar and loose sleeve, garment trimmed with embroidery, ribbon ties, $4.98.

Dimity Wrappers in a variety of colorings, tucked yoke and shoulder ruffle, embroidery trimming, special, $2.98.

Dotted Swiss Sacques, in light colors, with embroidery trimming and ribbon ties, $2.98.

Pretty Lawn Sacques, with square neck, garment trim'd around neck, down front and on sleeve with white embroidery, $1.98.

White Lawn Sacques, with square neck trimmed with embroidery, $1.50.

Domestic Wash Goods Specially Priced.

Another opportunity to realize unusual savings in a special purchase—300 pieces of desirable wash fabrics will be placed on sale Tuesday morning at prices which should result in heavy selling.

200 pieces of Indrina Madras, white grounds with black and colored stripes, yard 12½c.

Pre-Inventory Reduction Sale of Women's Summer Coats.

To those who can be suited in the great pre-inventory gathering of odd lines and broken lots, the styles and qualities are equally desirable as those on sale at higher prices in the regular lines. Every coat included is of a very recent style—some in the smartest effects introduced for the summer season.

Silk Blouses, Reduced, $7.50 and $10.

Attractively designed little coats of taffeta and peau de soie, some lined throughout; others inlaid with facing of white silk, trimmed with braid.

Pongee Coats, Reduced, $17.50.

A very popular style made of cloth of gold, tight fitting back and loose front, fancy braid collar, lined throughout.

Covert Coats, Reduced, $10 and $15.

Many of the season's best styles in short coats are included in this varied assortment—not all sizes at each price. Fourth Floor North Room.

Beautiful Lace Collars at Sharp Pre-Inventory Reductions.

The backwardness of the summer season has retarded the sale of these beautiful Venetian Lace collars. Several thousands of them will be placed on sale this morning at prices which will most certainly result in heavy selling. The styles are all of this season's best designs—round, bertha and epaulette effects in cream or ecru. First Floor South Room.

They have been marked at one-half their real value—$1.75 and $2.35.

Women's Knit Underwear Specially Priced.

The values in the following lines are offered for introductory purposes. We are certain that our great summer stocks are without an equal in any point, whether it be low pricing, fine qualities, completeness or variety. We intend to acquaint new customers with the fact. Third Floor South Room.

Women's Vests, white Swiss ribbed, with hand crochet bust—special value, each, 35c, three for $1.00.

Women's Mercerized or Lisle Thread Vests, plain or fancy trimmed—a large selection—each, 50c.

Women's Umbrella Drawers, mercerized mesh, fine lace trimmed—each, 75c.

Women's Union Suits—special value—low neck, sleeveless, knee length, fine quality mercerized, white, sky and flesh, perfect fitting—each, $1.50.

Pre-Inventory Reduction Sale of Women's Tailored Suits.

Our purchases for the late spring and summer season were made in small lots for the sake of variety. This policy has resulted in an unusually large number of small lots and broken assortments. Our prices have been placed at a lower point than ever before in styles and qualities of the same character.

Women's Runabout Suits, Reduced, $15.

Practical styles of handsome mixed cheviots—several very popular numbers, some formerly priced at double.

Women's Runabout Suits, Reduced, $20.

A large number of very desirable styles in fancy mixtures, reduced from a wide range of prices.

Women's Dress Suits, Reduced, $25.

Silk-lined Voiles, Cheviots and Broadcloths in a broad range of desirable styles, all heavily reduced. Fourth Floor South Room.

Misses' Shirtwaist Suits & Children's Wash Dresses

Heavy purchases have placed these lines in a position to supply almost everything possible to the greatest satisfaction of every customer. Becoming styles for every age from five to sixteen years have been supplied in great varieties. Two splendid bargains:

Children's Wash Dresses in many different styles, broken lines priced for quick clearance, $1.95, $2.95.

Misses' Shirtwaist Suits for outings, of lawns and madras—among the best values ever offered at the prices—$4.95. Fourth Floor Middle Room.

Table Cloths and Napkins—Splendid Values.

72-inch Bleached Satin Damask, yard, 75c.
24x24 inch Napkins to match, dozen, $2.25.

Not even in our great Linen Sale has it been possible for us to bring our prices to a lower point for linens of this quality. They are marked at less than the regular cost at wholesale. In quality and design they are equal to any lines selling elsewhere at their regular prices—at least a third more. Second Floor Middle Room.

2,000 yards of 72-inch Bleached Satin Damask in carnation, orchid, floral and scroll designs, yard, 75c.

250 dozen 24x24-inch Napkins in patterns to match the damask, dozen, $2.25.

Pre-Inventory Clearance of Novelty Candlesticks, Candelabra and Candle Shades.

All the odd numbers remaining from the lines that have been on sale during the past several months will be placed on sale this morning, priced at a small portion of their former value to induce an immediate clearance. Third Floor Annex.

Pratt's Fenton Pottery Candlesticks, 12 inches high, at half price, $1.50.

Low Bronze Desk Candlesticks and Trays combined, very special value, $2.00.

A large collection of other items at correspondingly low prices.

Pre-Inventory Clearance of Fancy Goods.

Our semi-annual stock reducing sale begins this morning with decided reductions in several very popular seasonable items. Second Floor Annex.

Brocaded Liberty Satin and Velour Pillow Tops in a variety of attractive designs at half price, each, 50c.

Hand-embroidered Pillows—extraordinary bargains, each, $5.00.

Mucha Poster Pillow Tops, each, 35c.

Stamped Centerpieces, Buffet Covers and Dresser Scarfs, on old bleached linen, with finished scalloped edge—24x24, each, 75c; 36x36, each, $1.50; 18x54, each, $1.25.

A great reduction of commenced cross-stitch pieces for summer work—for pillows, chair sets and screens. These are priced at less than half of their value.

In our New Medium-Priced Trimmed Millinery Salesroom, 4th Floor South Room Adjoining French Section.

Trimmed Hats, $10.00
Shirt Waist Hats, $7.50.

Exceptional Values.

The popularity of this new salesroom is growing rapidly because of the high character of the millinery offered here and the excellent values given at the prices.

Just now circumstances combine to produce really exceptional values, even for this value-giving section. Several fortunate "closing out" purchases from importers acting under the necessity of reducing their stocks has placed in the hands of our expert milliners the materials from which to produce these two special assortments from which selections may be made at $7.50 and $10.

Sunshades for Graduation Gifts—Specially Priced.

An unusual demand for Sunshades intended for commencement gifts and the splendid condition of our displays are indicated in the great numbers of purchases being already made in this section.

As a special inducement we are offering an exceptional value in Sunshades of taffeta silk in all the popular shades and black and white, with three tucks and hemstitching, $2.95. First Floor South Room.

An Important Sale of Dresden Decorated China.

The end-of-the season's accumulations of one of the best Dresden decorators, purchased at about half price, will be placed on sale Tuesday. The strength of this extraordinary purchase is in the great number of desirable popular priced items, and also in a number of unique, old fashioned dishes, only one or two of a kind, which will especially interest China collectors. Fourth Floor Annex.

Bread and Butter Plates, 25c, 35c, 50c, 75c, $1.00.

Tea Plates, 50c, 75c, $1.00.

Several hundred small floral Dishes, each, 25c.

Hundreds of others at 50c, 75c, $1.

Wheatley Pottery Lamps for June Wedding Gifts.

Artistic Lamps are becoming more and more in demand for wedding gifts. Our varied displays have been especially appointed with the requirements of June in view. Wheatley Pottery Lamps are one of the most recent acquisitions to the exclusive lines. Third Floor Annex.

In this new pottery a rich green irregular mat glazed surface of unusual beauty has been attained. The simple forms of the vases make them peculiarly adaptable in proportion and size for lamp bases. The artistic effect is greatly heightened by the Japanese grass cloth shades from our own workrooms.

We control Wheatley Pottery for Chicago and for the present shall use it exclusively for the making of lamps; prices for lamps complete range from $14.00 to $35.00.

Bed Spreads—An Opportunity for Unusual Savings.

Such is the extreme lowness of our prices in the following lines which we have marked for a rapid clearance that we feel certain that customers will make extensive provision for future needs.

Fringed Crochet Spreads for double beds—each, $1.50. Fringed Satin Marseilles Spreads for double beds—each, $2.50, $4.00 and $4.50.

Special designs in beautiful imported Satin Marseilles Spreads—each, $6.00, $6.50 and $7.00. Second Floor Middle Room.

Fine Perfumes and Toilet Soaps.

The perfumes are of the rarest and the soaps the purest to be had from the best manufacturers. Prices at all times consistently low.

Our Pattern Section On the Second Floor Annex

Is the largest and best appointed salesroom of its kind in existence. It is easy of access from all the piece goods sections on the second floor south room.

Special Sale of Odd Pieces in Summer Furniture.

About 30 styles of Fiber Rush and Reed Furniture have been marked at 25% discount from regular prices. Of some there is but one, of others five or six. Fiber Rush Furniture is stained in green, flemish or golden—some pieces have cushions, others have weathered oak frames with Fiber Rush seats and backs. Those made of Reed are finished in weathered seats and backs upholstered in leather. Sixth Floor North Room.

This furniture is suitable not only for the summer house, but for the city home as well. An unusual opportunity is afforded at this season of the year.

Our assortment of summer furniture this season is much larger and more complete than ever before—some of the styles: Hand Wrought Willow Furniture, Fiber Rush Furniture, Old Hickory Furniture and a large selection of low priced porch furniture. Special—Handsome comfortable Rattan Rockers, each, $2.95.
